Water Expansion 'Savings' May Allow Speedup In Work; Rates 'Considered'

. . . $1,240,000 Available From Difference Between Estimates And Bids

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

See Page 6 For Story Of Bidding On New Lincoln-Ashland Water Main

City officials have added another $1,198,000 in work to the current water program as a result of savings realized on work to date

The savings are in the form of the difference between bids submitted on various projects and the estimates set up by the Water Advisory Board in planning the recent $6 million bond issue

The largest part of that difference,, $1,139,000 was realized from the low bid of $2,960,768 which was submitted on the water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln estimated by the Board to cost $4.1 million.

The other major saving was a difference of $101,000 between the low bid submitted on the 5 million gallon water reservoir at the 51st Street pumping station and the board's original estimate of $347,614 Other similar savings on smaller jobs brings the total extra funds to well over $1 240 000

That means, said Mayor Clark Jeary, that the work originally estimated by the Board to cost $6 million will be done for less than $4,760,000.

That fact brought immediate speculation as to what would be done with the new water rates, what additional work might be done and whether or not more bonds will have to be issued in the future to complete the entire water program estimated earlier to cost $8 5 million.

While an additional work program has already been mapped out, Jeary's only comment on rates and future bond issues was that both matters were being considered.

When looking at any revenue or funds that are in excess of early estimates, said Jeary, it must be remembered that the city is paying $450 a day interest on its $6 million bond issue. The city, said Jeary, will get about $200 a day back in interest on that part of the $6 million not yet in use and invested in government bonds, leaving a daily interest deficit of $250.

Two Possibilities

There was little indication of rates receiving any attention at this time as Jeary offered two ways of using any additional funds There is the choice, he said, of paying on the $6 million bond issue to reduce the $450-a-day interest rate or taking advantage of what appears to be a very favorable time for letting of contracts and applying all extra funds on starting new construction

So, instead of any water rate change or bond retirement with the additional funds, the city has added another $1,198,000 in projects that were included in the overall $8 5 million Black & Veatch program but eliminated in the Advisory Board's $6 million plan

The biggest addition made is a $376,384 improvement to the low service distribution system. This will be in the form of a 36 and 30-inch distribution line from the 51st Street station to the Merrill Street station at 26th.

This, said City Engineer D L Erickson, is in line with previous plans for making 51st Street a distribution station for all of Lincoln north of O Merrill serves the downtown area now mostly during times of peak demand, with a 16-inch main

The Merrill supply is now taken from a tap into the 36-inch line from Ashland to Lincoln which runs through 51st, Merrill and into the A Street station.

However, bids will be received at the City Hall next Wednesday on the installation of three new pumps of 10 million gallon per day capacity each in the 51st Street station for distribution purposes

And the earmarknig of funds for the 51st to Merrill line means completion of the Black & Veatch distribution program for 51st Already included in the Advisory Board's $6 million program are distribution lines from 51st to 48th, 56th and Morrill and 63rd and Havelock

The only part of the total low service distribution system program that remains excluded in the revised plan is the $375,000 2 million gallon reservoir near 8th and P as recommended in Black & Veatch's $8 5 million program.

The next largest project added to the current improvement program is $300,000 for the Ashland treatment plant. This will raise the $192,000 plan recommended in the Advisory Board's $6 million program up to the original $492,000 plan recommended in the $8 5 million Black & Veatch program.

New Facilities

This new work will cover settling basins, aerators and some pumping and pipe line facilities

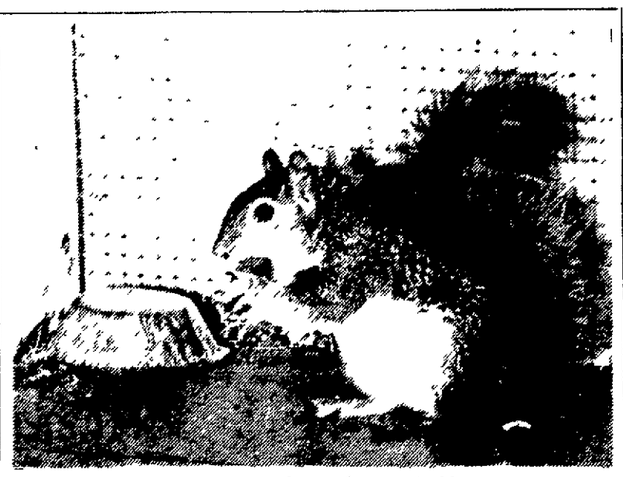

The other large improvement added to the current program is another $239.000 for well field expansions at Ashland. This, also, will bring that program up to the full $839,000 plan recommended in the overall $8.5 Black & Veatch program.

Another $133,000 was added to the current program for miscellaneous items and $150,000 for contingencies and engineering expenses

The new program was worked out at a meeting between City Council members, the city engineering department and the city's engineering consultants, Black & Veatch and Fulton & Cramer of Lincoln.

None of the additional improvements will mean an increased water supp'y until the new Ashland to Lincoln main is completed. While the extra distribution and pumping facilities will furnish the means for distributing the water, the water to supply those facilities will not be available until the Ashland line is done sometime in the summer of 1955.

Lincoln's total Ashland supply as of now, 20 million gallons per day, can be distributed with facilities now on hand. The extra distribution and pumping equipment, however, will mean better water pressure at all times in certain areas of the city.

Tame Squirrel Seeking A Home

This busy squirrel, pictured having a Brazil nut snack in his cage at the Humane Society, is looking for a home. Leslie C. Loomis, superintendent, said the squirrel is tame and was formerly owned by a Lincoln family who brought it to the Society when they could no longer keep it. "I'd like to let it loose so it could live in its natural state, but I know that it's too tame to live long wild," Loomis said The squirrel will perch on a man's shoulder or ride in his coat pocket and keeps the Humane Society staff grinning at its antics on a toy ferris wheel. Housing Program Almost Completed

More Dwellings For Families Of Modest Income, Liberalization Of Federal Mortgage Insurance And Federal Aid In Renovaton Jobs Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican housing program, aimed at a million new homes annually and more dwellings for families of modest income, was almost ready for President Eisenhower's consideration today.

Government and industry sources said the many-sided program calls for continuance of a limited volume of publicly subsidized housing, liberalization of federal mortgage insurance and government-aided renovation of old houses.

The program was hammered out by the President's 23-member advisory committee on housing headed by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, in meetings over the past two and a half months.

Cole presented the recommendations in broad terms to Eisenhower Wednesday, but the finishing touches will be applied at a final committee meeting here Friday.

Cole was mostly successful in his efforts to obtain unanimity among the bankers, real estate men, unionists and others making up the panel. But one major split was reported, and there was talk that builders' spokesmen might file a dissent.

CENTRAL BANK PROPOSED

One of the recommendations, it was understood, will call for creation of a Central Mortgage Reserve Bank, operating with funds subscribed by private lenders to buy up government-guaranteed and government-insured mortgages from banks and other mortgage lenders.

This function, now performed by a government corporation, feeds funds back to the banks for more housing loans. The builders' groups, anxious to assure ample credit for new housing construction, prefer government participation in this so-called "secondary mortgage market."

The committee's major goal, however, was to devise a program for maintaining new home starts at or near the million-a-year rate which the administration believes essential to a prosperous economy and a healthy building industry.

Eisenhower has indicated he will use the committee recommendations for his legislative program on housing to be delivered next month to Congress.

The recommendations remain officially confidential, but persons familiar with the deliberations said they include:

Recommendations

1. Insurance by the Federal Housing Administration of mortgages running up to 40 years instead of 30 on homes in lower price brackets. This would reduce the monthly payments markedly.

2. Broadening FHA's insurance for repair and maintenance loans so as to cover the cost of rehabilitating old houses. Private loans for this purpose now are insured up to $2,500, to be repaid within three years. The dollar ceiling might be raised and maturity lengthened to 10 years.

3. Direct federal loans or grants to restore and conserve old dwellings in declining neighborhoods. The idea would be to prevent slums.

4. Equalizing mortgage insurance on new and old housing by lowering the down payment required for used houses. FHA now accepts new home mortgages with as little as 5 per cent down, but requires 20 per cent down on old houses.

5. A formula for keeping the interest rate on FHA and Veterans Administration financing in line with variations in the yield of long-term government bonds.

The intent of this last recommendation is to prevent the drying up of mortgage credit such as occurred earlier this year when the Treasury boosted the interest rate on its securities. As the government bond rate rose, investors turned from mortgages to the more attractive investment.

Dean Authorized To Return To America

Breakup Of Peace Parley Talks Is Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — U S Envoy Arthur Dean has been authorized to come home from Panmunjom, State Department officials said Thursday night, but his return does not mean a breakup of efforts to set up a Korean peace conference.

Dean, who has been in Korea for eight weeks, is expected to return to the United States before Christmas.

Arthur Dean

A deputy, Kenneth Young, is expected to remain in Korea.

Earlier this week, Dean had said at Panmunjom he had authority to break off the seven-week-old preliminary talks with Red China and North Korea and could wait "only a reasonable time."

But he later indicated United Nations negotiators would do "everything possible" to get the peace conference organized.

There was no indication that the Allies were backing down from their stand, however, that Russia cannot attend the peace conference as a "neutral."

A State Department official said Dean had not been ordered home, but had the authority to return when he wishes for consultations and further reappraisal of the situation from here.

Allied Come-Home Interviews Are Halted

By BILL SHINN

PANMUNJOM (Friday) (AP) —Twenty-five South Koreans refused "come-home" interviews today and brought to a jarring halt the Allied explanations program to prisoners converted to Communism.

The tactic left uncertain the fate of scheduled talks with 22 Americans and one Briton who refused to come home during the big armistice repatriation. They had been expected to be called to the interview center early next week.

The 25 South Koreans were among 30 called today. The first five entered explanation tents, but refused to leave when interviews were completed.

Indian guards forced four of them outside, but permitted the fifth, a woman, to remain inside the tent.

Interviews Suspended

But after talking with the 25 POWs, Thimayya suspended the interviews for today. The Indian chairman said the neutral commission would discuss later today a clarification of prisoner "rights" during interviews.

Thimayya told a news conference that a group of 26 South Korean prisoners explained to yesterday had refused to go back to their regular compounds last night. Instead the prisoners stayed overnight in a temporary Indian holding stockade. They claimed they had not received the full explanations to which they were entitled.

At the start of today's talks, 78 South Korean converts to Communism still remained to be interviewed, in addition to the 22 Americans and 1 Briton. Previously, all 250 South Koreans interviewed had refused to come back from the Reds.

Belief persists in the Allied camp that some of the Americans can be persuaded to accept repatriation.

Snarling Sitdowns

Speculation that the Reds are aware of this and may want to break up the interviews was based on the behavior of 30 South Koreans questioned yesterday.

Mrs. Portia Howe, of Alden, Minn., the mother of Pfc. Richard F. Tenneson, was due by plane in Tokyo today in hopes she may go on to Korea and personally interview her son when he is brought before explainers.

Dean Appeals Again

PANMUNJOM (Friday) (INS) —U. S. Special Envoy Arthur H. Dean charged today that the Communists want neutral nations to participate in the Korea peace conference to introduce proposals the Red Chinese and North Koreans are ashamed to put forward themselves.

Dean voiced the accusation during this morning's session of preliminary negotiations with Communist diplomats at Panmunjom.

The American envoy again assailed the Communist demand that Soviet Russia be invited to attend the peace parley in a neutral role.

Watsons Seek $100,000 In Damage Suit

GLENWOOD, Ia. (AP)—Watson Bros. Transportation Co. Thursday filed a $100,000 damage suit in connection with an accident Wednesday night in which one of its trucks was involved.

The Watson truck, carrying ammunition, was destroyed in an explosion and fire which followed the accident six miles east of here.

The suit filed in Mills County District Court, Glenwood,, named Klass Produce Co. and Jack Martin, and H & M Produce Co. as defendants.

The second truck involved in the accident was owned by Klass Produce of Sioux City, Ia.

The petition charged the defendants failed to keep the proper lookout; failed to have the tractor and trailer under proper control; were operating the motor vehicle with defective equipment and brakes; failed to yield half the travel portion of the highway, and operated a motor vehicle at high, dangerous and negligent speed.

Escaped Explosion

Elmer Jessen, 23, of Kingsley, Ia., recuperates in a Council Bluffs hospital Thursday after being trapped in his egg truck near Malvern, Ia., while shells from an ammunition truck exploded nearby. Jessen was not seriously hurt. The ammunition truck exploded and burned. Four men, despite the exploding shells, pried Jessen from his wrecked cab and carried him to safety. (See Page 11 for another picture and story.) (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

Search Fails To Find Lear

DALY CITY, Calif. (AP)—San Mateo County Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore and a 15-man posse vainly searched the Pacific Ocean shore and cliffs at nearby Thornton Beach Thursday for Clarence Lear, missing Nebraska Law School graduate.

The search was called off late Thursday after the party failed to uncover a single clue to the 27-year-old Lear, who vanished Nov. 4 while on a midnight motor excursion to the cliffs.

Lear, who was working in a San Francisco Bank while preparing for the California bar examination, was hiking along the cliffs with two companions when one slipped part way down. He climbed down, helped her back—then suddenly disappeared.

Police doubt Lear will ever be found, but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lear, formerly of Norfolk, Neb., planned to stay at their son's San Francisco apartment until something definite turns up. Friends have offered a $500 reward for information to Lear's whereabouts.

More Snow Is Indicated For Nebraska

More snow — possibly as much as four inches — is indicated for Nebraska Saturday morning.

Forecasters said snow would diminish in the west Friday, with the heaviest layer of white slated to cover the east and south central areas. Four inches or more are expected in those areas by Saturday morning.

Snow was reported early Friday morning at North Platte and Sutherland.

The skies will clear in the west and the snow will diminish in the east Saturday, but the cold temperatures are expected to continue.

High readings Friday will range from 25 to 30 in the northwest to 35 to 40 in the southeast.

Increasing northerly winds, blowing and drifting snow were expected to begin in the west during the night Thursday and spread to the central and east areas of the state by Friday.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Snow and colder Friday with northerly winds 35-45 miles per hour, considerable blowing and drifting east and central; diminishing snow west Friday; heaviest snow east and south central with four inches or more in that area by Saturday morning; advise all interests. Saturday clearing west, diminishing snow east, continued cold, high Friday 25-30 northwest to 35-40 southeast

KANSAS. Showers southeast and extreme east with snow elsewhere Friday; showers changing to snow northeast, colder with northerly winds 35-45 miles per hour, considerable blowing and drifting; cloudy west and central, heaviest snow expected around Dodge City and Pratt northeast towards Concordia; four inches or more by Saturday morning

Norfolk Hospital Delay 'Not Solely Personnel'

. . . Official Contradicts Sandritter Statement

By DON BRYANT
Star Staff Writer

NORFOLK, Neb.—The lack of personnel is only one of several reasons why the new $1,500,000 addition to the Norfolk State Hospital has not been occupied yet, Dr C. G Ingham, superintendent of the institution said Thursday night

Dr Ingham made his observation when asked about the statement made earlier Thursday by Dr. G Lee Sandritter, superintendent of the Hastings State Hospital, to the convention of the Nebraska Association of County Officials that the Norfolk hospital addition "has remained vacant because of a lack of personnel."

"While I anticipate having considerable difficulty getting ward aids to help staff the building as well as other technically trained personnel, I cannot say the reason we have not opened and the new addition is not functioning today is a lack of personnel," Dr. Ingham said.

He explained that there has been a delay in obtaining administrative furniture and other equipment. The installation of venetian blinds is now almost complete after a long delay.

Outside Work Unfinished

The building was completed in May of this year and while much of the landscaping, sidewalks, parking areas and the rebuilding of the sewers was done during the summer, the task is still not completed, he said.

Dr. Ingham said the building, in addition to housing 400 patients, will serve as the administration and receiving building, and house a recreation ward for men and women, acute medical and surgical wards, laboratoies, X-ray equipment, dental services, and occupational and recreational therapy facilities.

Lack of funds to provide salaries to attract top personnel, as well as the type of paients the hospital cares for were cited by Dr. Ingham as major obstacles in opening the building, which is tentatively set for Feb. 1.

Since the hospital is expected to care for elderly people, the two problems are integrated.

"If we must take care of elderly people, -who suffer chronic illness and reduce the turnover of beds by requiring longer stays, we will need more supervision," the superintendent said. "They just can't do as many things for themselves as the younger persons can."

More Help Needed.

With a waiting list of 30 persons, 95 per cent of whom are men over 65 years of age, Dr. Ingham estimated the minimum number of personnel needed to operate the hospital at full capacity at 80 more ward aids, 10 to 15 more nurses and five more doctors.

He emphasized that the lack of personnel in no way reflected on the present staff, but that more good help is needed to supplement the "fine" staff he already has.

Good living conditions were also stressed as a necessity for attracting personnel by Dr. Ingham. Many underpaid people engaged in helping the mentally ill are not working for money alone, he said, but are finding satisfaction in giving of themselves for the less fortunate.

Five Doctors Now

At the present time, the hospital is taking care of 1,260 patients with a staff of five doctors, three resident-in-training doctors, and 190 ward aids.

He estimated that an additional $80,000 to $100,000 annually would be needed to bring the staff up to minimum strength to maintain the new building.

"We intend to open and take care of patients just as quick as we can get people to take care of them," the doctor said, "and it is difficult to attract trained persons because of the competitive market for their services which we have a hard time meeting."

The superintendent said the problem of incufficient money is not the fault of state officials, but rather that of the people who "want the best roads, teachers and institutions, but do not want to pay for them."

Promotion Plans Checked For Legality

Lincoln and Lancaster County merchants or groups sponsoring promotion and advertisement schemes voluntarily check for possible conflict with the state anti-gambling laws with the county attorney's office.

"Co-operation with this office has been very fine," said Deputy County Attorney Elmer Scheele.

He explained the proposed scheme or plan is submitted in writing and the county attorney's office endorses a written opinion as to whether it would or would not violate the anti-gambling law.

Only One Incident

Scheele remembered only one incident in the past two years when a merchant had to be warned that his plan would be violating the law.

The merchant, who had not checked his plan, quickly abandoned the proposal.

Scheele's comment to a reporter came on the heels of an announced crackdown by Webster and Adams County attorneys on merchant-sponsored give-away quiz programs and free lotteries in violation of anti-gambling laws.

New Artificial Limbs Given Korean Waif

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP)—Song Yong Cho, 12-year-old legless Korean boy who pulled at GI heart strings until they got him to the United States, was an inch taller Thursday, thanks to a new pair of artificial limbs.

Song, who lost his legs from frostbite in the evacuation of Seoul in the winter of 1950, was found by Sgt. Harold Douglas, Hattiesburg, Miss., crawling around in a depot at Pusan shining G.I.'s shoes.

Douglas, impressed with the spirit the boy showed, "adopted" him and arranged for the fitting of a pair of temporary limbs. Then the sergeant set out to ge Song admitted to Boys Town, World - Famous haven for homeless boys.

When Song arrived here last May, E V. Lucas, owner of the Twin City Artificial Limb Co. at Council Bluffs, Ia., volunteered to keep Song in legs until the lad attained his full growth.

Only G. I. Terms

Lucas, an amputee himself, complete the fitting Thursday, increasing the Song's leg size by an inch. Each year, he said the legs would be refitted to compensate for the boy's growth.

A Boys Town spokesman said Song had "acclimated himself well" and had even gone in for some sports—like baseball and swimming.

A Korean priest, who was in this country studying, spent a lot of time last summer tutoring the boy in English. When Song arrived, he knew only G. I. terms," hardly the kind of English American boys learn in a classrom.

McLain Returned To Dawes County; Will Stand Trial

Duane McLain, 19, confessed slayer of 13-year-old Karen Talbot of Rushville, who was killed last August, has been returned to Chadron from the state penitentiary, officials here said Thursday.

Young McLain's trial will open Monday in Dawes County District Court at Chadron, with Judge E. L. Meyer of Alliance presiding.

UP Streamliner Smashes Stalled Auto Near Brule

BRULE, Neb. (AP)—The Union Pacific Streamliner city of Portland smashed into the stalled car of Emery Conway near Brule Thursday.

Wreckage was spread over a wide area but the Ogallala man escaped uninjured.

Conway's car stalled on the track at a private crossing 2½ miles east of Brule as he was enroute to the south Platte river to hunt ducks.

Conway ran to safety after being unable to push his car from the tracks.

The conductor was quoted as saying, the west bound train was traveling 90 miles an hour at the time.

Water Expansion 'Savings' May Allow Speedup In Work; Rates 'Considered'

. . . $1,240,000 Available From Difference Between Estimates And Bids

By BILL DOBLER
Star Staff Writer

City officials have added another $1,198,000 in work to the current water program as a result of savings realized on work to date.

The savings are in the form of the difference between bids submitted on various projects and the estimates set up by the Water Advisory Board in planning the recent $6 million bond issue.

The largest part of that difference,, $1,139,000 was realized from the low bid of $2,960,768 which was submitted on the water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln estimated by the Board to cost $4.1 million.

The other major saving was a difference of $101,000 between the low bid submitted on the 5 million gallon water reservoir at the 51st Street pumping station and the board's original estimate of $347,614. Other similar savings on smaller jobs brings the total extra funds to well over $1,240,000.

That means, said Mayor Clark Jeary, that the work originally estimated by the Board to cost $6 million will be done for less than $4,760,000.

That fact brought immediate speculation as to what would be done with the new water rates, what additional work might be done and whether or not more bonds will have to be issued in the future to complete the entire water program estimated earlier to cost $8.5 million.

While an additional work program has already been mapped out, Jeary's only comment on rates and future bond issues was that both matters were being considered.

When looking at any revenue or funds that are in excess of early estimates, said Jeary, it must be remembered that the city is paying $450 a day interest on its $6 million bond issue. The city, said Jeary, will get about $200 a day back in interest on that part of the $6 million not yet in use and invested in government bonds, leaving a daily interest deficit of $250.

Two Possibilities

There was little indication of rates receiving any attention at this time as Jeary offered two ways of using any additional funds. There is the choice, he said, of paying on the $6 million bond issue to reduce the $450-a-day interest rate or taking advantage of what appears to be a very favorable time for letting of contracts and applying all extra funds on starting new construction.

So, instead of any water rate change or bond retirement with the additional funds, the city has added another $1,198,000 in projects that were included in the overall $8.5 million Black & Veatch program but eliminated in the Advisory Board's $6 million plan.

The biggest addition made is a $376,384 improvement to the low service distribution system. This will be in the form of a 36 and 30-inch distribution line from the 51st Street station to the Merrill Street station at 26th.

This, said City Engineer D. L. Erickson, is in line with previous plans for making 51st Street a distribution station for all of Lincoln north of O. Merrill serves the downtown area now, mostly during times of peak demand, with a 16-inch main.

The Merrill supply is now taken from a tap into the 36-inch line from Ashland to Lincoln whch riuns through 51st, Merrill and into the A Street station.

However, bids will be received at the City Hall next Wednesday on the instalaltion of three new pumps of 10 million gallon per day capacity each in the 51st Street station for distribution purposes.

And the earmarknig of funds for the 51st to Merrill line means completion of the Black & Veatch distribution program for 51st. Already included in the Advisory Board's $6 million program are distribution lines from 51st to 48th, 56th and Morrill and 63rd and Havelock.

The only part of the total low service distribution system program that remains excluded in the revised plan is the $375,000 2 million gallon reservoir near 8th and F as recommended in Black & Veatch's $8.5 million program.

The next largest project added to the current improvement program is $300,000 for the Ashland treatment plant. This will raise the $192,000 plan recommended in the Advisory Board's $6 million program up to the original $492,000 plan recommended in the $8.5 million Black & Veatch program.

New Facilities

This new work will cover settling basins, aerators and some pumping and pipe line facilities.

The other large improvement added to the current program is another $239,000 for well field expansions at Ashland. This, also, will bring that program up to the full $839,000 plan recommended in the overall $8.5 Black & Veatch program.

Another $133,000 was added to the current program for miscellaneous items and $150,000 for contingencies and engineering expenses.

The new program was worked out at a meeting between City Council members, the city engineering department and the city's engineering consultants, Black & Veatch and Fulton & Cramer of Lincoln.

None of the additional improvements will mean an increased water supp'y until the new Ashland to Lincoln main is completed. While the extra distribution and pumping facilities will furnish the means for distributing the water, the water to supply those facilities will not be available until the Ashland line is done sometime in the summer of 1955.

Lincoln's total Ashland supply as of now, 20 million gallons per day, can be distributed with facilities now on hand. The extra distribution and pumping equipment, however, will mean better water pressure at all times in certain areas of the city.

Tame Squirrel Seeking A Home

This busy squirrel, pictured having a Brazil nut snack in his cage at the Humane Society, is looking for a home. Leslie C. Loomis, superintendent, said the squirrel is tame and was formerly owned by a Lincoln family who brought it to the Society when they could no longer keep it. "I'd like to let it loose so it could live in its natural state, but I know that it's too tame to live long wild," Loomis said. The squirrel will perch on a man's shoulder or ride in his coat pocket and keeps the Humane Society staff grinning at its antics on a toy ferris wheel. (Star Photo.)

Housing Program Almost Completed

More Dwellings For Families Of Modest Income, Liberalization Of Federal Mortgage Insurance And Federal Aid In Renovaton Jobs Foreseen

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Republican housing program, aimed at a million new homes annually and more dwellings for families of modest income, was almost ready for President Eisenhower's consideration today.

Government and industry sources said the many-sided program calls for continuance of a limited volume of publicly subsidized housing, liberalization of federal mortgage insurance and government-aided renovation of old houses.

The program was hammered out by the President's 23-member advisory committee on housing headed by Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, in meetings over the past two and a half months.

Cole presented the recommendations in broad terms to Eisenhower Wednesday, but the finishing touches will be applied at a final committee meeting here Friday.

Cole was mostly successful in his efforts to obtain unanimity among the bankers, real estate men, unionists and others making up the panel. But one major split was reported, and there was talk that builders' spokesmen might file a dissent.

CENTRAL BANK PROPOSED

One of the recommendations, it was understood, will call for creation of a Central Mortgage Reserve Bank, operating with funds subscribed by private lenders to buy up government-guaranteed and government-insured mortgages from banks and other mortgage lenders.

This function, now performed by a government corporation, feeds funds back to the banks for more housing loans. The builders' groups, anxious to assure ample credit for new housing construction, prefer government participation in this so-called "secondary mortgage market."

The committee's major goal, however, was to devise a program for maintaining new home starts at or near the million-a-year rate which the administration believes essential to a prosperous economy and a healthy building industry.

Eisenhower has indicated he will use the committee recommendations for his legislative program on housing to be delivered next month to Congress.

The recommendations remain officially confidential, but persons familiar with the deliberations said they include:

Recommendations

1. Insurance by the Federal Housing Administration of mortgages running up to 40 years instead of 30 on homes in lower price brackets. This would reduce the monthly payments markedly.

2. Broadening FHA's insurance for repair and maintenance loans so as to cover the cost of rehabilitating old houses. Private loans for this purpose now are insured up to $2,500, to be repaid within three years. The dollar ceiling might be raised and maturity lengthened to 10 years.

3. Direct federal loans or grants to restore and conserve old dwellings in declining neighborhoods. The idea would be to prevent slums.

4. Equalizing mortgage insurance on new and old housing by lowering the down payment required for used houses. FHA now accepts new home mortgages with as little as 5 per cent down, but requires 20 per cent down on old houses.

5. A formula for keeping the interest rate on FHA and Veterans Administration financing in line with variations in the yield of long-term government bonds.

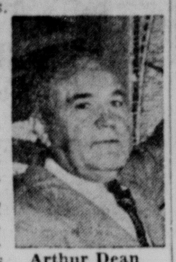

The intent of this last recommendation is to prevent the drying up of mortgage credit such as occurred earlier this year when the Treasury boosted the interest rate on its securities. As the government bond rate rose, investors turned from mortgages to the more attractive investment.

Dean Authorized To Return To America

Breakup Of Peace Parley Talks Is Denied

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Envoy Arthur Dean has been authorized to come home from Panmunjom, State Department officials said Thursday night, but his return does not mean a breakup of efforts to set up a Korean peace conference.

Dean, who has been in Korea for eight weeks, is expected to return to the United States before Christmas.

Arthur Dean

A deputy, Kenneth Young, is expected to remain in Korea.

Earlier this week, Dean had said at Panmunjom he had authority to break off the seven-week-old preliminary talks with Red China and North Korea and could wait "only a reasonable time."

But he later indicated United Nations negotiators would do "everything possible" to get the peace conference organized.

There was no indication that the Allies were backing down from their stand, however, that Russia cannot attend the peace conference as a "neutral."

A State Department official said Dean had not been ordered home, but had the authority to return when he wishes for consultations and further reappraisal of the situation from here.

Dean Appeals Again

PANMUNJOM (Friday) (INS) —U. S. Special Envoy Arthur H. Dean charged today that the Communists want neutral nations to participate in the Korea peace conference to introduce proposals the Red Chinese and North Koreans are ashamed to put forward themselves.

Dean voiced the accusation during this morning's session of preliminary negotiations with Communist diplomats at Panmunjom.

The American envoy again assailed the Communist demand that Soviet Russia be invited to attend the peace parley in a neutral role.

Allied Come-Home Interviews Are Halted

By BILL SHINN

PANMUNJOM (Friday) (AP) —Twenty-five South Koreans refused "come-home" interviews today and brought to a jarring halt the Allied explanations program to prisoners converted to Communism.

The tactic left uncertain the fate of scheduled talks with 22 Americans and one Briton who refused to come home during the big armistice repatriation. They had been expected to be called to the interview center early next week.

The 25 South Koreans were among 30 called today. The first five entered explanation tents, but refused to leave when interviews were completed.

Indian guards forced four of them outside, but permitted the fifth, a woman, to remain inside the tent.

Interviews Suspended

But after talking with the 25 POWs, Thimayya suspended the interviews for today. The Indian chairman said the neutral commission would discuss later today a clarification of prisoner "rights" during interviews.

Thimayya told a news conference that a group of 26 South Korean prisoners explained to yesterday had refused to go back to their regular compounds last night. Instead the prisoners stayed overnight in a temporary Indian holding stockade. They claimed they had not received the full explanations to which they were entitled.

At the start of today's talks, 78 South Korean converts to Communism still remained to be interviewed, in addition to the 22 Americans and 1 Briton. Previously, all 250 South Koreans interviewed had refused to come back from the Reds.

Belief persists in the Allied camp that some of the Americans can be persuaded to accept repatriation.

Snarling Sitdowns

Speculation that the Reds are aware of this and may want to break up the interviews was based on the behavior of 30 South Koreans questioned yesterday.

Mrs. Portia Howe, of Alden, Minn., the mother of Pfc. Richard F. Tenneson, was due by plane in Tokyo today in hopes she may go on to Korea and personally interview her son when he is brought before explainers.

Watsons Seek $100,000 In Damage Suit

GLENWOOD, Ia. (AP)—Watson Bros. Transportation Co. Thursday filed a $100,000 damage suit in connection with an accident Wednesday night in which one of its trucks was involved.

The Watson truck, carrying ammunition, was destroyed in an explosion and fire which followed the accident six miles east of here.

The suit filed in Mills County District Court, Glenwood,, named Klass Produce Co. and Jack Martin, and H & M Produce Co. as defendants.

The second truck involved in the accident was owned by Klass Produce of Sioux City, Ia.

The petition charged the defendants failed to keep the proper lookout; failed to have the tractor and trailer under proper control; were operating the motor vehicle with defective equipment and brakes; failed to yield half the travel portion of the highway, and operated a motor vehicle at high, dangerous and negligent speed.

Escaped Explosion

Elmer Jessen, 23, of Kingsley, Ia., recuperates in a Council Bluffs hospital Thursday after being trapped in his egg truck near Malvern, Ia., while shells from an ammunition truck exploded nearby. Jessen was not seriously hurt. The ammunition truck exploded and burned. Four men, despite the exploding shells, pried Jessen from his wrecked cab and carried him to safety. (See Page 11 for another picture and story.) (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

Search Fails To Find Lear

DALY CITY, Calif. (AP)—San Mateo County Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore and a 15-man posse vainly searched the Pacific Ocean shore and cliffs at nearby Thornton Beach Thursday for Clarence Lear, missing Nebraska Law School graduate.

The search was called off late Thursday after the party failed to uncover a single clue to the 27-year-old Lear, who vanished Nov. 4 while on a midnight motor excursion to the cliffs.

Lear, who was working in a San Francisco Bank while preparing for the California bar examination, was hiking along the cliffs with two companions when one slipped part way down. He climbed down, helped her back—then suddenly disappeared.

Police doubt Lear will ever be found, but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lear, formerly of Norfolk, Neb., planned to stay at their son's San Francisco apartment until something definite turns up. Friends have offered a $500 reward for information to Lear's whereabouts.

More Snow Is Indicated For Nebraska

More snow — possibly as much as four inches — is indicated for Nebraska Saturday morning.

Forecasters said snow would diminish in the west Friday, with the heaviest layer of white slated to cover the east and south central areas. Four inches or more are expected in those areas by Saturday morning.

Snow was reported early Friday morning at North Platte and Sutherland.

The skies will clear in the west and the snow will diminish in the east Saturday, but the cold temperatures are expected to continue.

High readings Friday will range from 25 to 30 in the northwest to 35 to 40 in the southeast.

Increasing northerly winds, blowing and drifting snow were expected to begin in the west during the night Thursday and spread to the central and east areas of the state by Friday.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Snow and colder Friday with northerly winds 35-45 miles per hour, considerable blowing and drifting east and central; diminishing snow west Friday; heaviest snow east and south central with four inches or more in that area by Saturday morning; advise all interests; Saturday clearing west, diminishing snow east, continued cold; high Friday 25-30 northwest to 35-40 southeast.

KANSAS: Showers southeast and extreme east with snow elsewhere Friday; showers changing to snow northeast, colder with northerly winds 35-45 miles per hour, considerable blowing and drifting; cloudy west and central; heaviest snow expected around Dodge City and Pratt northeast towards Concordia; four inches or more by Saturday morning.

Norfolk Hospital Delay 'Not Solely Personnel'

. . . Official Contradicts Sandritter Statement

By DON BRYANT
Star Staff Writer

NORFOLK, Neb.—The lack of personnel is only one of several reasons why the new $1,500,000 addition to the Norfolk State Hospital has not been occupied yet, Dr. C. G. Ingham, superintendent of the institution said Thursday night.

Dr. Ingham made his observation when asked about the statement made earlier Thursday by Dr. G. Lee Sandritter, superintendent of the Hastings State Hospital, to the convention of the Nebraska Association of County Officials that the Norfolk hospital addition "has remained vacant because of a lack of personnel."

"While I anticipate having considerable difficulty getting ward aids to help staff the building as well as other technically trained personnel, I cannot say the reason we have not opened and the new addition is not functioning today is a lack of personnel," Dr. Ingham said.

He explained that there has been a delay in obtaining administrative furniture and other equipment. The installation of venetian blinds is now almost complete after a long delay.

Outside Work Unfinished

The building was completed in May of this year and while much of the landscaping, sidewalks, parking areas and the rebuilding of the sewers was done during the summer, the task is still not completed, he said.

Dr. Ingham said the building, in addition to housing 400 patients, will serve as the administration and receiving building, and house a recreation ward for men and women, acute medical and surgical wards, laboratoies, X-ray equipment, dental services, and occupational and recreational therapy facilities.

Lack of funds to provide salaries to attract top personnel, as well as the type of paients the hospital cares for were cited by Dr. Ingham as major obstacles in opening the building, which is tentatively set for Feb. 1.

Since the hospital is expected to care for elderly people, the two problems are integrated.

"If we must take care of elderly people, -who suffer chronic illness and reduce the turnover of beds by requiring longer stays, we will need more supervision," the superintendent said. "They just can't do as many things for themselves as the younger persons can."

More Help Needed.

With a waiting list of 30 persons, 95 per cent of whom are men over 65 years of age, Dr. Ingham estimated the minimum number of personnel needed to operate the hospital at full capacity at 80 more ward aids, 10 to 15 more nurses and five more doctors.

He emphasized that the lack of personnel in no way reflected on the present staff, but that more good help is needed to supplement the "fine" staff he already has.

Good living conditions were also stressed as a necessity for attracting personnel by Dr. Ingham. Many underpaid people engaged in helping the mentally ill are not working for money alone, he said, but are finding satisfaction in giving of themselves for the less fortunate.

Five Doctors Now

At the present time, the hospital is taking care of 1,260 patients with a staff of five doctors, three resident-in-training doctors, and 190 ward aids.

He estimated that an additional $80,000 to $100,000 annually would be needed to bring the staff up to minimum strength to maintain the new building.

"We intend to open and take care of patients just as quick as we can get people to take care of them," the doctor said, "and it is difficult to attract trained persons because of the competitive market for their services which we have a hard time meeting."

The superintendent said the problem of incufficient money is not the fault of state officials, but rather that of the people who want the best roads, teachers and institutions, but do not want to pay for them."

Promotion Plans Checked For Legality

Lincoln and Lancaster County merchants or groups sponsoring promotion and advertisement schemes voluntarily check for possible conflict with the state anti-gambling laws with the county attorney's office.

"Co-operation with this office has been very fine," said Deputy County Attorney Elmer Scheele.

He explained the proposed scheme or plan is submitted in writing and the county attorney's office endorses a written opinion as to whether it would or would not violate the anti-gambling law.

Only One Incident

Scheele remembered only one incident in the past two years when a merchant had to be warned that his plan would be violating the law.

The merchant, who had not checked his plan, quickly abandoned the proposal.

Scheele's comment to a reporter came on the heels of an announced crackdown by Webster and Adams County attorneys on merchant-sponsored give-away quiz programs and free lotteries in violation of anti-gambling laws.

New Artificial Limbs Given Korean Waif

BOYS TOWN, Neb., (AP)—Song Yong Cho, 12-year-old legless Korean boy who pulled at GI heart strings until they got him to the United States, was an inch taller Thursday, thanks to a new pair of artificial limbs.

Song, who lost his legs from frostbite in the evacuation of Seoul in the winter of 1950, was found by Sgt. Harold Douglas, Hattiesburg, Miss., crawling around in a depot at Pusan shining G.I.'s shoes.

Douglas, impressed with the spirit the boy showed, "adopted" him and arranged for the fitting of a pair of temporary limbs. Then the sergeant set out to ge Song admitted to Boys Town, World - Famous haven for homeless boys.

When Song arrived here last May, E. V. Lucas, owner of the Twin City Artificial Limb Co. at Council Bluffs, Ia., volunteered to keep Song in legs until the lad attained his full growth.

Only G. I. Terms

Lucas, an amputee himself, complete the fitting Thursday, increasing the Song's leg size by an inch. Each year, he said the legs would be refitted to compensate for the boy's growth.

A Boys Town spokesman said Song had "acclimated himself well" and had even gone in for some sports—like baseball and swimming.

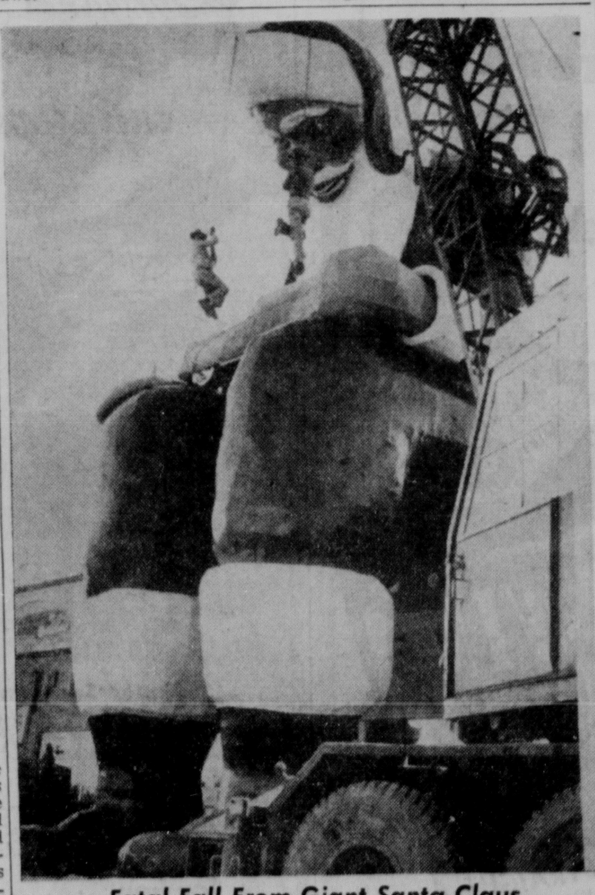

A Korean priest, who was in this country studying, spent a lot of time last summer tutoring the boy in English. When Song arrived, he knew only G. I. terms," hardly the kind of English American boys learn in a classrom.

McLain Returned To Dawes County; Will Stand Trial

Duane McLain, 19, confessed slayer of 13-year-old Karen Talbot of Rushville, who was killed last August, has been returned to Chadron from the state penitentiary, officials here said Thursday.

Young McLain's trial will open Monday in Dawes County District Court at Chadron, with Judge E. L. Meyer of Alliance presiding.

Fatal Fall From Giant Santa Claus

UP Streamliner Smashes Stalled Auto Near Brule

BRULE, Neb. (AP)—The Union Pacific Streamliner city of Portland smashed into the stalled car of Emery Conway near Brule Thursday.

Wreckage was spread over a wide area but the Ogallala man escaped uninjured.

Conway's car stalled on the track at a private crossing 2½ miles east of Brule as he was enroute to the south Platte river to hunt ducks.

Conway ran to safety after being unable to push his car from the tracks.

Czech Government Ousts Bishop Skupy

VIENNA (INS)—The Catholic Press Service reported Thursday that the Czechoslovak government has dismissed Bishop Karel Skupy of Brno and named Msgr. Kratochvil to replace him.

The press service called Msgr. Kratochvil "a true friend of the Czech Communist government."

Gouzenko Agrees To Interview

Time And Place Of Quiz Kept Secret

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — The Canadian government announced Thursday Igor Gouzenko has agreed to tell the U. S. Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee what he knows about Russian spying.

Justice Minister Stuart Garson told the House of Commons the former code clerk in the Soviet Embassy here, who helped break a vast Russian atomic espionage ring in Britain and America, was prepared to meet secretly with the team of Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) on terms agreed upon between Canada and the United States.

Garson did not say where the interview will take place.

Under the U. S.-Canadian agreement, Gouzenko will meet in Canada in closest secrecy with Jenner, Robert Morris, committee counsel, and probably U. S. Ambassador Douglas Stuart. Canada has a right to censor all information to be made public as a result of the interview.

Prepared To Go

In New York, Morris said he and Jenner were prepared to go to Canada to talk with Gouzenko.

"We've scheduled no hearings of the subcommittee for this coming week," said Morris. "We're just standing by, ready to go."

These precautions were taken not only to guarantee the safety of Canadian secrets, but to protect the cloak of anonymity under which Canada has protected Gouzenko since he first handed over the Russian military attache's documents which uncovered the Soviet spy ring in September, 1945.

The revelations contained in those documents led to the cracking in 1946 of a vast ring in the United States, Canada and Britain which had succeeded in sending vital atom information to Russia.

Dr., Mrs. D. F. Purvis Both Lose Mothers

The mothers of a Lincoln couple, Dr. and Mrs. Donald F. Purvis, both died Wednesday night.

Dr. Purvis' mother, Mrs. Maggie Purvis, 80, of Rogers, Ark., died when the automobile in which she was riding overturned near Joplin, Mo. Mrs. Purvis' mother, Mrs. Margaret A. Blaufuss, 63, of Omaha, died in an Omaha hospital.

Missouri State Highway Patrolman Ted Andrus said Mrs. Purvis was a passenger in a car driven by her son-in-law, R. A. Zeller, also of Rogers. Mrs. Purvis and Mr. and Mrs. Zeller were returning from a trip to New York City.

Zellers Still Serious

Mr. and Mrs. Zeller are still in serious condition, a Joplin hospital reported Thursday. Mrs. Zeller, sister of Dr. Purvis, suffered a fractured leg and her husband, a fractured collarbone and ribs.

Besides Mrs. Donald Purvis, Mrs. Blaufuss is survived by her husband, Alfred; another daughter, Mrs. Robert Hillyer of Lincoln; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Sickler of Omaha; and a brother, Fred W. Kellogg of Los Angeles.

Services for Mrs. Blaufuss will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer in Omaha. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Mussehl Elected New President Of University Professors Organization

Frank E. Mussehl, professor of poultry husbandry at the University of Nebraska, was elected president of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of University Professors Thursday evening at the Student Union.

Others elected were:

LaVerne Small, chairman of the department of pharmacy, vice-president.

Stanley T. Vandersall, assistant professor of classics, secretary.

Adam C. Breckenridge, chairman of the political science department, treasurer.

Albin T. Anderson, associate professor of history, new member of the executive committee elected for a three year term.

Dr. James P. Tollman, dean of the University of Nebraska Medical College at Omaha told a group of more than 30 at the meeting that "our problem in supplying nurses is even a more critical one than supplying physicians."

The nursing program recently underwent a "critical review" in order to compress the training for a degree of B.S. in nursing, he said.

One of the problems of nursing, he stated, is that most all nursing students are young women who cut short their professional service by marriage.

The number of years of service is much shorter than that of the physician who practices 25 to 30 years, the dean pointed out.

The day is past, he said, when every community of every size will have a physician.

Referring to the program of "preceptorship" where a medical student is sent into a small community for 11 to 12 weeks of work with a physician, Dean Tollman said, "we hope more students will go into general practice after seeing the attractions and challenge of such work."

Omaha Chamber Plans To Offer NU Scholarship

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha Chamber of Commerce will grant a $100 scholarship annually to a student enrolled in the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

General Manager O. W. Roberts explained that the chamber has had a student loan fund available for several years, "but little demand has been upon that money and our board felt a more immediate use should be made of it by devoting income from the fund to an agriculture student at the university."

Verne Taylor, 69, Is Dead; Active In Legion Work

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Funeral arrangements are pending for Verne R. Taylor, 69, cashier and superintendent of the job and bindery department of the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin.

Taylor was active in American Legion work. A World War I veteran, he was in France and attended the first caucuses that resulted in formation of the Legion.

Low Bidders Plan To Hire Local Labor

Despite the fact that a Dayton, O., firm walked off with the low bid on constructing Lincoln's 48-inch water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln, much of the cost of the line will return to Lincoln in another form.

It will be in the form of salaries paid to local workers that will be employed by both the contractor, Charles F. Smith & Sons, and the material supplier, Lock Joint Pipe Co. of Orange, N. J.

Lock Joint, according to Phillip Hirsh, company vice president, will locate a plant in the Havelock vicinity for manufacturing the concrete pipe. His firm plans to ship in to Lincoln eight or 10 key personnel and to hire about 90 workers on the local labor market.

Marlay Smith, treasurer of the low bidding Dayton firm, said his company will use about eight to 10 of its own key personnel and employ another 25 workers locally.

Air Base Planes Described To Club

Col. Ervin Wursten, commanding officer of the Lincoln Air Force Base, described the B-47 jet bomber and the KC-97 air refueling aircraft—both of which types will be based in Lincoln—to the members of the Knife and Fork Club Thursday noon at the Continental Cafe.

The typical Strategic Air Command pilot is 29 years old, has 10 years of flight experience, and is usually a World War II veteran, Col. Wursten said.

He also reminded the Knife and Fork Club members that Dec. 17 will mark the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Festus P. Tatman, 87, Dies; Retired Methodist Minister

Festus P. Tatman, 87, 7301 Logan, a retired Methodist minister and truck farmer, died Thursday night in a local hospital.

He had lived in Lincoln for 32 years.

Surviving are his wife, Effie; three daughters, Mrs. C. V. Chadwich, Scottsbluff, Mrs. W. F. Glenn, San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Roy Cox, Haddon, Kan.; three sons, Bryan and Ray, both of Lincoln, and Paul, Pensacola, Fla.; 13 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

Dr. O'Connor, 87, Omahan, Is Dead

OMAHA (AP) — Dr. William E. O'Connor, 87, retired Omaha physician, died Thursday after a lingering illness.

Dr. O'Connor, a graduate of St. Louis University College of Medicine in 1896, came to Omaha in 1914 and practiced here until about three years ago when he retired.

He was a native of Davenport, Ia., and had interned at St. Louis General Hospital and Marine Hospital before starting his practice at Woodbine, Ia., in 1898.

Power Policy Court Battle Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Court battle was promised Thursday in efforts by Midwestern Electric Cooperatives to prevent the Eisenhower administration from putting into effect its new power sale policy.

William Wise, counsel for the recently formed Missouri Valley Electric Consumer Assn., told a reporter a motion will be filed in Federal Court here before Jan. 1 to enjoin the Interior Department from putting its new Missouri Basin power marketing policy into operation.

Wise spoke out during the third day of hearings before a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the change in rules, which Interior Department officials say is necessary to conform with the administration's basic federal power policy.

Joe Jenness, secretary of the Kansas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., told the subcommittee:

"I don't think that the responsible Republican group in Washington understands the Interior (Department) approach and its effect on REA's (the cooperatives)."

Jenness declared that at no point in formulating its new marketing policy did the department consult with the REA's.

Jenness added:

"If the department were honest and fair, they would postpone this criteria until we could get to the bottom of this thing and iron it out . . .

"If we cant' straighten this out around a conference table, we will straighten it out at the ballot boxes."

The co-operatives contend that under the new rules they must forecast their needs for years to come and make application by Jan. 1, or else see the power they may need sold under long-term contract to private utilities.

Among other things, the new policy eliminates a "withdrawal clause" under which contracted sales to utilities could be reduced in order to meet growing needs of the co-operatives.

Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred G. Aandahl has told the subcommittee that he personally would see to it that applications by Missouri Basin priority customers, such as the co-operatives, are handled before those of private utilities are considered. He said he did not believe any private contracts would be negotiated for another six months or a year.

News Around The Globe

G-E Loyalty Plan Is Blasted

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP)—An official of the United Electrical Workers Union (Ind.) Thursday denounced the new loyalty program of General Electric Co. as "anti-labor and un-American" and claimed it was dictated by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

In a letter to GE president Ralph Cordiner, Leo Jandreau, business agent of UE local 301, said:

"It was McCarthy who demanded this policy from you and now you agree to place in the hands of McCarthy . . . the power of firing GE employees."

He said the UE would "take appropriate steps to protect the job security of all GE workers." He did not elaborate.

Suspect Sought

PAMPLICO, S. C. (INS) — Aroused citizens joined state and local police Thursday in a search for a sharecropper suspected in the decapitation slaying of a 15-year-old Pamplico girl and her boy friend, a Korean War veteran.

Witness Ejected

WASHINGTON (AP)—A shouting, sobbing witness was ejected from a Senate hearing Thursday after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) refused to let him deny he ever spied for the Russians.

McCarthy declared he would listen to no speeches from a person who declined to say whether he was a Communist.

Angrily banging the table with a glass ashtray, McCarthy cut off repeated efforts by aircraft engineer Henry Nathan Shoiket, who once worked for Boeing Aircraft in Seattle, to volunteer the denial of espionage. In the end McCarthy waved in the capitol police and told them to "throw him out."

Shoulders Named

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Formal charges will be filed against former Lt. Louis Shoulders and Patrolman Elmer Dolan for their handling of the arrest of Carl Austin Hall, Greenlease kidnap-killer, the police board announced Thursday night.

Big 2 Fly Home

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) — British Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Laniel of France took a plane for their European capitals Thursday night after the conclusion of the Big Three conference. Laniel was still shaky from his illness.

Churchill, amid the cheers of 1,000 onlookers who braved a rain to see him off, said: "I trust our work here will not go unrewarded."

Meany Quits FOA

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL President George Meany resigned from the Foreign Operations Administration's public advisory board Thursday, contending the agency was doing nothing to encourage anti-Communist labor unions abroad.

Half Of A Program

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The Harvard Law School Forum had half of its program assured Thursday in a proposed debate on Communism between former President Harry S. Truman and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

McCarthy accepted the invitation of the Harvard student organization. He said he would "appear if Truman cares to."

But in Kansas City, Truman told reporters he hasn't seen the invitation yet because he is behind in his mail.

Two David City Papers Combined

DAVID CITY, Neb (Lincoln Star Special)—Consolidation of the Butler County Press and The Peoples Banner into one newspaper was announced by A. H. Morton and H. E. Hosch, who will be co-publishers of the new newspaper. The paper will be published under the name of The Banner-Press.

The transaction saw ownership of the Press pass from W. E. Barnes of Sleepy Eye, Minn., to the publishers of The Banner. Mr. Barnes had published the Press for just one issue following its purchase from Mrs. Florella Owen.

In disposing of his newly-purchased paper, Mr. Barnes explained shortage of mechanical and editorial help had influenced his decision to sell.

In PURSUIT of HAPPINESS

By J. GORDON ROBERTS

Where should the search for Happiness begin?

Camille Mack of Tampa, Florida, offers her recipe for happiness, and a very good recipe it is, too.

"I am very impressed with the idea of your Happiness Club which you announced in The Tribune.

"What is happiness? It is not a free gift like the air we breathe. It is to be earned. We think of it as a state of mind through which comes peace, joy, contentment and success. There are many phases of living through which to grow and unfold in order to enter such a state.

"The laws of happiness must be known, understood and applied. Health is conducive to happiness, and happiness to health. Therefore, building health goes hand in hand with building for happiness. Worry is one of the first causes of broken health. Eliminate worry, and quick action is necessary to fill the vacancy with positive good. Count your blessings, and do it daily.

"Another step has been taught by the Great Teacher: Love your neighbor as you love yourself. Good health and good sense are two of life's greatest blessings. Taken together they can produce that longed for state of well being called happiness.

"Let us all join in the search. The time is now, and the place right where we are.

"The light of God surrounds you. The love of God enfolds you. The power of God protects you. The presence of God watches over you. Wherever you are, God is.

"God bless you and your Club members for a great work."

Time And Place Of Quiz Kept Secret

OTTAWA, Ont. (AP) — The Canadian government announced Thursday Igor Gouzenko has agreed to tell the U. S. Senate's Internal Security Subcommittee what he knows about Russian spying.

Justice Minister Stuart Garson told the House of Commons the former code clerk in the Soviet Embassy here, who helped break a vast Russian atomic espionage ring in Britain and America, was prepared to meet secretly with the team of Sen. Jenner (R-Ind) on terms agreed upon between Canada and the United States.

Garson did not say where the interview will take place.

Under the U. S.-Canadian agreement, Gouzenko will meet in Canada in closest secrecy with Jenner, Robert Morris, committee counsel, and probably U. S. Ambassador Douglas Stuart. Canada has a right to censor all information to be made public as a result of the interview.

Prepared To Go

In New York, Morris said he and Jenner were prepared to go to Canada to talk with Gouzenko.

"We've scheduled no hearings of the subcommittee for this coming week," said Morris. "We're just standing by, ready to go."

These precautions were taken not only to guarantee the safety of Canadian secrets, but to protect the cloak of anonymity under which Canada has protected Gouzenko since he first handed over the Russian military attache's documents which uncovered the Soviet spy ring in September, 1945.

The revelations contained in those documents led to the cracking in 1946 of a vast ring in the United States, Canada and Britain which had succeeded in sending vital atom information to Russia.

Dr., Mrs. D. F. Purvis Both Lose Mothers

The mothers of a Lincoln couple, Dr. and Mrs. Donald F. Purvis, both died Wednesday night.

Dr. Purvis' mother, Mrs. Maggie Purvis, 80, of Rogers, Ark., died when the automobile in which she was riding overturned near Joplin, Mo. Mrs. Purvis' mother, Mrs. Margaret A. Blaufuss, 63, of Omaha, died in an Omaha hospital.

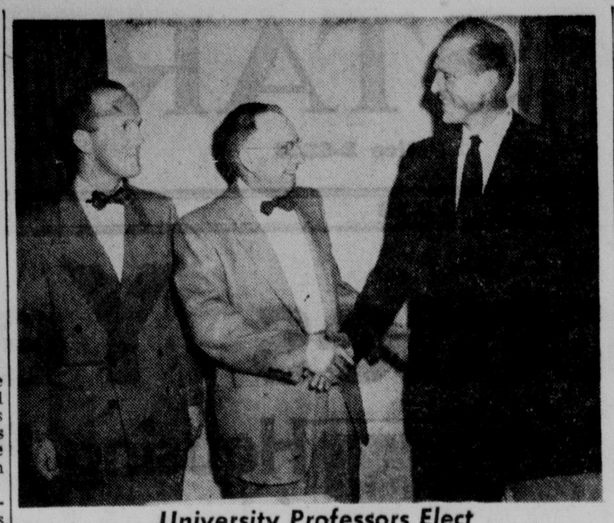

Missouri State Highway Patrolman Ted Andrus said Mrs. Purvis was a passenger in a car driven by her son-in-law, R. A. Zeller, also of Rogers. Mrs. Purvis and Mr. and Mrs. Zeller were returning from a trip to New York City.

Zellers Still Serious

Mr. and Mrs. Zeller are still in serious condition, a Joplin hospital reported Thursday. Mrs. Zeller, sister of Dr. Purvis, suffered a fractured leg and her husband, a fractured collarbone and ribs.

Besides Mrs. Donald Purvis, Mrs. Blaufuss is survived by her husband, Alfred; another daughter, Mrs. Robert Hillyer of Lincoln; a sister, Mrs. Ruth Sickler of Omaha; and a brother, Fred W. Kellogg of Los Angeles.

Services for Mrs. Blaufuss will be held at 10:30 a.m. Friday at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer in Omaha. Burial will be in Forest Lawn Cemetery.

University Professors Elect

Frank E. Mussehl, University of Nebraska professor, who was elected president of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of University Professors (center) is being congratulated by Albin Anderson, UN professor (right) who was elected to the chapter executive board. Stanley Vandersall, NU professor, who was re-elected secretary, looks on. Not in the picture are Prof. Adam Breckenridge who was re-elected treasurer, and Prof. LaVerne Small, who was elected vice-president. (Star Staff Photo.)

Mussehl Elected New President Of University Professors Organization

Frank E. Mussehl, professor of poultry husbandry at the University of Nebraska, was elected president of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Association of University Professors Thursday evening at the Student Union.

Others elected were:

LaVerne Small, chairman of the department of pharmacy, vice-president.

Stanley T. Vandersall, assistant professor of classics, secretary.

Adam C. Breckenridge, chairman of the political science department, treasurer.

Albin T. Anderson, associate professor of history, new member of the executive committee elected for a three year term.

Dr. James P. Tollman, dean of the University of Nebraska Medical College at Omaha told a group of more than 30 at the meeting that "our problem in supplying nurses is even a more critical one than supplying physicians."

The nursing program recently underwent a "critical review" in order to compress the training for a degree of B.S. in nursing, he said.

One of the problems of nursing, he stated, is that most all nursing students are young women who cut short their professional service by marriage.

The number of years of service is much shorter than that of the physician who practices 25 to 30 years, the dean pointed out.

The day is past, he said, when every community of every size will have a physician.

Referring to the program of "preceptorship" where a medical student is sent into a small community for 11 to 12 weeks of work with a physician, Dean Tollman said, "we hope more students will go into general practice after seeing the attractions and challenge of such work."

Omaha Chamber Plans To Offer NU Scholarship

OMAHA (AP)—The Omaha Chamber of Commerce will grant a $100 scholarship annually to a student enrolled in the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture.

General Manager O. W. Roberts explained that the chamber has had a student loan fund available for several years, "but little demand has been upon that money and our board felt a more immediate use should be made of it by devoting income from the fund to an agriculture student at the university."

Verne Taylor, 69, Is Dead; Active In Legion Work

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP)—Funeral arrangements are pending for Verne R. Taylor, 69, cashier and superintendent of the job and bindery department of the North Platte Telegraph-Bulletin.

Taylor was active in American Legion work. A World War I veteran, he was in France and attended the first caucuses that resulted in formation of the Legion.

Low Bidders Plan To Hire Local Labor

Despite the fact that a Dayton, O., firm walked off with the low bid on constructing Lincoln's 48-inch water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln, much of the cost of the line will return to Lincoln in another form.

It will be in the form of salaries paid to local workers that will be employed by both the contractor, Charles F. Smith & Sons, and the material supplier, Lock Joint Pipe Co. of Orange, N. J.

Lock Joint, according to Phillip Hirsh, company vice president, will locate a plant in the Havelock vicinity for manufacturing the concrete pipe. His firm plans to ship in to Lincoln eight or 10 key personnel and to hire about 90 workers on the local labor market.

Marlay Smith, treasurer of the low bidding Dayton firm, said his company will use about eight to 10 of its own key personnel and employ another 25 workers locally.

Air Base Planes Described To Club

Col. Ervin Wursten, commanding officer of the Lincoln Air Force Base, described the B-47 jet bomber and the KC-97 air refueling aircraft—both of which types will be based in Lincoln—to the members of the Knife and Fork Club Thursday noon at the Continental Cafe.

The typical Strategic Air Command pilot is 29 years old, has 10 years of flight experience, and is usually a World War II veteran, Col. Wursten said.

He also reminded the Knife and Fork Club members that Dec. 17 will mark the 50th anniversary of powered flight.

Power Policy Court Battle Is Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Court battle was promised Thursday in efforts by Midwestern Electric Cooperatives to prevent the Eisenhower administration from putting into effect its new power sale policy.

William Wise, counsel for the recently formed Missouri Valley Electric Consumer Assn., told a reporter a motion will be filed in Federal Court here before Jan. 1 to enjoin the Interior Department from putting its new Missouri Basin power marketing policy into operation.

Wise spoke out during the third day of hearings before a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on the change ir rules, which Interior Department officials say is necessary to conform with the administration's basic federal power policy.

Joe Jenness, secretary of the Kansas Electric Cooperatives, Inc., told the subcommittee:

"I don't think that the responsible Republican group in Washington understands the Interior (Department) approach and its effect on REA's (the cooperatives)."

Jenness declared that at no point in formulating its new marketing policy did the department consult with the REA's.

Jenness added:

"If the department were honest and fair, they would postpone this criteria until we could get to the bottom of this thing and iron it out . . .

"If we cant' straighten this out around a conference table, we will straighten it out at the ballot boxes."

The co-operatives contend that under the new rules they must forecast their needs for years to come and make application by Jan. 1, or else see the power they may need sold under long-term contract to private utilities.

Among other things, the new policy eliminates a "withdrawal clause" under which contracted sales to utilities could be reduced in order to meet growing needs of the co-operatives.

Asst. Secretary of the Interior Fred G. Aandahl has told the subcommittee that he personally would see to it that applications by Missouri Basin priority customers, such as the co-operatives, are handled before those of private utilities are considered. He said he did not believe any private contracts would be negotiated for another six months or a year.

Festus P. Tatman, 87, Dies; Retired Methodist Minister

Festus P. Tatman, 87, 7301 Logan, a retired Methodist minister and truck farmer, died Thursday night in a local hospital.

He had lived in Lincoln for 32 years.

Surviving are his wife, Effie; three daughters, Mrs. C. V. Chadwich, Scottsbluff, Mrs. W. F. Glenn, San Diego, Calif., and Mrs. Roy Cox, Haddon, Kan.; three sons, Bryan and Ray, both of Lincoln, and Paul, Pensacola, Fla.; 13 grandchildren and 18 great grandchildren.

Dr. O'Connor, 87, Omahan, Is Dead

OMAHA (AP) — Dr. William E. O'Connor, 87, retired Omaha physician, died Thursday after a lingering illness.

Dr. O'Connor, a graduate of St. Louis University College of Medicine in 1896, came to Omaha in 1914 and practiced here until about three years ago when he retired.

He was a native of Davenport, Ia., and had interned at St. Louis General Hospital and Marine Hospital before starting his practice at Woodbine, Ia., in 1898.

Former Traffic Judge Sentenced To Jail

Palmer, Relieved Of Duties, To Appeal Hit-Run Conviction

OMAHA (AP)—Judge Lester Palmer, who prior to Wednesday was head of Omaha's police traffic court, was sentenced Thursday afternoon to five days in the Douglas County jail for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Execution of the sentence was suspended until Saturday to give the 51-year-old jurist an opportunity to appeal.

Judge Palmer said he would appeal.

County Judge Robert Troyer pronounced sentence after a half hour session in a packed courtroom.

Gov. Robert Crosby received an informal opinion from the attorney general Thursday stating that he had no powers of removal in cases of municipal judges found guilty of law violations.

Attorney Argument

Vagueness of the law in defining minor constitutional officers and the powers of the Legislature to impeach municipal judges left attorneys arguing briskly as to just how the courts would interpret the vague powers granted.

The charge against Palmer grew out of a Monday night auto collision in South Omaha.

Judge Palmer pleaded innocent to the charge as such, but thought his attorney stipulated certain facts by oral agreement. These included the fact that he was the driver of one of the cars involved in the collision and that he had failed to stop and give his name.

Judge Palmer made no comments during the court appearance. He was represented by George Boland, Omaha attorney.

'Repentance' Urged

Judge Troyer said at the outset that several persons had told him he was on the spot because of the case. He suggested that Judge Palmer accept responsibility and commented that "The public likes repentance."

Attorney Boland suggested to the court that had it not been for Palmer's co-operation he doubted that the conviction could have been established. Deputy County Attorney Tom Kelley acknowledged the help but said he didn't want the record to show that a conviction could not have been obtained.

JUDGE PALMER

The state showed the court some pictures and called attention to the fact that another man previously had been charged in the case with the charge later dismissed.

A charge had been filed against Archie Fulton, friend of Judge Palmer, as driver of the Palmer cut but this charge was dropped after Palmer presented himself to the county attorney's office Wednesday and said he, Palmer, was the driver.

The charge against Fulton was based on a formal statement Palmer gave the county attorney's office earlier in which Palmer said he was only a dozing passenger in a car driven by Fulton.

Although not fined, Judge Palmer was assessed the costs of the action.

Penalty for the misdemeanor is a fine of not more than $100 or a jail sentence of not more than 10 days.

After the charge against Palmer was filed Wednesday, he posted $100 cash bond for his release.

Presiding Municipal Judge Perry Wheeler removed Palmer from his regular duties in the traffic court.

Vandals' Toll Big On Colorado Highways

DENVER (INS) — Widespread costly destruction of Colorado highway equipment by juveniles was brought to the attention Thursday of the U. S. Senate Subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency in the nation.

Colorado Highway Chief Engineer Mark Watrous, in a letter to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), a member of the committee, said vandals did $40,000 worth of damage last year to Colorado highway equipment.

Watrous said more than 2,000 road signs, set up to protect and inform drivers, were torn down, shot up and otherwise put out of use.

LT&T, Union Sign Wage Agreement

An average 5½ cent an hour wage increase for Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company employes went into effect Thursday with the formal signing of a 1954 wage contract by the company and representatives of the Communications Workers of America union.

The contract, culminating six weeks of bargaining, lacked one signature, that of J. R. Mill, Omaha, union district director, but local CWA officials said they would take the contract to Omaha Saturday for signing. The missing signature does not affect the validity of the contract.

The new wage scale will be effective as of Dec. 6 but the contract itself was dated back to Nov. 1.

Former Traffic Judge Sentenced To Jail

Palmer, Relieved Of Duties, To Appeal Hit-Run Conviction

OMAHA (AP)—Judge Lester Palmer, who prior to Wednesday was head of Omaha's police traffic court, was sentenced Thursday afternoon to five days in the Douglas County jail for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

Execution of the sentence was suspended until Saturday to give the 51-year-old jurist an opportunity to appeal.

Judge Palmer said he would appeal.

County Judge Robert Troyer pronounced sentence after a half hour session in a packed courtroom.

Gov. Robert Crosby received an informal opinion from the attorney general Thursday stating that he had no powers of removal in cases of municipal judges found guilty of law violations.

Attorney Argument

Vagueness of the law in defining minor constitutional officers and the powers of the Legislature to impeach municipal judges left attorneys arguing briskly as to just how the courts would interpret the vague powers granted.

The charge against Palmer grew out of a Monday night auto collision in South Omaha.

Judge Palmer pleaded innocent to the charge as such, but thought his attorney stipulated certain facts by oral agreement. These included the fact that he was the driver of one of the cars involved in the collision and that he had failed to stop and give his name.

Judge Palmer made no comments during the court appearance. He was represented by George Boland, Omaha attorney.

'Repentance' Urged

Judge Troyer said at the outset that several persons had told him he was on the spot because of the case. He suggested that Judge Palmer accept responsibility and commented that "The public likes repentance."

Attorney Boland suggested to the court that had it not been for Palmer's co-operation he doubted that the conviction could have been established. Deputy County Attorney Tom Kelley acknowledged the help but said he didn't want the record to show that a conviction could not have been obtained.

JUDGE PALMER

The state showed the court some pictures and called attention to the fact that another man previously had been charged in the case with the charge later dismissed.

A charge had been filed against Archie Fulton, friend of Judge Palmer, as driver of the Palmer cut but this charge was dropped after Palmer presented himself to the county attorney's office Wednesday and said he, Palmer, was the driver.

The charge against Fulton was based on a formal statement Palmer gave the county attorney's office earlier in which Palmer said he was only a dozing passenger in a car driven by Fulton.

Although not fined, Judge Palmer was assessed the costs of the action.

Penalty for the misdemeanor is a fine of not more than $100 or a jail sentence of not more than 10 days.

After the charge against Palmer was filed Wednesday, he posted $100 cash bond for his release.

Presiding Municipal Judge Perry Wheeler removed Palmer from his regular duties in the traffic court.

Vandals' Toll Big On Colorado Highways

DENVER (INS) — Widespread costly destruction of Colorado highway equipment by juveniles was brought to the attention Thursday of the U. S. Senate Subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency in the nation.

Colorado Highway Chief Engineer Mark Watrous, in a letter to Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), a member of the committee, said vandals did $40,000 worth of damage last year to Colorado highway equipment.

Watrous said more than 2,000 road signs, set up to protect and inform drivers, were torn down, shot up and otherwise put out of use.

LT&T, Union Sign Wage Agreement

An average 5½ cent an hour wage increase for Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Company employes went into effect Thursday with the formal signing of a 1954 wage contract by the company and representatives of the Communications Workers of America union.

The contract, culminating six weeks of bargaining, lacked one signature, that of J. R. Hill, Omaha, union district director, but local CWA officials said they would take the contract to Omaha Saturday for signing. The missing signature does not affect the validity of the contract.

The new wage scale will be effective as of Dec. 6 but the contract itself was dated back to Nov. 1.

Scope Of Legislative Inquiry

Millions of Americans disturbed by recent developments in congressional investigations could take hope from the news reports of a symposium held by the College of Law of the University of Notre Dame.

It would be desirable if a copy of the proceedings of that symposium were placed in the hands of every member of Congress. It was the conclusion of Rep. Kenneth Keating of New York, a Republican, and a group of lawyers that the investigative powers of Congress have been abused and that the rights of witnesses before legislative committees, violated.

More important, it seems to us, was the pattern outlined by Rep. Keating for legislative investigations. "No congressional investigation is justified," he told the symposium, "unless it can be directly related to gathering facts about proposed legislation and to inquiring into the workings of existing federal laws."

Surely there is an outline for congressional investigation which could be accepted by every thoughtful American, and at the same time would observe the American tradition of the independent functions of the executive, the legislative, and the judicial. It is the responsibility of the Department of Justice to prosecute anyone in this country guilty of seeking the overthrow of American institutions. The congressional investigative powers exist solely for the purpose of enabling the Congress to legislate wisely.

Luck Is With Us

The largest single item in Lincoln's program of an expanded water supply—a program which it was estimated would cost this community 8½ million dollars—provided Mayor Clark Jeary and his Council colleagues with another pleasant surprise.

The mayor could rub his eyes and say: "Yes, there is a Santa Claus!"

He had on his desk before him a bid from an Ohio firm for constructing a second water pipeline from Ashland to Lincoln for $2,960,768. Originally Black & Veatch in completing its studies of Lincoln's water situation had estimated the cost of this portion of the expansion program at $4,200,000. When the specifications for the bidders were prepared, due to the changing conditions the estimated cost was scaled by the advisory engineers to $3,800,000. The lowest bid received Thursday from Charles F. Smith & Sons of Dayton, Ohio, was $839,232 under the revised estimate of costs.

Whoops!

Are the people of Lincoln lucky?

They have every reason in the world to be very happy that an emergency which compelled this community to embark upon an exceedingly expensive water plant expansion program is turning out infinitely less costly than anticipated. This is the second time that an estimate of costs was much higher than the low bid the city got. It was an approximate $70,000 lower in the instance of the new five-million-gallon reservoir now under construction. If the community's luck continues to hold, it may discover that its water expansion program will be completed substantially below the estimated cost.

Water users, small and large, will experience some difficulty in getting mad with that kind of news.

Equally gratifying is the fact that the firm which submitted the lowest bid through its spokesman, Marley Smith, told the Council that a project it built in Boston, estimated to require two years for completion, actually was finished in 11 months. There is no chance of completing the expansion program in time for summer requirements in 1954. But the prospect of meeting all possible water needs late next fall brightens.

Ordering Life

Frequent examples crop up illustrating a man's love for his work. A most recent one concerns a veteran conductor on a Colorado railroad. After 55 years of joyous service he was retired. He immediately bought two old cabooses, joined them together end to end and made a home of them for himself and his wife. It seemed especially fitting for one who is waiting out the rest of his life on a siding to be surrounded by a couple of cars whose faithful service finally won them a place on the siding too.

Life goes on about the same for him. He can swing off the back platform, which is his front porch, lantern in hand, as he used to. The only thing is the cars are not going anywhere. But neither is he. All his life he was accustomed to looking out a window and seeing the world go by. It was illusory once because he was the mover and the landscape was the sitter. Now he is the sitter and the life he once was a part of is slipping away toward the horizon. Still in all he has managed to make the change with a new illusion that continues the effect of the old illusion by reversing things. So like some of the rest of us who become skillful at ordering life by the use of mirrors he has solved the problem of a contented old age.

What Was It About?

The Harry Dexter White case seems to have settled down to an ill-tempered argument between Sen. Joe McCarthy and the administration over the number of letters and telegrams the latter received as the result of his entry into the affair and his inevitable nationwide broadcast. This is a small finish to such a heady controversy and quite a long way from the big question of protecting the country from the Red menace.

The finish of any issue generally, at length, reveals the motives. In this case it appears that some of the public figures were more interested in their personal political standing than they were in the announced subject of the controversy. If world security and domestic well being were solvable by a senatorial popularity contest, we would say this latest sending in of bottle tops would be just the thing. But the facts rule otherwise and we had best not be wasting much more time on such trivialities.

Wild Firing

Moscow turned angry words on Eisenhower's offer of atomic co-operation maintaining its perfect record for rejecting everything. Someone should quietly confide to those wild, trigger-happy shooters that of all the things they have hit, they have missed the only target that would pay off the prize of peace and general welfare. They should shoot at themselves.

Advertising's Role

The New York photo-engravers strike has been settled and the city's newspapers are back in publication. Statisticians are trying to find out who was the winner. That's a question that can rest since it does not involve many people. But it is safe to say that the New York merchants were the great losers. They lost a powerful advertising medium in a season of greatest need and sales plummeted. It was an odd way of demonstrating the necessity of daily newspapers to the American economy but it was convincing.

Of Men And Things

Nebraska-born Clarence A. Davis, now occupying the post of solicitor for the Department of Interior under Secretary Douglas McKay, wants it distinctly understood that the department is not lending itself as a "stooge" for a private power monopoly.

To that end, Mr. Davis, appeared before a Senate sub-committee headed by North Dakota's Sen. Langer, now engaged in conducting a hearing on the annouced new policy of the Interior Department governing sales of electricity which will be generated by the great government dams now under construction on the upper Missouri River. Secretary McKay and his associates find themselves targets in a mounting storm of protest against Reclamation Bureau power policies, a protest rising in fury and volume from representatives of interested FEA districts. Nebraska municipalities met in Lincoln earlier in the week to discuss the same matter. While Vance Austin, counsel for a group of rural co-operatives in Colorado, was testifiyng against the new marketing criteria for power sales in the Missouri Basin, Mr. Davis broke in to say that he wished to "enter a categorical denial" of any such implication. Austin had said that while he did not think the department is "trying to carry the torch" for private utilities, he did believe there is a similarity in their thinking. Well, McKay has asked for it. And unless the present revolt is meaningless, he is going to get it. He may discover recent criticism of Secretary Benson in farming areas mild to that tossed at him.

Why's Of Vital Policy Change

Whatever the facts may be — and on the basis of present available information, the facts seem to justify the conclusion that a 50-year-old policy of the department has been modified drastically without consultation with the people. Fears are mounting among electric users, particularly rural electric patrons, that this new policy is a distinct threat to public power. In Denver, starting Thursday, more than 500 leaders in the public power field were gathering for a two-day conference. Among those slated to speak were Sen. Langer, Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, and Clyde Ellis, director of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association. And presiding over it was Morris L. Cooke of Philadelphia, the first administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration.

There are two valid causes for concern to the rural electrification program. One is Secretary McKay's announced decision to require co-operatives (in Nebraska, rural districts organized under the provisions of Senate File No. 310) to contract for their needs for 20 years. Under present interpretation of the long-standing preference clause, increasing needs over the years can be met by recapturing the electricity sold privately. Obviously any requirement forcing the co-operatives to contract at this time for electricity they may need five or 10 years hence would compel the rural organizations to contract and to pay for electricity not now needed. The second cause for alarm developed when it was indicated there would be a raise in rates for electricity sold wholesale. Both could imperil the life of scores of rural electrification districts now serving thousands of farm families.

Higher Costs For Electricity

Actually this battle has only started. Nebraska, facing as it does a sore need for more electricity, and hoping to satisfy some of its needs from the big dams on the upper Missouri, has a stake. Watch for it to develop into one of the hottest fights in the congressional sessions beginning shortly after the new year.

Curtis Seen As Lavish Spender Of Tax Money

WASHINGTON. — Looks like trouble ahead in Congress. The White House has been asking various congressional chairmen for a complete agenda of the legislation they expect to take up next year. The idea of the White House keeping such a close check on them has so rankled some chairmen that they have refused to answer the letter. Yet they're all members of the same party.....the White House is now treating New York's cantankerous Rep. Dan Reed, all-powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, with kid gloves. Formerly, Ike wrote letters to Reed, proposing specific legislation. Now the letters courteously ask Reed what he has in mind ....but the 78-year-old New Yorker seems to enjoy being ornery. He even reversed his stand on the social security tax —apparently just to be obstructive. The White House has been trying to coax Congress into postponing this tax increase which will automatically counteract the income-tax decrease next month for most low-income families. Previously Reed has been against the social security tax rise. But now he's reversed himself and is fighting to keep it—in order to hamstring the President. If Senator McCarthy finds the crowd seems bored with what he is saying, he abruptly interrupts his speech and hauls his lovely wife up on the platform to be introduced.... Massachusetts' grandmotherly Congressoman Edith Nourse Rogers noticed several servicemen wandering around the Capitol building the other day. She quietly rounded them up and invited all to lunch.

FAST MONEY-SPENDER

GOP Congressman Carl Curtis of Nebraska is quietly setting a new record for spending the taxpayers' money.

The gentleman from Minden, Neb., is chairman of a Ways and Means subcommittee that is probing the social security program. He was voted $100,000 for this probe, and Curtis could hardly dissipate it faster if he took a bushel basket of $10 bills and scattered them to the Capital winds. For a simple study of the old-age-pension system, mostly confined to warmed-over actuarial testimony, the congressman has lined up the following fabulous payroll:

Robert Winn, an attorney, is being paid $5,000 for serving as chief counsel of the subcommittee from September 21 to December 31 or at the rate of about $20,000 a year, the same scale paid to a justice of the Supreme Court.

George R. Leighton, a magazine writer formerly connected with the Senate GOP Policy Committee, is getting $10,000 for research and investigative work for a six-month period from July 1 to December 31....also at the rate of $20,000 a year.

The rest of the staff for this obscure little subcommittee is composed of actuaries, research workers, and clerks, including:

James E. Finke, $7,500 for six months; Howard Friend, $7,500 for six months; Howard Metz, $2,850 for three months; W. R. Williamson, $3,000 for four months; Rita Campbell, $9,543 a year; Alice Hill, $9,003 a year; George Shigekawa, $8,400.

Curtis's payroll, however, is no less astounding than the procedure at subcommittee hearings, which is carefully contrived to build up a deadly case of damaging evidence against the social security system.

Witnesses who testified against the pension-retirement program, including a few from the Department of Health and Welfare, were given advance copies of questions they were to be asked at hearings. In some cases, the witnesses even rehearsed their answers with sub-committee staff members before testifying.

This may have been why Arthur J. Altmeyer, former social security boss, who testified in defense of the pension program, angrily remarked to Counsel Winn:

"Outside of the chairman (Rep. Curtis,) you are doing more to destroy the confidence of the American people in the social security program than anybody in the country."

POLITICO-GO-AROUND

Senator Kefauver will probably look twice before he accepts another invitation from Democratic Governor-elect Bob Meyner turned around, held a press Kefauver stuck his neck out, went all the way to New Jersey to make a crusading tour of the state to elect Meyner. Then Meyner. turned around, held a press conference urging Adlai Stevenson for president....Adlai didn't venture into New Jersey.... Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, the Republican who first proposed Eisenhower for President, hasn't yet been invited to the White House. He has gone to the White House, but always on his own suggestion ..several Democrats are jockeying to run for Congress from Harry Truman's home town, now represented by Jeffrey Hillelson, the Republican who campaigned as a "poor but honest" grocery clerk, and immediately after election married into the Goetz brewing fortune. Margaret Truman has toyed with running, but now it looks as if she probably won't. Ex-Congressman George Christopher is also in the warm-up, together with Stanley Fike, assistant to Sen. Stuart Symington, and chairman of the Friendship Train Committee from Truman's home town.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Marty Lacey, New York teamster boss and a power in Tammany politics, has pledged his cooperation to the new AFL union to clean up the waterfront, but hasn't done much beyond that.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Dulles Spends Himself For Cooperative Goal

WASHINGTON—A little more than a year ago John Foster Dulles was designated by President-Elect Eisenhower to be secretary of state. He began at once to try to develop a foreign policy that would be an Eisenhower policy and that would at the same time build on the continuing cooperation of the non-Communist nations of Europe and Asia.

It was this continuihg cooperation for which Eisenhower stood both at home and abroad. In his public speeches as supreme commander of the NATO defense organization he had over and over reaffirmed his belief in the need to work with other governments and other peoples not merely to check Communist imperialism but to achieve peace and security in a divided world.

As Dulles well knew when he accepted the position for which his experience had prepared him, it was bound to be the most difficult office in the Eisenhower administration. He would by no means be a free agent even in a new Republican regime. The inhibitions of domestic politics as well as the limitations on American resources in the world-wide struggle with Communism would weigh heavily on any man in the job.

His predecessor, Dean Acheson, had come to know the full cruel force of those inhibitions. And they had been imposed not alone by the Republicans, led by Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, but by Democrats as well. Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee directed a lengthy inquisition into the loyalty of several State Department officials and thereby helped to sow doubts about the department and the conduct of American foreign policy. Conservative Southerners were often openly hostile to Acheson and foreign aid.

Thus the perils were clearly defined. In his first months in office Dulles in speeches and statements seemed to critics both here and in Europe to be needlessly blunt. He was accused of offending America's best friends and alienating badly-needed support on the domestic front.

In recent months this criticism has subsided. The picture emerges of a man of tremendous earnestness—dedicated may not be too strong a word—undertaking a task that may by its very nature be impossible.

He must be the travelingest secretary of state, certainly in this first year in office, that we have ever had. The mileage he has run up in his effort to know the major problems of foreign policy and to cope with them at firsthand is formidable.

At the end of January he toured the Western European capitals with Harold Stassen. In April he attended the NATO council meeting in Paris. From May 9 to 29 he visited the countries of the Middle East. Pakistan and India. In most of this area no secretary of state in office had ever been before. Dulles had long and comprehensive talks with such key leaders as Premier Naguib of Egypt and Premier Nehru of India.

In August he went to Korea for a series of conferences with President Syngman Rhee. This was in an effort to get a definite commitment from Rhee on observance by the South Korean government of the Korean truce terms. The whole journey, including the long round trip flight across the Pacific, was compressed into nine days. On the way out Dulles' plane ran into nasty weather and was long overdue at the Seoul airport.

In mid-October Dulles went to London for meetings with Sir Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden. He left on Oct. 14 and returned five days later. At those meetings Dulles agreed, conditional upon President Eisenhower's approval, to a Big Three conference in Bermuda. Such a conference had long been sought by Churchill.

Bermuda may have been unproductive in the specifics of agreements and the news that comes out of agreements. But it put a considerable strain on the principals in long hours of discussion. Through most of the last night of the conference Dulles labored with Eden and Foreign Minister George Bidault of France on the final communique. The following morning he had an early meeting with a group to be briefed on the results.

The NATO meeting in Paris is next. Immediately afterward, if the Russians agree, comes the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin. Intensive preparations for that must be made over the Christmas holidays.

There are those who believe that Dulles should not travel and confer so much. But it is hard to win in the office of secretary of state. If he stayed at home, he would be charged with retiring to an ivory tower. It is an heroic effort Dulles is making, one that calls for physical and moral stamina of an exceptional order.

It May Be The Pony Express For Wilber

By MONA B. PARKER

Publisher Henry Mead left the Seward Independent in the hands of able assistants while he jaunted here and there about Europe, covering some 15,000-odd miles in all in a little more than seven weeks. In the final chapter of the accounts of his trip, he told of visits to Norway, Denmark, France, Scotland, Sweden, Germany—of London and the famous wax works there —the new House of Commons ("They should have built it bigger. It's still about the size of the Seward city auditorium")—the British Museum, where he saw the Magna Carta documents, the Rosetta Stone, original manuscripts by Mozart and Shakespeare—the famed Tower of London where are housed the crown jewels and other valuables, and the courtyard where many of royalty were executed. On his last day in London, he attended the International Motor Show, priced one vehicle there at $28,000 ("I couldn't help but think how nice it would be to have Al Kroger lead the 1958 Seward County Pioneer Days parade in one of those jobs"). and subsequently returned to American soil, and back home to Seward.

And what does he list as the biggest thrill of the whole trip? "Probably watching my children go through Daddy's luggage to see what he had brought them from the far-off lands."

Donna Embree, columnist for the Neligh News, reported nothing but disgust on the part of her husband when he saw two hen pheasants and a rooster cavorting in their garden under the apple tree—all this "after he had chased this county's canyons." It was only by great will power, she laughed, that he refrained from going out and throwing stones at them. The Embrees live well within the city limits where hunting is somewhat restricted by bothersome city ordinances. The carefree birds were still romping in the garden at sundown.

Stu Bohacek got a little heated under the editorial collar, and he didn't care who knew it. In justifiable wrath, he's considering founding the Order of Outraged Postal Patrons and will personally decorate all those co-operating with the highest decoration of the order — a cancelled three-cent stamp. It all started with the discontinuance of postal service north out of Wilber before 2:45 daily and none offered on Sundays. Is this what they are to expect by way of "service" for increased postal rates, he wants to know? With Wilber patrons, it's been like the fellow who chopped the puppy's tail off a little piece at a time so it wouldn't hurt so much, Stu stewed, and the only alternative, as he sees it, is to organize their own Pony Express. "It might prove to be a profitable commercial venture, at that."

Talmage had a hobby show, and there was no dispute to be had anywhere among an appreciative audience that the high point of the evening was the expert rendition of two harmonica solos by Mrs. Grant Sherman. For her friends, she played "My Wild Irish Rose" and "Tennessee Waltz." Mrs. Sherman is 82—and with names like "Grant" and "Sherman," she probably was well in command of the situation.

Several days ago Arch Jarrell devoted his column to the antics of one "Claude." "Claude" is no hound dog; he's a clown dog. He lives in the same Grand Island neighborhood as the Jarrells and often, when burdens get a little oppressive, brings a grin to the faces of those watching him. Now, however, the Independent editor thinks perhaps the praise was overdone and herewith eliminates "Claude" from any more publicity. The platter-footed pup went right out and chewed up all the burlap with which the Jarrells were trying to protect their newly seeded terrace.

The Nemaha Valley

Wichita, Kan.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: A friend of mine, Mr. Earl Worl, has written the following poem. Inasmuch as he lived for many years in the Nemaha Valley, his writing may be of interest to old Nebraska residents, and particularly to those who have been his friends.

There is a peaceful valley out Nebraska way
Planned by Divine hand, leaving it say,
Bordered by gently rolling hills
Later to be settled by pioneers with firm wills.

A flowing stream bent its trend
Southeastward, fringed with timber, no end.
Early sawmills were found on its banks,
Changing nature's plan by sawing planks.

In the past a boy with hook and strings
Drank the thrill of youth that fishing brings;
Shiner, chub bullhead to be had,
And the crisp song of the redwing for the lad.

Loiling by stream, pole propped at an angle.
Dreaming as summer flies, bare feet just dangle.
Amid soft breeze, rushes, reeds and trees;
Few cares were his (except stepping on bees).

Of pumpkin seeds caught, unabashed he brazzed;
Autumn rolled 'round and walnuts were hazzed
To hull; stain to scrub and feet to wash.
Before going to bed; if not, Ma was harsh.

The years flew by, the lad's old and gray.
He returns to the valley after years away.
Noting great change, erosion and the plow
Have taken their toll; foliage is not plentiful now.

Alas, alack, yet not too late to restore
Some of the former glory this valley once bore.
Conservation, a great hope, and here again may blaze
Trees galore, berry, bush, a running stream to praise.

Then the Nemaha Valley will provide more joy
For lads to fish, swim and cry "Ship ahoy!"
Bringing bounteous crops and once more the scene
Of yesteryear, a peaceful valley serene.

Out Of Style

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Frequently someone complains—and they have reason to —about the careless manner in which we salute, or our failure to salute at all the American flag, especially when carried in a parade.

For many years Old Glory floated proudly high above the federal and city government buildings at the corner of 10th and O Streets. It was an inspiring sight. The Lincoln City Council evidently decided that the plot of ground could be used to a better advantage for something else. Old Glory is now gone and forgotten. The plot of ground now resembles a cemetery, with what appears to be a freshly dug grave in the center.

I don't know where the final resting place of Old Glory is, but if it had the misfortune of being consigned to Mother Earth, I think it is the solemn duty of the council to erect a suitable memorial, with perhaps the following epitaph:

Here lies Old Glory
Underneath this mound of clay
It served a purpose on the battlefield.
But it's out of style today.

THE COUNTRY LANES

'Tis good to walk a country lane
with one good friend along,
And sit you down where'er you will to hear a wild bird's song.
And name the trees which shelter you if you should choose to sit,
And watch the white clouds drifting by and dream a little bit.

The dust along a country lane is good to kick about.
There is no tide of traffic there, but only gardeners out
And only patient farmers' wives all busy with their chores,
Who no doubt wonder as you pass what brings you by their doors.

Sometimes the children look at you in such a curious way.
They see you staring at a tree they live with every day,
And no doubt wonder what you find so wonderful to see—
They'd rather look at buildings tall than any apple tree.

Scope Of Legislative Inquiry

Millions of Americans disturbed by recent developments in congressional investigations could take hope from the news reports of a symposium held by the College of Law of the University of Notre Dame.

It would be desirable if a copy of the proceedings of that symposium were placed in the hands of every member of Congress. It was the conclusion of Rep. Kenneth Keating of New York, a Republican, and a group of lawyers that the investigative powers of Congress have been abused and that the rights of witnesses before legislative committees, violated.

More important, it seems to us, was the pattern outlined by Rep. Keating for legislative investigations. "No congressional investigation is justified," he told the symposium, "unless it can be directly related to gathering facts about proposed legislation and to inquiring into the workings of existing federal laws."

Surely there is an outline for congressional investigation which could be accepted by every thoughtful American, and at the same time would observe the American tradition of the independent functions of the executive, the legislative, and the judicial. It is the responsibility of the Department of Justice to prosecute anyone in this country guilty of seeking the overthrow of American institutions. The congressional investigative powers exist solely for the purpose of enabling the Congress to legislate wisely.

Luck Is With Us

The largest single item in Lincoln's program of an expanded water supply—a program which it was estimated would cost this community 8½ million dollars—provided Mayor Clark Jeary and his Council colleagues with another pleasant surprise.

The mayor could rub his eyes and say: "Yes, there is a Santa Claus!"

He had on his desk before him a bid from an Ohio firm for constructing a second water pipeline from Ashland to Lincoln for $2,960,768. Originally Black & Veatch in completing its studies of Lincoln's water situation had estimated the cost of this portion of the expansion program at $4,200,000. When the specifications for the bidders were prepared, due to the changing conditions the estimated cost was scaled by the advisory engineers to $3,800,000. The lowest bid received Thursday from Charles F. Smith & Sons of Dayton, Ohio, was $839,232 under the revised estimate of costs.

Whoops!

Are the people of Lincoln lucky?

They have every reason in the world to be very happy that an emergency which compelled this community to embark upon an exceedingly expensive water plant expansion program is turning out infinitely less costly than anticipated. This is the second time that an estimate of costs was much higher than the low bid the city got. It was an approximate $70,000 lower in the instance of the new five-million-gallon reservoir now under construction, If the community's luck continues to hold, it may discover that its water expansion program will be completed substantially below the estimated cost.

Water users, small and large, will experience some difficulty in getting mad with that kind of news.

Equally gratifying is the fact that the firm which submitted the lowest bid through its spokesman, Marley Smith, told the Council that a project it built in Boston, estimated to require two years for completion, actually was finished in 11 months. There is no chance of completing the expansion program in time for summer requirements in 1954. But the prospect of meeting all possible water needs late next fall brightens.

Ordering Life

Frequent examples crop up illustrating a man's love for his work. A most recent one concerns a veteran conductor on a Colorado railroad. After 55 years of joyous service he was retired. He immediately bought two old cabooses, joined them together end to end and made a home of them for himself and his wife. It seemed especially fitting for one who is waiting out the rest of his life on a siding to be surrounded by a couple of cars whose faithful service finally won them a place on the siding too.

Life goes on about the same for him. He can swing off the back platform, which is his front porch, lantern in hand, as he used to. The only thing is the cars are not going anywhere. But neither is he. All his life he was accustomed to looking out a window and seeing the world go by. It was illusory once because he was the mover and the landscape was the sitter. Now he is the sitter and the life he once was a part of is slipping away toward the horizon. Still in all he has managed to make the change with a new illusion that continues the effect of the old illusion by reversing things. So like some of the rest of us who become skillful at ordering life by the use of mirrors he has solved the problem of a contented old age.

What Was It About?

The Harry Dexter White case seems to have settled down to an ill-tempered argument between Sen. Joe McCarthy and the administration over the number of letters and telegrams the latter received as the result of his entry into the affair and his inevitable nationwide broadcast. This is a small finish to such a heady controversy and quite a long way from the big question of protecting the country from the Red menace.

The finish of any issue generally, at length, reveals the motives. In this case it appears that some of the public figures were more interested in their personal political standing than they were in the announced subject of the controversy. If world security and domestic well being were solvable by a senatorial popularity contest, we would say this latest sending in of bottle tops would be just the thing. But the facts rule otherwise and we had best not be wasting much more time on such trivialities.

Wild Firing

Moscow turned angry words on Eisenhower's offer of atomic co-operation maintaining its perfect record for rejecting everything. Someone should quietly confide to those wild, trigger-happy shooters that of all the things they have hit, they have missed the only target that would pay off the prize of peace and general welfare. They should shoot at themselves.

Advertising's Role

The New York photo-engravers strike has been settled and the city's newspapers are back in publication. Statisticians are trying to find out who was the winner. That's a question that can rest since it does not involve many people. But it is safe to say that the New York merchants were the great losers. They lost a powerful advertising medium in a season of greatest need and sales plummeted. It was an odd way of demonstrating the necessity of daily newspapers to the American economy but it was convincing.

Of Men And Things

Nebraska-born Clarence A. Davis, now occupying the post of solicitor for the Department of Interior under Secretary Douglas McKay, wants it distinctly understood that the department is not lending itself as a "stooge" for a private power monopoly.

To that end, Mr. Davis, appeared before a Senate sub-committee headed by North Dakota's Sen. Langer, now engaged in conducting a hearing on the annouced new policy of the Interior Department governing sales of electricity which will be generated by the great government dams now under construction on the upper Missouri River. Secretary McKay and his associates find themselves targets in a mounting storm of protest against Reclamation Bureau power policies, a protest rising in fury and volume from representatives of interested FEA districts. Nebraska municipalities met in Lincoln earlier in the week to discuss the same matter. While Vance Austin, counsel for a group of rural co-operatives in Colorado, was testifiyng against the new marketing criteria for power sales in the Missouri Basin, Mr. Davis broke in to say that he wished to "enter a categorical denial" of any such implication. Austin had said that while he did not think the department is "trying to carry the torch" for private utilities, he did believe there is a similarity in their thinking. Well, McKay has asked for it. And unless the present revolt is meaningless, he is going to get it. He may discover recent criticism of Secretary Benson in farming areas mild to that tossed at him.

Whatever the facts may be — and on the basis of present available information, the facts seem to justify the conclusion that a 50-year-old policy of the department has been modified drastically without consultation with the people. Fears are mounting among electric users, particularly rural electric patrons, that this new policy is a distinct threat to public power. In Denver, starting Thursday, more than 500 leaders in the public power field were gathering for a two-day conference. Among those slated to speak were Sen. Langer, Sen. Bob Kerr of Oklahoma, and Clyde Ellis, director of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association. And presiding over it was Morris L. Cooke of Philadelphia, the first administrator of the Rural Electrification Administration.

There are two valid causes for concern to the rural electrification program. One is Secretary McKay's announced decision to require co-operatives (in Nebraska, rural districts organized under the provisions of Senate File No. 310) to contract for their needs for 20 years. Under present interpretation of the long-standing preference clause, increasing needs over the years can be met by recapturing the electricity sold privately. Obviously any requirement forcing the co-operatives to contract at this time for electricity they may need five or 10 years hence would compel the rural organizations to contract and to pay for electricity not now needed. The second cause for alarm developed when it was indicated there would be a raise in rates for electricity sold wholesale. Both could imperil the life of scores of rural electrification districts now serving thousands of farm families.

Actually this battle has only started. Nebraska, facing as it does a sore need for more electricity, and hoping to satisfy some of its needs from the big dams on the upper Missouri, has a stake. Watch for it to develop into one of the hottest fights in the congressional sessions beginning shortly after the new year.

DREW PEARSON

Curtis Seen As Lavish Spender Of Tax Money

WASHINGTON. — Looks like trouble ahead in Congress. The White House has been asking various congressional chairmen for a complete agenda of the legislation they expect to take up next year. The idea of the White House keeping such a close check on them has so rankled some chairmen that they have refused to answer the letter. Yet they're all members of the same party.....the White House is now treating New York's cantankerous Rep. Dan Reed, all-powerful chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, with kid gloves. Formerly, Ike wrote letters to Reed, proposing specific legislation. Now the letters courteously ask Reed what he has in mind ....but the 78-year-old New Yorker seems to enjoy being ornery. He even reversed his stand on the social security tax —apparently just to be obstructive. The White House has been trying to coax Congress into postponing this tax increase which will automatically counteract the income-tax decrease next month for most low-income families. Previously Reed has been against the social security tax rise. But now he's reversed himself and is fighting to keep it—in order to hamstring the President..If Senator McCarthy finds the crowd seems bored with what he is saying, he abruptly interrupts his speech and hauls his lovely wife up on the platform to be introduced.... Massachusetts' grandmotherly Congressoman Edith Nourse Rogers noticed several servicemen wandering around the Capitol building the other day. She quietly rounded them up and invited all to lunch.

FAST MONEY-SPENDER

GOP Congressman Carl Curtis of Nebraska is quietly setting a new record for spending the taxpayers' money.

The gentleman from Minden, Neb., is chairman of a Ways and Means subcommittee that is probing the social security program. He was voted $100,000 for this probe, and Curtis could hardly dissipate it faster if he took a bushel basket of $10 bills and scattered them to the Capital winds. For a simple study of the old-age-pension system, mostly confined to warmed-over actuarial testimony, the congressman has lined up the following fabulous payroll:

Robert Winn, an attorney, is being paid $5,000 for serving as chief counsel of the subcommittee from September 21 to December 31 . . or at the rate of about $20,000 a year, the same scale paid to a justice of the Supreme Court.

George R. Leighton, a magazine writer formerly connected with the Senate GOP Policy Committee, is getting $10,000 for research and investigative work for a six-month period from July 1 to December 31....also at the rate of $20,000 a year.

The rest of the staff for this obscure little subcommittee is composed of actuaries, research workers, and clerks, including:

James E. Finke, $7,500 for six months; Howard Friend, $7,500 for six months; Howard Metz, $2,850 for three months; W. R. Williamson, $3,000 for four months; Rita Campbell, $9,543 a year; Alice Hill, $9,003 a year; George Shigekawa, $8,400.

Curtis's payroll, however, is no less astounding than the procedure at subcommittee hearings, which is carefully contrived to build up a deadly case of damaging evidence against the social security system.

Witnesses who testified against the pension-retirement program, including a few from the Department of Health and Welfare, were given advance copies of questions they were to be asked at hearings. In some cases, the witnesses even rehearsed their answers with sub-committee staff members before testifying.

This may have been why Arthur J. Altmeyer, former social security boss, who testified in defense of the pension program, angrily remarked to Counsel Winn:

"Outside of the chairman (Rep. Curtis,) you are doing more to destroy the confidence of the American people in the social security program than anybody in the country."

POLITICO-GO-AROUND

Senator Kefauver will probably look twice before he accepts another invitation from Democratic Governor-elect Bob Meyner turned around, held a press Kefauver stuck his neck out, went all the way to New Jersey to make a crusading tour of the state to elect Meyner. Then Meyner. turned around, held a press conference urging Adlai Stevenson for president....Adlai didn't venture into New Jersey.... Senator Duff of Pennsylvania, the Republican who first proposed Eisenhower for President, hasn't yet been invited to the White House. He has gone to the White House, but always on his own suggestion ....several Democrats are jockeying to run for Congress from Harry Truman's home town, now represented by Jeffrey Hillelson, the Republican who campaigned as a "poor but honest" grocery clerk, and immediately after election married into the Goetz brewing fortune. Margaret Truman has toyed with running, but now it looks as if she probably won't. Ex-Congressman George Christopher is also in the warm-up, together with Stanley Fike, assistant to Sen. Stuart Symington, and chairman of the Friendship Train Committee from Truman's home town.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Marty Lacey, New York teamster boss and a power in Tammany politics, has pledged his cooperation to the new AFL union to clean up the waterfront, but hasn't done much beyond that.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Dulles Spends Himself For Cooperative Goal

WASHINGTON—A little more than a year ago John Foster Dulles was designated by President-Elect Eisenhower to be secretary of state. He began at once to try to develop a foreign policy that would be an Eisenhower policy and that would at the same time build on the continuing cooperation of the non-Communist nations of Europe and Asia.

It was this continuihg cooperation for which Eisenhower stood both at home and abroad. In his public speeches as supreme commander of the NATO defense organization he had over and over reaffirmed his belief in the need to work with other governments and other peoples not merely to check Communist imperialism but to achieve peace and security in a divided world.

As Dulles well knew when he accepted the position for which his experience had prepared him, it was bound to be the most difficult office in the Eisenhower administration. He would by no means be a free agent even in a new Republican regime. The inhibitions of domestic politics as well as the limitations on American resources in the worldwide struggle with Communism would weigh heavily on any man in the job.

His predecessor, Dean Acheson, had come to know the full cruel force of those inhibitions. And they had been imposed not alone by the Republicans, led by Senator Joseph McCarthy of Wisconsin, but by Democrats as well. Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada as chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee directed a lengthy inquisition into the loyalty of several State Department officials and thereby helped to sow doubts about the department and the conduct of American foreign policy. Conservative Southerners were often openly hostile to Acheson and foreign aid.

Thus the perils were clearly defined. In his first months in office Dulles in speeches and statements seemed to critics both here and in Europe to be needlessly blunt. He was accused of offending America's best friends and alienating badly-needed support on the domestic front.

In recent months this criticism has subsided. The picture emerges of a man of tremendous earnestness—dedicated may not be too strong a word—undertaking a task that may by its very nature be impossible.

He must be the travelingest secretary of state, certainly in this first year in office, that we have ever had. The mileage he has run up in his effort to know the major problems of foreign policy and to cope with them at firsthand is formidable.

At the end of January he toured the Western European capitals with Harold Stassen. In April he attended the NATO council meeting in Paris. From May 9 to 29 he visited the countries of the Middle East, Pakistan and India. In most of this area no secretary of state in office had ever been before. Dulles had long and comprehensive talks with such key leaders as Premier Naguib of Egypt and Premier Nehru of India.

In August he went to Korea for a series of conferences with President Syngman Rhee. This was in an effort to get a definite commitment from Rhee on observance by the South Korean government of the Korean truce terms. The whole journey, including the long round trip flight across the Pacific, was compressed into nine days. On the way out Dulles' plane ran into nasty weather and was long overdue at the Seoul airport.

In mid-October Dulles went to London for meetings with Sir Winston Churchill and Anthony Eden. He left on Oct. 14 and returned five days later. At those meetings Dulles agreed, conditional upon President Eisenhower's approval, to a Big Three conference in Bermuda. Such a conference had long been sought by Churchill.

Bermuda may have been unproductive in the specifics of agreements and the news that comes out of agreements. But it put a considerable strain on the principals in long hours of discussion. Through most of the last night of the conference Dulles labored with Eden and Foreign Minister George Bidault of France on the final communique. The following morning he had an early meeting with a group to be briefed on the results.

The NATO meeting in Paris is next. Immediately afterward, if the Russians agree, comes the Big Four foreign ministers meeting in Berlin. Intensive preparations for that must be made over the Christmas holidays.

There are those who believe that Dulles should not travel and confer so much. But it is hard to win in the office of secretary of state. If he stayed at home, he would be charged with retiring to an ivory tower. It is an heroic effort Dulles is making, one that calls for physical and moral stamina of an exceptional order.

Later to be settled by pioneers with firm wills.

A flowing stream bent its trend
Southeastward, fringed with timber, no end.
Early sawmills were found on its banks,
Changing nature's plan by sawing planks.

In the past a boy with hook and strings
Drank the thrill of youth that fishing brings;
Shiner, chub bullhead to be had,
And the crisp song of the redwing for the lad.

Lolling by stream, pole propped at an angle,
Dreaming as summer flies, bare feet just dangle.
Amid soft breeze, rushes, reeds and trees;
Few cares were his (except stepping on bees).

Of pumpkin seeds caught, unabashed he bragged;
Autumn rolled 'round and walnuts were bagged
To hull; stain to scrub and feet to wash,
Before going to bed; if not, Ma was harsh.

The years flew by, the lad's old and gray,
He returns to the valley after years away,
Noting great change, erosion and the plow
Have taken their toll; foliage is not plentiful now.

Alas, alack, yet not too late to restore
Some of the former glory this valley once bore.
Conservation, a great hope, and here again may blaze
Trees galore, berry, bush, a running stream to praise.

Then the Nemaha Valley will provide more joy
For lads to fish, swim and cry "Ship ahoy!"
Bringing bounteous crops and once more the scene
Of yesteryear, a peaceful valley serene.

Out Of Style

Lincoln, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Frequently someone complains—and they have reason to —about the careless manner in which we salute, or our failure to salute at all the American flag, especially when carried in a parade.

For many years Old Glory floated proudly high above the federal and city government buildings at the corner of 10th and O Streets. It was an inspiring sight. The Lincoln City Council evidently decided that the plot of ground could be used to a better advantage for something else. Old Glory is now gone and forgotten. The plot of ground now resembles a cemetery, with what appears to be a freshly dug grave in the center.

I don't know where the final resting place of Old Glory is, but if it had the misfortune of being consigned to Mother Earth, I think it is the solemn duty of the council to erect a suitable memorial, with perhaps the following epitaph:

Here lies Old Glory
Underneath this mound of clay
It served a purpose on the battlefield,
But it's out of style today.

THE COUNTRY LANES

'Tis good to walk a country lane
with one good friend along,
And sit you down where'er you will to hear a wild bird's song,
And name the trees which shelter you if you should choose to sit,
And watch the white clouds drifting by and dream a little bit.

The dust along a country lane is good to kick about.
There is no tide of traffic there,
but only gardeners out
And only patient farmers' wives
all busy with their chores,
Who no doubt wonder as you pass what brings you by their doors.

Sometimes the children look at you in such a curious way.
They see you staring at a tree
they live with every day,
And no doubt wonder what you find so wonderful to see—
They'd rather look at buildings tall than any apple tree.

NOP To Slash Worker Staff By 12 Per Cent

WAHOO, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska Ordnance Plant will lay off about 350 employees Dec. 18. The number represents about 12 per cent of te plant's work force.

Cessation of hostilities in Korea and reduced demand for ammunition were cited as reasons.

Lt. Col. Walter J. Seely, commanding officer, pointed out that production is gradually being reduced in all 23 ammunition plants and works of the Army Ordnance Corps, but said it was highly unlikely that any of the 23 would be closed down in the coming year.

Keith Waugh, general manager, said the layoffs continue the gradual downward trend which began in October and continued through November. Employment at the plant declined from 3,300 to 2,800 in this two month period, mostly through normal attribution, he added.

Present information indicates that the production at the NOP will remain at or near December levels for the next several months, Waugh said.

Continued production schedules through March of 1955 have been assured for the NOP by the Ordnance Ammunition Center at Joliet, Ill., Waugh continued. It is unlikely that any further major personnel cuts will be necessary, Waugh said, although some "minor adjustments" will be made.

The 350 workers to be laid off next week already have received notices, Waugh said. They constitute 13 per cent of the present National Gypsum Co. force of 2,700, or about 12 per cent of the NOP work force of 2,800, he added. National Gypsum operates the plant for the government.

Dayton, Ohio, Firm's $2.9 Million Water Line Bid Is Low

By BILL DOBLER
Starr Staff Writer

Charles F. Smith & Sons of Dayton, O., have submitted the low bid of $2,960,768 at the City Hall for construction of a 48-inch water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln.

The low bid cuts $839,232 off the city's $3.8 million estimate of cost. The Dayton firm's figure just beat the $3,068,000 second low bid submitted by Abel, Dobson and Robinson of Lincoln.

With one exception, all bids were below the city estimate and based on the use of pre-stressed reinforced concrete pipe. Only one bid was received on non-pre-stressed concrete, one on steel and none on cast iron.

Specifications call for completion of the big pipeline by April 15, 1955. However, Marlay Smith, treasurer of the Dayton firm, stated that it is his company's hope and intention to finish the job well ahead of the deadline.

The Smith bid included a letter of recommendation which showed that the company had completed one two-year job of a similar character in 11 months. The letter showed the company has laid 85 miles of pipe in the 48-inch size range in the past five years.

Construction of the main, said Smith, will start about May 1, depending upon the time of delivery of the pipe from the material supplier. Smith stated his firm could move into Lincoln immediately after Christmas if the materials were available.

City officials expressed great pleasure in the bid received.

"It was a very favorable bid," commented Mayor Clark Jeary, "and places us in a position where we can now develop and rapidly progress with other features of the program.

"Assuming there are no flaws found in the bid, a contract will be let by the City Council on Monday."

"An excellent bid," stated Ed Farmer of Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo., who prepared the pipe line specifications. "Bids were received at a very favorable time and this was a desirable job which attracted many bidders and brought on a very competitive situation."

City Engineer D L Erickson said he was "very gratified with the bid and the fact that the low bidder has a long record of building similar long distance water transmission lines in other parts of the country."

The bid opening packed the Council chambers to capacity. A total of 15 bids were received from contractors in 10 states.

Charles F Smith & Sons, Dayton, O., $2,960,768

Abel, Dobson and Robinson, Lincoln, $3,068,000

Torson Construction Co, Kansas City, Mo., $3,136,002 50

Blythe Bros Co, Charlotte, N C, $3,159,209

Morrison Knudsen & Co and Stolte Inc, Los Angeles, $3,319,985

T J Cloghessy Inc, Hammond, Ind, $3,375,000

Bill Curphy Co and Cleet T. Watts, Des Moines, $3,454,149

Roberts Construction Co and Mance & Vivadelli, Lincoln, $3,435,000

Northwestern Engineering Co., Rapid City, S D., $3,458,500.

Johnson Western Construction Co, San Pedro, Calif, $3,503,890

B and M Construction Corp, Oklahoma City, Okla, $3,560 018 20

Midwestern Construction Corp, Tulsa, Okla, $3,647,525

Vinnell Co, Alhambra, Calif, $3,775,556

S A Healy, Chicago, non-pre stressed concrete, $4,434,000, pre-stressed concrete, $4,282,200, steel, $4,373 940

Doctor Denies 'Stealing' Unwed Mothers' Babies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — An osteopathic surgeon declared Thursday his conscience was clear about keeping babies of two unwed mothers, one of which he is charged with stealing.

Dr. Winfred T. Mooney, 48, freed on bail after his arrest, insisted to reporters that, rather than steal the baby, he and his wife saved its life.

The child, 8-months-old Bobby, who authorities said was the son of a San Diego woman bank clerk and a married U.S. Air Force captain, was in a nursing home under court guard.

The osteopath said the mother had "never asked about the baby. If she had asked for the baby she would have got it."

Dist Atty Don Keller said Dr and Mrs. Mooney admitted that a year-old girl, Kathleen was born to the wife of a servicewoman in Korea who came here for the birth to avoid a scandal in her Midwest hometown.

Denies Death Story

A birth certificate had been filed showing Kathleen was born to Mrs. Mooney Dec. 3, 1952.

Mooney, prominent in practice here and leader in a hospital project, declared concerning the baby boy:

"If I hadn't saved a life, I wouldn't feel so badly about it. Then to be accused of child stealing."

He denied telling the mother, identified in the complaint against him as Betty Lou Willis, 31, that the baby had died, after she gave birth to it three months prematurely in her apartment unaided.

The district attorney said both the mother and the father, whom he identified as Capt. Archie Bower, now stationed at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Wash., said they wanted the baby.

Bower was quoted as saying he and his wife wanted to adopt it.

As for the baby girl, Mooney declared that the 28-year-old mother, not identified by name "didn't even want to know if the baby was a boy or girl, or if it was born alive or dead . . . she didn't want it and she gave it to us."

Crosby Feted As Modern Diogenes By CPA Group

Gov. Robert Crosby finally has been hailed as a modern Diogenes in reference to his "Operation Honesty" program for improved personal property assessment launched last month.

As in every speaking engagement he has made since he announced his program, the Governor talked about "Operation Honesty" at the December dinner meeting of the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants in Lincoln.

The society presented him with an electric lantern with flashing red signal, of the type used by drivers who have tire or engine trouble on the highway at night. With the lantern was a placard reading "a modern lamp for a modern Diognes."

Corwin Moore, president of the Society and J. Bernard Dresselhaus, treasurer, made the presentation of the lamp to Gov. Crosby.

Diogenes was a Greek philosopher who went around with a lighted lantern at midday, searching for honest men.

The Governor commented at his news conference Thursday that his speech to the accountants was "unforgiveably long," but he said that group will have considerable to do with the program in their work for clients.

"So I wanted them to have full treatment," he said.

'It's This Way . . .'

MILWAUKEE (INS) — Three teen-age girls asked Milwaukee Policeman Percy Frank how to work a fire alarm box.

He obliged, but didn't touch the levers.

One of the girls said: "Oh, like this?"

The officer nodded. "Perfect," he said.

Then eight pieces of fire equipment raced to the scene.

The red-faced officer told the firemen:

Dayton, Ohio, Firm's $2.9 Million Water Line Bid Is Low

By BILL DOBLER
Starr Staff Writer

Charles F. Smith & Sons of Dayton, O., have submitted the low bid of $2,960,768 at the City Hall for construction of a 48-inch water transmission line from Ashland to Lincoln.

The low bid cuts $839,232 off the city's $3.8 million estimate of cost. The Dayton firm's figure just beat the $3,068,000 second low bid submitted by Abel, Dobson and Robinson of Lincoln.

With one exception, all bids were below the c ity estimate and based on the use of pre-stressed reinforced concrete pipe. Only one bid was received on non-pre-stressed concrete, one on steel and none on cast iron.

Specifications call for completion of the big pipeline by April 15, 1955. However, Marlay Smith, treasurer of the Dayton firm, stated that it is his company's hope and intention to finish the job well ahead of the deadline.

The Smith bid included a letter of recommendation which showed that the company had completed one two-year job of a similar character in 11 months. The letter showed the company has laid 85 miles of pipe in the 48-inch size range in the past five years.

Construction of the main, said Smith, will start about May 1, depending upon the time of delivery of the pipe from the material supplier. Smith stated his firm could move into Lincoln immediately after Christmas if the materials were available.

City officials expressed great pleasure in the bid received.

"It was a very favorable bid," commented Mayor Clark Jeary, "and places us in a position where we can now develop and rapidly progress with other features of the program.

"Assuming there are no flaws found in the bid, a contract will be let by the City Council on Monday."

"An excellent bid," stated Ed Farmer of Black & Veatch, consulting engineers from Kansas City, Mo., who prepared the pipe line specifications. "Bids were received at a very favorable time and this was a desirable job which attracted many bidders and brought on a very competitive situation."

City Engineer D. L. Erickson said he was "very gratified with the bid and the fact that the low bidder has a long record of building similar long distance water transmission lines in other parts of the country."

The bid opening packed the Council chambers to capacity. A total of 15 bids were received from contractors in 10 states.

Charles F. Smith & Sons, Dayton, O., $2,960,768.
Abel, Dobson and Robinson, Lincoln, $3,068,000.
Torson Construction Co., Kansas City, Mo., $3,136,002.50.
Blythe Bros. Co., Charlotte, N.C., $3,159,209.
Morrison-Knudsen & Co. and Stolte Inc., Los Angeles, $3,319,985.
T. F. Cloghessy Inc., Hammond, Ind., $3,375,000.
Bill Curphy Co. and Cleet T. Watts, Des Moines, $3,454,149.
Roberts Construction Co. and Mance & Vivadelli, Lincoln, $3,435,000.
Northwestern Engineering Co., Rapid City, S.D., $3,458,500.
Missouri Valley Construction Co., Omaha, $3,460,384.
Johnson-Western Construction Co., San Pedro, Calif., $3,503,890.
B. and M. Construction Corp., Oklahoma City, Okla., $3,560,018.20.
Midwestern Construction Corp., Tulsa, Okla., $3,647,525.
Vinnell Co., Alhambra, Calif., $3,775,556.
S. A. Healy, Chicago, non-pre-stressed concrete, $4,434,000; pre-stressed concrete, $4,282,200; steel, $4,373,940.

Doctor Denies 'Stealing' Unwed Mothers' Babies

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — An osteopathic surgeon declared Thursday his conscience was clear about keeping babies of two unwed mothers, one of which he is charged with stealing.

Dr. Winfred T. Mooney, 48, freed on bail after his arrest, insisted to reporters that, rather than steal the baby, he and his wife saved its life.

The child, 8-months-old Bobby, who authorities said was the son of a San Diego woman bank clerk and a married U.S. Air Force captain, was in a nursing home under court guard.

The osteopath said the mother had "never asked about the baby. If she had asked for the baby she would have got it."

Dist. Atty. Don Keller said Dr. and Mrs. Mooney admitted that a year-old girl, Kathleen, was born to the wife of a servicewoman in Korea who came here for the birth to avoid a scandal in her Midwest hometown.

Denies Death Story

A birth certificate had been filed showing Kathleen was born to Mrs. Mooney Dec. 3, 1952.

Mooney, prominent in practice here and leader in a hospital project, declared concerning the baby boy:

"If I hadn't saved a life, I wouldn't feel so badly about it. Then to be accused of child stealing."

He denied telling the mother, identified in the complaint against him as Betty Lou Willis, 31, that the baby had died, after she gave birth to it three months prematurely in her apartment unaided.

The district attorney said both the mother and the father, whom he identified as Capt. Archie Bower, now stationed at Fort George Wright, Spokane, Wash., said they wanted the baby.

Bower was quoted as saying he and his wife wanted to adopt it.

As for the baby girl, Mooney declared that the 28-year-old mother, not identified by name, "didn't even want to know if the baby was a boy or girl, or if it was born alive or dead . . . didn't want it and she gave it to us."

Crosby Feted As Modern Diogenes By CPA Group

Gov. Robert Crosby finally has been hailed as a modern Diogenes in reference to his "Operation Honesty" program for improved personal property assessment launched last month.

As in every speaking engagement he has made since he announced his program, the Governor talked about "Operation Honesty" at the December dinner meeting of the Nebraska Society of Certified Public Accountants in Lincoln.

The society presented him with an electric lantern with flashing red signal, of the type used by drivers who have tire or engine trouble on the highway at night. With the lantern was a placard reading "a modern lamp for a modern Diognes."

Corwin Moore, president of the Society and J. Bernard Dresselhaus, treasurer, made the presentation of the lamp to Gov. Crosby.

Diogenes was a Greek philosopher who went around with a lighted lantern at midday, searching for honest men.

The Governor commented at his news conference Thursday that his speech to the accountants was "unforgiveably long," but he said that group will have considerable to do with the program in their work for clients.

"So I wanted them to have full treatment," he said.

'It's This Way . . .'

MILWAUKEE (INS) — Three teen-age girls asked Milwaukee Policeman Percy Frank how to work a fire alarm box.

He obliged, but didn't touch the levers.

One of the girls said: "Oh, like this?"

The officer nodded. "Perfect," he said.

Then eight pieces of fire equipment raced to the scene.

The red-faced officer told the firemen:

Court Post Fight May Be Avoided

Postponement Flattens Suspended Clark's Plans

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A counter attack in "the Battle of the Bench" seemed Thursday night to have flattened plans of the suspended chief justice of the U.S. court system in Germany, William Clark, to hold court despite his suspension.

Clark

Acting Chief Justice Carl W. Fulghum of Glenwood Springs, Colo., announced he had postponed until Jan. 18 the hearings that had been scheduled for next Monday in the three-judge U. S. Court of Appeals.

That puts the session 10 days behind the effective date of Clark's dismissal by the State Department — announced before he was suspended Wednesday on a charge of insubordination for ignoring an order to return home by Dec. 7 for consultations in Washington.

No Comment

Clark, a critic of both the U.S. High Commission and State Department employees he calls "cookie pushers," told reporters he had no comment at this time.

The action came after a day which saw Clark call Fulghum's appointment as his successor illegal, express hurt that Fulghum had accepted, and promise to open court Monday "even if I sit on the bench alone."

It may have only postponed until next month the fireworks expected if two justices try to preside at the same time.

Clark contends that if the State Department wants to get rid of him it should take the case to court.

Louis P. Wirth, 89, Retired Falls City Banker, Is Dead

FALLS CITY, Neb. (AP)—Funeral services will be held Friday for Louis P. Wirth, 89, prominent retired Falls City banker and former merchant.

Wirth left the hardware, plumbing and heating business to enter the banking field here in 1911. He was manager and principal stockholder of the Falls City State Bank until it was sold in 1939.

He was an organizer of the Falls City National Farm Loan Association, a charter member of the Rotary Club and a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus.

Survivors include a son, Louis J. Wirth, Santa Cruz, Calif.; and daughters, Mrs. Charles Breen, Parkville, Mo.; Mrs. Chris J. Witherow, Kansas City, Mo., and Mrs. Ray Fredlake, St. Joseph, Mo.

3 State Counties Suggested As Polio Vaccine Test Sites

The State Health Department has nominated three Nebraska counties for possible sites for testing polio vaccine next year, Dr. E. A. Rogers, acting state health director, said Thursday.

Douglas, Lancaster and Scotts Bluff Counties were suggested to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, which will choose one within the next few weeks.

Second grade pupils in the county selected will be vaccinated, with their parents' consent.

Similar tests will be made in other states.

Hike Sought In Omaha Sightseeing Tour Rate

The Gray Line asked the Railway Commission Thursday for authority to raise the price of its Omaha sightseeing tour from $2.50 to $3.45 for adults.

The company gave increased operating costs as the reason for the request. The tour includes the city of Omaha and Boys Town.

Two Johnstown Men Die In Air Crash

Light Craft Goes Down In Sandhills

BROWNLEE, Neb. (AP) — A small plane crashed to earth in snow-covered Sandhills ranch country near Brownlee, killing both occupants instantly.

Edward J. Pelc, 41, the pilot, Johnstown, Neb.

William J. Loeb, 33, also of Johnstown.

The men had been touring ranches in the area by air, selling electric welders.

There was so much snow in the area that an ambulance from Valentine had to be pulled up to the scene with a tractor.

Sheriff Freeman said the plane appeared to have plowed straight into the ground at a hilltop. The craft, a Piper 125, with two tandem seats, was demolished so completely the rescue crew had trouble extricating the bodies.

Might Have Stalled

The sheriff speculated the plane might have stalled.

The plane had been seen just before the crash by Philip McLeod, who was in the valley with a pickup truck, tending cattle.

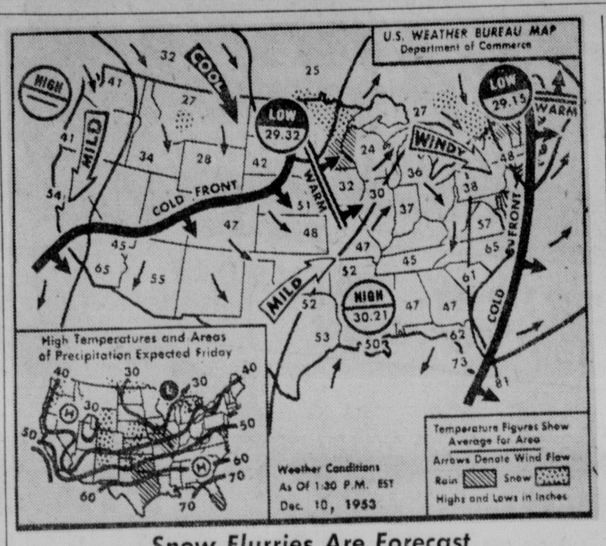

The plane flew low overhead and one of the occupants called to McLeod to say there was a coyote over the hill. The plane itself then went over the hill. McLeod saw it losing altitude and when the plane did not return, he feared it had crashed.

McLeod went home, notified his brother, Gordon, who went up in his own small plane equipped with skis, landed nearby and found the wreckage and the bodies.

The wreck scene was about 50 air miles southwest of Valentine, or 14 miles northwest of Brownlee on the Robert Hanna ranch. The spot was at least a half dozen miles from the nearest ranch house.

Freeman said the ambulance traveled 70 road miles to reach the area. When the ambulance could proceed no further in the snow, a tractor was used to pull it. Other ranchers reached the scene in jeeps and a tractor.

Pelc was living with a mother and sister at Johnstown. Loeb is survived by his wife and two children.

Snow Flurries Are Forecast

Rain is expected over Southern Florida peninsula Friday and in North Pacific states and Central Mississippi Valley. Showers and thunderstorms are slated for Eastern Texas. Snow flurries are due over the Rocky Mountain states, Northern North Dakota and Central Plains. Central Oklahoma and Northern Lakes region can expect snow mixed with rain. It will be warmer in the Southern sector and cooler over Northern New England, Central Plains and Florida peninsula. (AP Wirephoto Map Thursday Night.)

Thomas' Library Given To County

SEWARD, Neb. — Donation of the law library of the late J. J. Thomas of Seward to Seward County has been announced by the County Commissioners.

The 1,000 book library, for the use and benefit of the courts and members of the Seward County bar, will be moved soon from the former Thomas law offices to the County Courthouse.

The gift was made by John Justin Thomas of Kansas City, son of the late Mr. Thomas. The elder Thomas served for nearly 60 years as an attorney and judge.

Caravan To Tour Central Counties

ORD, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Valley County's extension service and the Ord Chamber of Commerce will host the Cornhusker Caravan which will tour Nebraska's central counties beginning after Jan. 1.

The caravan consists of more than 100 feet of demonstration displays and will be in Ord on Feb. 5 at the Bohemian Hall.

University of Nebraska College of Agriculture extension workers accompany the caravan on its visits.

Need Of Adequate Personnel For Mental Hospitals Related

OMAHA (AP) — Dr. G. Lee Sandritter of Hastings Thursday urged Nebraska's county officers "to clamor, loud and long" for what he called proper care for the mentally ill.

Dr. Sandritter, superintendent of the Hastings State Hospital, addressed the convention of the Nebraska Association of County Officials.

Such care, he said, would be "more humane and less expensive.

"We're always behind the eight ball because of a backlog of mental patients," he said. "But we wouldn't be if we had a policy of treatment rather than a policy of building."

New Hastings Building

Dr. Sandritter noted that the State Board of Control recently let bids for a new building at Hastings to cost $850,000.

"If we would spend that much for adequate personnel, we wouldn't have to build the building," he said.

Without adequate care, however, the building will be needed as well as the ancient one it is to replace, he said.

And by using the ancient building, "we could have another murder tonight and I couldn't do a thing to stop it," Dr. Sandritter said.

He was referring to a recent killing of one patient by another at the hospital.

He described the building as a "fire trap, not a fire hazard." A fire "would burn to death 50 to 100 patients."

Dr. Sandritter declared the increase in mentally-ill patients could be handled by present facilities if the average hospital stay were cut from 8 to 2½ months.

"The cut could be made with proper personnel," he added.

A new $1,500,000 building was completed nine months ago at Norfolk, but has remained vacant because of a lack of personnel, Dr. Sandritter said.

Lack Doctors

If the money had been invested, it would pay for sufficient personnel, he added.

"They don't even have enough doctors and aids now, let alone staff a new 450-bed building," Dr. Sandritter said.

State Sen. Lester H. Anderson, Aurora, in a question-and-answer period, asked why the last session of the Legislature didn't know these facts.

Dr. Sandritter replied:

"The three superintendents of the state hospitals made a budget. By the time the governor and Board of Control were finished, it was an entirely different budget."

He said members of the Board of Control still don't know how bad the situation is "because they don't have time to know."

Lawrence Gordon, 25, Theater Operator, Dies

STROMSBURG, Neb. (AP)—Lawrence Gordon, 25, Polk theater operator, died in a hospital here after collapsing in Polk.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Gordon of Bradshaw, two brothers and a sister.

Santa Claus To Appear In Ord Next Wednesday

ORD, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Santa Claus will make an early appearance at Ord on Wednesday.

He will give children in attendance gifts of candy. The Ord Chamber of Commerce and the fire department are sponsoring Santa's pre-Christmas visit.

Two Johnstown Men Die In Air Crash

Light Craft Goes Down In Sandhills

BROWNLEE, Neb. (AP) — A small plane crashed to earth in snow-covered Sandhills ranch country near Brownlee, killing both occupants instantly.

Edward J. Pelc, 41, the pilot, Johnstown, Neb.

William J. Loeb, 33, also of Johnstown.

The men had been touring ranches in the area by air, selling electric welders.

There was so much snow in the area that an ambulance from Valentine had to be pulled up to the scene with a tractor.

Sheriff Freeman said the plane appeared to have plowed straight into the ground at a hilltop. The craft, a Piper 125, with two tandem seats, was demolished so completely the rescue crew had trouble extricating the bodies.

Might Have Stalled

The sheriff speculated the plane might have stalled.

The plane had been seen just before the crash by Philip McLeod, who was in the valley with a pickup truck, tending cattle.

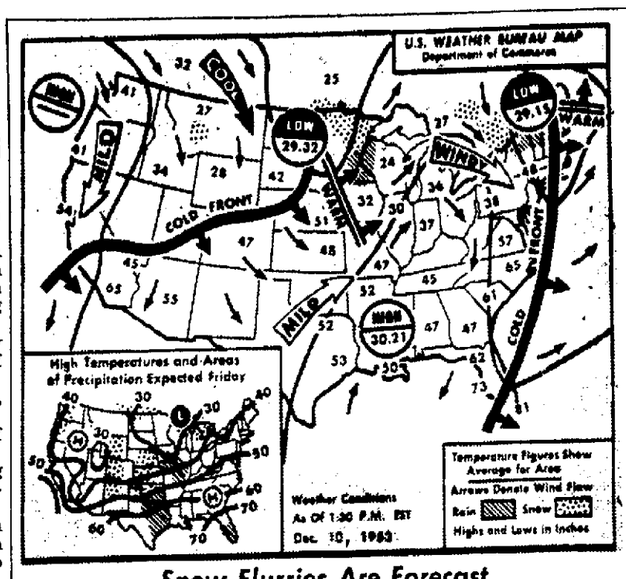

The plane flew low overhead and one of the occupants called to McLeod to say there was a coyote over the hill. The plane itself then went over the hill. McLeod saw it losing altitude and when the plane did not return, he feared it had crashed.

McLeod went home, notified his brother, Gordon, who went up in his own small plane equipped with skis, landed nearby and found the wreckage and the bodies.

The wreck scene was about 50 air miles southwest of Valentine, or 14 miles northwest of Brownlee on the Robert Hanna ranch. The spot was at least a half dozen miles from the nearest ranch house.

Freeman said the ambulance traveled 70 road miles to reach the area. When the ambulance could proceed no further in the snow, a tractor was used to pull it. Other ranchers reached the scene in jeeps and a tractor.

Pelc was living with a mother and sister at Johnstown. Loeb is survived by his wife and two children.

Snow Flurries Are Forecast

Rain is expected over Southern Florida peninsula Friday and in North Pacific states and Central Mississippi Valley. Showers and thunderstorms are slated for Eastern Texas. Snow flurries are due over the Rocky Mountain states, Northern North Dakota and Central Plains. Central Oklahoma and Northern Lakes region can expect snow mixed with rain. It will be warmer in the Southern sector and cooler over Northern New England, Central Plains and Florida peninsula. (AP Wirephoto Map Thursday Night.)

Thomas' Library Given To County

SEWARD, Neb. — Donation of the law library of the late J. J. Thomas of Seward to Seward County has been announced by the County Commissioners.

The 1,000 book library, for the use and benefit of the courts and members of the Seward County bar, will be moved soon from the former Thomas law offices to the County Courthouse.

The gift was made by John Justin Thomas of Kansas City, son of the late Mr. Thomas. The elder Thomas served for nearly 60 years as an attorney and judge.

Caravan To Tour Central Counties

ORD, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—Valley County's extension service and the Ord Chamber of Commerce will host the Cornhusker Caravan which will tour Nebraska's central counties beginning after Jan. 1.

The caravan consists of more than 100 feet of demonstration displays and will be in Ord on Feb. 5 at the Bohemian Hall.

University of Nebraska College of Agriculture extension workers accompany the caravan on its visits.

Need Of Adequate Personnel For Mental Hospitals Related

OMAHA (AP) — Dr. C. Lee Sandritter of Hastings Thursday urged Nebraska's county officers "to clamor, loud and long" for what he called proper care for the mentally ill.

Dr. Sandritter, superintendent of the Hastings State Hospital, addressed the convention of the Nebraska Association of County Officials.

Such care, he said, would be "more humane and less expensive.

"We're always behind the eight ball because of a backlog of mental patients," he said. "But we wouldn't be if we had a policy of treatment rather than a policy of building."

New Hastings Building

Dr. Sandritter noted that the State Board of Control recently let bids for a new building at Hastings to cost $850,000.

"If we would spend that much for adequate personnel, we wouldn't have to build the building," he said.

Without adequate care, however, the building will be needed as well as the ancient one it is to replace, he said.

And by using the ancient building, "we could have another murder tonight and I couldn't do a thing to stop it," Dr. Sandritter said.

He was referring to a recent killing of one patient by another at the hospital.

He described the building as a "fire trap, not a fire hazard." A fire "would burn to death 50 to 100 patients."

Dr. Sandritter declared the increase in mentally-ill patients could be handled by present facilities if the average hospital stay were cut from 8 to 2½ months.

"The cut could be made with proper personnel," he added.

A new $1,500,000 building was completed nine months ago at Norfolk, but has remained vacant because of a lack of personnel, Dr. Sandritter said.

Lack Doctors

If the money had been invested, it would pay for sufficient personnel, he added.

"They don't even have enough doctors and aids now, let alone staff a new 450-bed building," Dr. Sandritter said.

State Sen. Lester H. Anderson, Aurora, in a question-and-answer period, asked why the last session of the Legislature didn't know these facts.

Dr. Sandritter replied:

"The three superintendents of the state hospitals made a budget. By the time the governor and Board of Control were finished, it was an entirely different budget."

He said members of the Board of Control still don't know how bad the situation is "because they don't have time to know."

Watson Trucks Again Banned By Military Services

Iowa Crash Brings New Embargo

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and the Navy Thursday banned the use of trucks operated by Watson Brothers, of Omaha, to haul ammunition after a collision and explosion Wednesday near Glenwood, Ia.

The embargo action was taken by the military services following a request for action made by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Chairman J. Monroe Johnston of the ICC said earlier Thursday that the agency is "much exercised" over a series of explosions involving munition-laden trucks on midwest highways.

An earlier embargo against the Watson shipping firm was lifted Nov. 27. That temporary ban had been ordered by the Army and the Navy following an explosion of one of the company's trucks in Nebraska.

Effective Immediately

The ICC has asked the Defense Department and its military services to embargo use of Watson Brothers as a shipper of ammunition and explosives until further notice. A defense spokesman said that the embargo notice had been sent out and took effect at the close of business Thursday.

William Wolfe, vice president of Watson Brothers, said that in Wednesday night's accident, "our driver simply didn't show the slightest of slight negligence."

Wolfe said the Watson truck was "hit while on the shoulder" and was traveling only 10 miles an hour at the time.

"We have a signed statement to the effect the other man's brakes were bad," Wolfe said.

The other truck in the sideswiping accident was driven by Elmer Jessen, 23, of Kingsley, Ia., for the Klass Produce Co., of Sioux City.

Wolfe said Donald Breeden, 37, of Council Bluffs, Ia., the ammunition truck driver, was "a champion driver" who had driven nine years—over a million miles—without an accident.

Johnson made his statement in commenting on a telegram from Gov. William S. Beardsley of Iowa requesting the ICC to cancel the authority of trucking companies to transport ammunition across state lines.

Beardsley acted after a truck loaded with 105 millimeter shells exploded following a collision with another truck Wednesday night. Both drivers were injured. Beardsley's telegram to the ICC said the explosion "demonstrates that this operation unnecessarily exposes drivers and the general public to great danger." He said trucks should not be permitted to carry ammunition except in periods of national emergency.

Blasts Turn Ammunition Truck Into Scrap

This jumbled heap of wreckage represented the remains of a large semi-trailer ammunition truck which exploded near Malvern, Ia., after being in a sideswipe collision with a truck loaded with eggs. Explosions of 105 millimeter artillery shells continued for more than two hours and left the highway littered with unexploded shells and chunks of metal. (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

In the Malvern accident, the gasoline tank of the ammunition carrier caught fire following the collision and its cargo of 105-millimeter shells started exploding.

The blasts continued for more than two hours, sending shrapnel screaming as far as 3,000 feet. One chunk of metal struck an automobile some distance from the scene but the occupant was not hurt.

Malvern residents said the din of the exploding shells was almost continuous" for nearly an hour, and then tapered off until there was only an occasional blast.

Saved From Truck

Three other ammunition truck drivers, who had been following Breeden at five minute intervals, and an Elliott, Ia., farmer were credited with saving Jessen, who was trapped in his truck.

As shells exploded about them, they carried Jessen about a half mile down the highway where an ambulance picked him up and carried him to Council Bluffs hospital.

Highway patrolmen said Jessen was trapped in the cab of his truck a scant 40 feet from the burning semi-trailer, before he was rescued.

Scottish Rite Reunion Class Elects Omahan

OMAHA (AP) — Howard M. Lundgren of Omaha, a director of the Woodmen of the World life Insurance Co., Thursday was named president of the 126th reunion class of Scottish Rite bodies.

Other officers include William A. Beemer, former Fremont city councilman, vice president, and O. C. Michelman, of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., Omaha secretary-treasurer.

Edward C. Reynolds, division manager of the Carpenter Paper Co., Omaha, was named class orator.

Hruska Speaks

A banquet at which Rep. Roman Hruska, a member of the Omaha Bodies of the Scottish Rite, was principal speaker climaxed the four-day reunion Thursday night.

Special guests included Joseph W. Seacrest, Lincoln, sovereign grand inspector general of Nebraska; Dr. Kay Smith, Imperial, grand master of Masons in Nebraska, and George O. Sizemore, North Platte, grand commander of the Knights Templar of Nebraska.

Of the 132 members of the class, 96 were from Omaha. Other Nebraska towns represented were Bellevue, Craig, Fremont, Hooper, North Bend, North Platte, Plattsmouth, Primrose, Ralston, Tekamah and Tilden.

G.I. Council Hires New City Manager

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Otis L. Barbarick, city manager at Lebanon, Mo., Thursday was named to a similar post here, subject to approval of the City Council.

Mayor Oren Cunningham, who has been in Lebanon, telephoned the Grand Island Independent shortly before noon to report that Barbarick had been offered the post, subject to approval of the council.

Barbarick has been city manager at Lebanon for two years. He previously had been mayor of Springfield, Mo., resigning that post to go to Lebanon.

Plea Of Innocent Entered To Motor Homicide Charge

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — Richard Reed, 38, of Omaha, was arraigned in Justice Court here on a charge of motor vehicle homicide.

The charge was filed in connection with the death Oct. 21 of Billie Bryan, 49, of North Bend.

Justice of Peace B. T. Schafersman entered a plea of innocent for Reed at his arraignment. The Omahan had said he didn't know how to plead.

Bryan was injured in a one-car accident Sept. 21 on a country road 2½ miles northeast of North Bend.

This jumbled heap of wreckage represented the remains of a large semi-trailer ammunition truck which exploded near Malvern, Ia., after being in a sideswipe collision with a truck loaded with eggs. Explosions of 105 millimeter artillery shells continued for more than two hours and left the highway littered with unexploded shells and chunks of metal. (AP Wirephoto Thursday Night.)

In the Malvern accident, the gasoline tank of the ammunition carrier caught fire following the collision and its cargo of 105-millimeter shells started exploding.

The blasts continued for more than two hours, sending shrapnel screaming as far as 3,000 feet. One chunk of metal struck an automobile some distance from the scene but the occupant was not hurt.

Malvern residents said the din of the exploding shells was almost continuous" for nearly an hour, and then tapered off until there was only an occasional blast.

Saved From Truck

Three other ammunition truck drivers, who had been following Breeden at five minute intervals, and an Elliott, Ia., farmer were credited with saving Jessen, who was trapped in his truck.

As shells exploded about them, they carried Jessen about a half mile down the highway where an ambulance picked him up and carried him to Council Bluffs hospital.

Highway patrolmen said Jessen was trapped in the cab of his truck a scant 40 feet from the burning semi-trailer, before he was rescued.

Scottish Rite Reunion Class Elects Omahan

OMAHA (AP) — Howard M. Lundgren of Omaha, a director of the Woodmen of the World life Insurance Co., Thursday was named president of the 126th reunion class of Scottish Rite bodies.

Other officers include William A. Beemer, former Fremont city councilman, vice president, and O. C. Michelman, of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., Omaha secretary-treasurer.

Edward C. Reynolds, division manager of the Carpenter Paper Co., Omaha, was named class orator.

Hruska Speaks

A banquet at which Rep. Roman Hruska, a member of the Omaha Bodies of the Scottish Rite, was principal speaker climaxed the four-day reunion Thursday night.

Special guests included Joseph W. Seacrest, Lincoln, sovereign grand inspector general of Nebraska, Dr. Kay Smith, Imperial, grand master of Masons in Nebraska, and George O. Sizemore, North Platte, grand commander of the Knights Templar of Nebraska.

Of the 132 members of the class, 96 were from Omaha. Other Nebraska towns represented were Bellevue, Craig, Fremont, Hooper, North Bend, North Platte, Plattsmouth, Primrose, Ralston, Tekamah and Tilden.

G.I. Council Hires New City Manager

GRAND ISLAND, Neb. (AP) — Otis L. Barbarick, city manager at Lebanon, Mo., Thursday was named to a similar post here, subject to approval of the City Council.

Mayor Oren Cunningham, who has been in Lebanon, telephoned the Grand Island Independent shortly before noon to report that Barbarick had been offered the post, subject to approval of the council.

Barbarick has been city manager at Lebanon for two years. He previously had been mayor of Springfield, Mo., resigning that post to go to Lebanon.

Plea Of Innocent Entered To Motor Homicide Charge

FREMONT, Neb. (AP) — Richard Reed, 38, of Omaha, was arraigned in Justice Court here on a charge of motor vehicle homicide.

The charge was filed in connection with the death Oct. 21 of Billie Bryan, 49, of North Bend.

Justice of Peace B. T. Schafersman entered a plea of innocent for Reed at his arraignment.

The Omahan had said he didn't know how to plead.

To Be January Bride

MISS NANCY GLYNN

Announcement is made this morning by Mrs. Harry Glynn of Boulder, Colo., formerly of Lincoln, of the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Nancy Harriet, to Robert Evans Elberson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Elberson of Winston-Salem, N.C.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Jan. 16, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Edward E. Taylor, in Denver.

Miss Glynn is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority.

Mr. Elberson was graduated from Princeton university where he is a member of the Princeton Terrace Club. He received his master's degree from the Harvard graduate school of business administration. He now is serving with the air force and is stationed at McClellan air base, Sacramento, Calif.

Just Between Us Girls

—the mousetrap season is upon us again. Pity the poor husband who, the other night while wandering around the house in the dark in his bare feet, looking for a cigarette, walked right into a waiting trap. He is still nursing a wounded dignity and a badly bruised toe.

—the last game of the Nebraska football season brought forth a typically feminine comment from the wife of a rabid fan who always insists on being at the game for the kickoff. As he told her, "The game usually starts with the kickoff." "But, Honey" came the reply, "Why hurry, we can always see it again at the second half!"

—a friend returning by plane from the East tells this one about women and football. He and the stewardess were discussing a recent football game that had ended in a tie. Her comment—"But why didn't they play an extra inning?"

—felt skirt season is here, too. Try making your skirt in white and edging the hem with black ball fringe or outline a fake "apron" with black lace. For a teen-ager add tiny pennants of local schools on the skirt. Or try large black musical notes or a black poodle with a rhinestone dog collar or two black phones connected with a looping black cord. At Christmas the possibilities are endless—green felt trees decorated with sequins, wreaths, bright-colored balls tied on with green or red ribbons, miniature imitation candy canes, etc.

—my husband had just finished a painting over which he had labored for hours. He explained to a visiting friend that it is to be "converted" into a Christmas card. The friend eyed it carefully, then remarked, "What can they do with that?"

Will Honor Bridal Couple

Complimenting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Toothaker, whose marriage took place on Nov. 30, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Thorne will be host and hostess at a reception between the hours of 7:30 o'clock until 9 o'clock this evening at their home. Out of town guests will include Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hassler, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Swenson, Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Sawyer, Torrington, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Savage, York, and Dr. and Mrs. H. N. Morrow, Fremont.

YM-YW Dance

The weekly Saturday night dance of the YM-YW will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday in the Green Room of the YMCA. All young adults are invited to attend.

The Things Santa Forgot

What in your dismal past did you ever write on your Christmas list that you never received? That simple question seemed to stump most of the materialistic experts we contacted, although in their childhood they probably could have retaliated rapidly and with copious ammunition. Dr. Ben J. James hasn't forgotten his perennial wish as a child for a kit of building logs . . . as a matter of fact, they are YET on every Christmas list he laboriously makes.

When Mrs. Richard A. Knudsen was all of seven years old, she returned from summer camp with one topic—archery. She asked her parents for the works, but somehow they were "unable" to purchase the 40-lb. apparatus, complete with bow, arrow and padded target. She vows to be more understanding when her daughter, Nancy, shows a propensity toward the outdoors. . . . Mrs. Robert McNutt remembers her deep-rooted desire for a pony, and would still accept a beauty of a pinto if someone cared.

Warren (Buzz) Dalton shares his secret longing for an "M.G." sports car, in a brilliant red, with most of his masculine contemporaries, and we heard from a usually reliable correspondent that when Hal Miles was at the Threshold of Teenage, he would accept nothing but a College View streetcar and a skeleton.

Mrs. P. Rolfe Halligan speculated that she had perhaps the greatest struggle to acquire either a dictionary or a heating pad . . . but since she received them, has derived more pleasure from each than from anything else she could possibly list.

A more pressing problem in Mrs. Halligan's mind is how to satisfy her grandson's desire for an alligator. Where he got the idea is not nearly as much a puzzle as where she will find an acceptable substitute. For any fond grandmas with similar problems or equally perspicacious grandchildren Mrs. Halligan has solved the problem with a silver nutcracker with the alligator doing the honors.

Mrs. William Mowbray will always recall the present she got that she didn't get that she got. It seems that she and her sister, although beyond the Santa Claus stage, were not yet above tearing the house apart to peek for presents. They spied a typewriter—for them, obviously—but imagine their nonplussed faces on Christmas morn, when their discovery was not under the tree. They held on to their self-control for several days, but finally dropped enough hints about a typewriter so that their parents exclaimed in horror that they had hidden it "so well", they had completely forgotten its presence.

The most infuriating Christmas present Mrs. Mowbray can recall was a luscious set of luggage she received from her husband-to-be. Not only infuriating, but humiliating was such a practical gift from one whom Mrs. Mowbray had led her college friends to believe was to present this sweet young schoolteacher with an engagement ring. The gift arrived in a huge box, and although a little horrified, she thought she was landing a really clever and imaginative lad. When she discovered the contents she refused even to thank Mr. Mowbray immediately to her parents' abashment, but to make the saga end happily, the over-practical beau presented the ring, appropriately enough, on Valentine's Day.

Merry Christmas, and may your day be brightened by few disappointments.

Mrs. Jaycees To Entertain

The annual Christmas dinner-dance of the Mrs. Jaycees will be held at 6:30 o'clock Saturday evening in the ballroom of the Chamber of Commerce and will be highlighted by a visit from Santa Claus.

All members and their husbands are invited to attend and to bring gifts for Santa Claus to distribute. A program of special music will be presented by the Jaycee Glee Club directed by John Whaley.

Hostesses for the evening will be the members of the board, Mrs. William Hastings, Mrs. Gene Ingram, Mrs. Tom Sheperd, Mrs. Robert Osborne, Mrs. Vince Collure, Mrs. Jerome Dosek, Mrs. Clark McCabe, Mrs. Herb Henry, Mrs. Kenneth Jones and Mrs. William Brown.

The Who And What

ANOTHER dawn is peering over the horizon and it's time to look around town and see who and what's in the news of the morning — Learned a number of interesting things — such as the facts that this is moving day for Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl and their family— that there are more guests coming for the holidays—that another Christmas cheer party has been added to the pre-holiday festivities—that there are more courtesies for brides-to-be—that there are more definite dates for the homecoming of the away-at-school set — and that the whole town is wrapped in the magic of Christmas—

THIS IS moving day for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roehl and their family because Mr. and Mrs. Roehl have sold their home at 2949 Plymouth to Mr. and Mrs. Delwin G. Eno—

The Roehls, we hear, would like a home just out of the city—but until they find it they will be guests at the home of Mrs. Roehl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. X. Ames.

WITH one plane grounded because of fog — and another plane very late, the trip from Detroit was quite a strenuous one for Mrs. Allen O'Connor and her two daughters, Ann and Julie—but the threesome finally made it—arriving in the wee small hours of Thursday morning. Mrs. O'Connor and her daughters are the house guests of Mrs. O'Connor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miles—and will be joined here on Dec. 23 by Mr. O'Connor who will remain for holiday week.

AND TODAY is the day that Mr. and Mrs. Fremont C. Glazier arrive from Broken Bow to spend the holiday season with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson.

TOMORROW will bring Miss Sally Bloom from Washington, D. C., to Lincoln to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Bloom —Miss Bloom, a graduate of Barat college, Lake Forest, Ill., is a member of Senator Dwight Griswold's secretarial staff.

HEAR that Miss Ann Mockett and Miss Virginia Noble, who are members of the Marshalltown, Ia., high school faculty this year, will arrive on Dec. 18, to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mockett and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Noble.

LEARNED, too, that Miss Mary Lou Calhoun, who is a freshman at Leland Stanford university, will plane home a week from Saturday to spend the holiday season with her mother, Mrs. O. V. Calhoun. Miss Calhoun is to be maid of honor at the wedding of her sister, Miss Jane Calhoun, and Walt Weaver on Tuesday, Dec. 29.

THE mention of Miss Jane Calhoun reminds us that Mrs. Harold Morgan and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel will be hostesses this evening at the home of Mrs. Morgan, when they entertain in courtesy to the soon-to-be bride. Eighteen guests have been invited for an informal evening, and will present Miss Calhoun with a vice shower.

Faculty Tea

The members of the Faculty Women's Club will entertain at a tea at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Ellen Smith Hall, immediately following the presentation of the Messiah at the University of Nebraska. The guest list will include the husbands of the members and all members of the university faculty.

Assisting with the arrangements will be Mrs. Earl Jenkins, Mrs. George Round, Mrs. Frank Lundy, Mrs. William Pfeiler, Mrs. Albin T. Anderson, Mrs. Wilber Gaffney, Mrs. Harold Wise and Mrs. Dale Ganz.

Beta Sigma Phi Parties

Alpha Rho Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Wednesday evening at the chapter rooms, with Mrs. Russell Chesnut presiding. Mrs. Bruce Evans and Miss Lois Scheve presented a program on, "Holiday Dishes and Christmas Gift Suggestions."

Plans were discussed for the Christmas luncheon which will be held Dec. 19

The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Charles Palmer and Mrs. Paul Burkland.

A Christmas dinner-dance will be held at Cotner Terrace for the members of Theta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The party is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 13, at 6:30 o'clock. In charge of arrangements is Mrs. James Novotne.

Betrothal Announced

MISS PATTI HELZER

Mr. and Mrs. William Helzer of Burbank, Calif., are this morning announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patti, to Loren Graul, son of Mrs. Atlee Graul of Roca.

An April wedding is planned.

Miss Helzer is a junior at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Graul was graduated from the University of Nebraska in the class of 1950.

The Who And What

ANOTHER dawn is peering over the horizon and it's time to look around town and see who and what's what in the news of the morning — Learned a number of interesting things — such as the facts that this is moving day for Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl and their family— that there are more guests coming for the holidays—that another Christmas cheer party has been added to the pre-holiday festivities—that there are more courtesies for brides-to-be—that there are more definite dates for the homecoming of the away-at-school set — and that the whole town is wrapped in the magic of Christmas—

THIS IS moving day for Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roehl and their family because Mr. and Mrs. Roehl have sold their home at 2949 Plymouth to Mr. and Mrs. Delwin G. Eno—

The Roehls, we hear, would like a home just out of the city—but until they find it they will be guests at the home of Mrs. Roehl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. X. Ames.

WITH one plane grounded because of fog — and another plane very late, the trip from Detroit was quite a strenuous one for Mrs. Allen O'Connor and her two daughters, Ann and Julie—but the threesome finally made it—arriving in the wee small hours of Thursday morning. Mrs. O'Connor and her daughters are the house guests of Mrs. O'Connor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Miles—and will be joined here on Dec. 23 by Mr. O'Connor who will remain for holiday week.

AND TODAY is the day that Mr. and Mrs. Fremont C. Glazier arrive from Broken Bow to spend the holiday season with their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Paul Peterson.

TOMORROW will bring Miss Sally Bloom from Washington, D. C., to Lincoln to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton E. Bloom —Miss Bloom, a graduate of Barat college, Lake Forest, Ill., is a member of Senator Dwight Griswold's secretarial staff.

HEAR that Miss Ann Mockett and Miss Virginia Noble, who are members of the Marshalltown, Ia., high school faculty this year, will arrive on Dec. 18, to spend the holidays with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Mockett and Mr. and Mrs. Myron Noble.

LEARNED, too, that Miss Mary Lou Calhoun, who is a freshman at Leland Stanford university, will plane home a week from Saturday to spend the holiday season with her mother, Mrs. O. V. Calhoun. Miss Calhoun is to be maid of honor at the wedding of her sister, Miss Jane Calhoun, and Walt Weaver on Tuesday, Dec. 29

* * *

THE mention of Miss Jane Calhoun reminds us that Mrs. Harold Morgan and Mrs. A. Q. Schimmel will be hostesses this evening at the home of Mrs. Morgan, when they entertain in courtesy to the soon-to-be bride. Eighteen guests have been invited for an informal evening, and will present Miss Calhoun with a vice shower.

Beta Sigma Phi Parties

Alpha Rho Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, met Wednesday evening at the chapter rooms, with Mrs. Russell Chesnut presiding. Mrs. Bruce Evans and Miss Lois Scheve presented a program on, "Holiday Dishes and Christmas Gift Suggestions."

Plans were discussed for the Christmas luncheon which will be held Dec. 19

The assisting hostesses were Mrs. Charles Palmer and Mrs. Paul Burkland.

A Christmas dinner-dance will be held at Cotner Terrace for the members of Theta Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi. The party is scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 13, at 6:30 o'clock. In charge of arrangements is Mrs. James Novotne.

Betrothal Announced

MISS PATTI HELZER

Mr. and Mrs. William Helzer of Burbank, Calif., are this morning announcing the engagement of their daughter, Patti, to Loren Graul, son of Mrs. Atlee Graul of Roca.

An April wedding is planned.

Miss Helzer is a junior at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Graul was graduated from the University of Nebraska in the class of 1950.

Faculty Tea

The members of the Faculty Women's Club will entertain at a tea at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon in Ellen Smith Hall, immediately following the presentation of the Messiah at the University of Nebraska. The guest list will include the husbands of the members and all members of the university faculty.

Assisting with the arrangements will be Mrs. Earl Jenkins, Mrs. George Round, Mrs. Frank Lundy, Mrs. William Pfeiler, Mrs. Albin T. Anderson, Mrs. Wilber Gaffney, Mrs. Harold Wise and Mrs. Dale Ganz.

Reject Seen For Ike's Social Security Plan

House Group Chairman Opposes Request To Cancel Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Robert W. Kean (R-NJ) predicted Thursday the House Ways and Means Committee almost certainly will reject President Eisenhower's request to cancel a scheduled security tax increase.

He commented after committee chairman Daniel W. Reed (R-NY) issued a statement strongly opposing the proposal. At the same time, Reed pledged quickly action to "broaden and strengthen" social security.

Kean, usually an administration supporter, said he sounded out five other committee Republicans some time ago and all of them were against the President's request.

The social security tax on both workers and employers jumps automatically on Jan. 1 from 1½ to 2 per cent of wages up to $3,600 annually. Eisenhower has asked that the increase be deferred for at least one year.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) and House Republican leader Halleck (Ind.) have supported Eisenhower's proposal. The tax affects some 65 million workers.

Kean said some congressmen appear to be concerned that the social security tax increase would mean a net reduction in take home pay for some low income workers, despite a 10 per cent cut in individual income tax rates also set for Jan. 1.

'Misleading'

"The two taxes are entirely different and it is misleading to compare them that way," Kean said in an interview. "The social security tax is reserved solely for death or retirement benefits for workers, and this program must be protected and maintained on a financially sound basis.

"If we want to give more tax benefits to low income workers, we should do so through regular income taxes or other revenue laws if that is fiscally practical."

Reed, reviving his opposition to cancelling the tax increase, said:

"I believe that the American people want social security and are willing to pay for it. While I strongly favor tax reduction and believe that the people are entitled to a larger reduction than that now scheduled, I do not believe that such a tax cut should be achieved at the expense of a sound social security system."

Most House Democrats also are expected to favor letting the increase take effect.

25 Tons Of License Plates For Issue Jan. 4

Holding his own 1954 auto plates, Lancaster County Motor Vehicle Registration Chief Lyle Stover sits on top of a pile of the 25 tons of license plates his office will begin issuing Monday, Jan. 4, 1954.

Delivery of 56,110 plates for all types of vehicles, including 43,000 auto plates, have been made by the State Reformatory, which manufactures the plates, to the county. The new plates with yellow lettering on black are just the reverse in coloring of the previous year's plates.

Stover, who has "owned" plate number 2-100 since 1927, explains that the same number is re-issued to the holder each year. However, this courtesy is dropped after Feb. 15 when plates are then generally issued on a numerical basis in order to clear shelves.

After payment of the 1953 token tax and the 1954 "pay as you go" tax on motor vehicles is made at the county treasurer's office, the owner then presents the tax receipts for auto registration and license issue at Stover's office. (Star Photo.)

Reject Seen For Ike's Social Security Plan

House Group Chairman Opposes Request To Cancel Tax Boost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Robert W. Kean (R-NJ) predicted Thursday the House Ways and Means Committee almost certainly will reject President Eisenhower's request to cancel a scheduled security tax increase

He commented after committee chairman Daniel W. Reed (R-NY) issued a statement strongly opposing the proposal. At the same time, Reed pledged quickly action to "broaden and strengthen" social security.

Kean, usually an administration supporter, said he sounded out five other committee Republicans some time ago and all of them were against the President's request.

The social security tax on both workers and employers jumps automatically on Jan. 1 from 1½ to 2 per cent of wages up to $3,600 annually. Eisenhower has asked that the increase be deferred for at least one year.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) and House Republican leader Halleck (Ind.) have supported Eisenhower's proposal. The tax affects some 65 million workers.

Kean said some congressmen appear to be concerned that the social security tax increase would mean a net reduction in take home pay for some low income workers, despite a 10 per cent cut in individual income tax rates also set for Jan. 1.

'Misleading'

"The two taxes are entirely different and it is misleading to compare them that way," Kean said in an interview. "The social security tax is reserved solely for death or retirement benefits for workers, and this program must be protected and maintained on a financially sound basis

"If we want to give more tax benefits to low income workers, we should do so through regular income taxes or other revenue laws if that is fiscally practical."

Reed, reviving his opposition to cancelling the tax increase, said:

"I believe that the American people want social security and are willing to pay for it While I strongly favor tax reduction and believe that the people are entitled to a larger reduction than that now scheduled, I do not believe that such a tax cut should be achieved at the expense of a sound social security system."

Most House Democrats also are expected to favor letting the increase take effect.

25 Tons Of License Plates For Issue Jan. 4

Holding his own 1954 auto plates, Lancaster County Motor Vehicle Registration Chief Lyle Stover sits on top of a pile of the 25 tons of license plates his office will begin issuing Monday, Jan. 4, 1954.

Delivery of 56 110 plates for all types of vehicles including 43 000 auto plates, have been made by the State Reformatory, which manufactures the plates, to the county The new plates with yellow lettering on black are just the reverse in coloring of the previous year's plates.

Stover, who has "owned" plate number 2-100 since 1927, explains that the same number is re-issued to the holder each year. However, this courtesy is dropped after Feb 15 when plates are then generally issued on a numerical basis in order to clear shelves

After payment of the 1953 token tax and the 1954 'pay as you go" tax on motor vehicles is made at the county treasurer's office, the owner then presents the tax receipts for auto registration and license issue at Stover's office. (Star Photo.)

President Rejects 'Stop-Gap' Soviet Comment On Atomic-Pool Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Thursday refused to accept hostile Russian comment as an official Soviet rejection of his plan to pool atomic energy for peaceful purposes.

The White House said it still hopes Russia will recognize the proposal as a "first step toward atomic peace."

This is the official attitude of the United States government, Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters in the wake of the cold reception given the President's proposal by the Moscow press and radio.

"We do not believe that immediate reaction to President Eisenhower's atomic proposal necessarily represents the considered decision of the Soviet government," Hagerty said in a statement.

"After all, the President always recognized that his suggestion would require thoughtful study.

"Therefore, a 24-hour reaction by Soviet officials or by Soviet propaganda media cannot be accepted as anything more than a stop-gap, interim statement."

Eisenhower appeared before the United Nations assembly in New York Tuesday to propose in an historic speech that the world harness at least some of its atomic energy for peaceful purposes. He suggested that an international pool of fissionable materials be established under U. N. supervision.

In its home service bulletin Thursday, Moscow radio disposed of the speech in 56 words.

"A cable from New York reports that President Eisenhower made a speech on 8th December at the plenary meeting of the U.N. General Assembly," the radio said. "In the introductory part of his speech Eisenhower had stated that he felt it incumbent upon himself to speak Thursday in a new language—in the language of the atom war."

Wednesday night a Moscow radio propaganda commentator said the President "threatened atomic war" in his address. Andrei Vishinsky, chief Soviet delegate to the U.N., told that body it would be impossible to insure the use of atomic energy for peace without strict international control of weapons.

The Russians have refused to go along with an inspection system which the United States considered an indispensable part of a plan for controlling atomic weapons.

Hagerty read his statement after being asked for comment on Russian reaction.

"We are still very hopeful," he said, "that the Soviet leaders will recognize the President's proposal for what it is. . a serious and feasible first step toward atomic peace."

Congressional reaction to the plan was tinged with caution Thursday. Fear of possible Russian trickery threatened to impede congressional approval of the atomic pool idea at the session beginning in January.

'54 Draft Of 19-Year-Old Youths Hinted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, Texas director of selective service, said Thursday after conferences at draft headquarters that his state and others will have to resume drafting of 19 year olds in the last half of 1954.

Leaving Washington after a four-day session of state directors with Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service chief, Wakefield said in a statement:

"It boils down to a matter of supply and demand. Whether we like it or not, the realistic fact remains that the demand from the armed forces to keep our strength consistent with our national safety is diminishing the manpower pool."

He explained that slightly more than one million men will reach the age of service liability in 1954, deferments and rejections will take up about half their number, and with the services needing a million replacements another half million men will have to be found.

"Even if the armed forces are able to cut their strength another 10 per cent during fiscal year 1955, in carrying out the orders of Secretary of Defense Wilson, calls will still be larger . . . than they were this year," a press release on Wakefield's statement quoted him.

Col. Frank B. O'Connell, deputy director of selective service in Nebraska, said Thursday that the state has a good backlog of manpower and unless there are much larger draft calls he sees no likelihood of calling up 19-year-olds.

Five ROTC Cadets Honored At U Of N

Five Army ROTC cadets at the University of Nebraska received badges Thursday for their selection as Distinguished Military Students by Col. James H. Workman, professor of military science and tactics.

They were recognized for exceptional military leadership, aptitude, and scholarship in military and other academic subjects. Their selection qualifies them for potential elgibility as Regular Army commissioned officers.

The five cadets honored are:

Cadet Lt. Col. Robert N. Blomstrand of Aurora, commander of the Infantry Battalion and army veteran of the 11th Airborne Division. He is a member of Phalanx military fraternity.

Cadet Major Guy V. Ferry, of Holdrege, executive officer of the Engineer Battalion.

Cadet Lt. Col. John F. Frost of Roscoe, executive officer of the Army ROTC cadet regiment and student in Corps of Engineers.

Cadet Captain Donald A. Wenz of Lincoln, company commander in Ordnance Battalion and member of National Society of Pershing Rifles.

2 Demos Fired From War Claims Agency

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower Thursday fired the remaining two Democratic members of the War Claims Commission and named a new slate of three Republicans to the body.

Myron Wiener and Mrs. Georgia L. Lusk, who had refused to their resignations, were removed from office.

The new members, who appointments must be confirmed later by the Senate, are:

Mrs. Pearl Carter Pace, Burkesville, Ky., a former sheriff of Cumberland County and now agent for an oil company; Whitney Gillilland, Glenwood, Ia., assistant to Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and former Iowa Republican chairman; and Raymond T. Armbruster, Yonkers, N. Y., attorney.

College Football Attendance For '53 Unchanged

Popular Schools Offset Losing Teams' Decrease

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The popular appeal of such teams as Notre Dame, Southern California, Maryland and Minnesota offset the losers' lack of attractiveness to the cash customers and kept major college football attendance unchanged during the 1953 season.

Figures compiled Thursday by the Associated Press, covering the home games of all major conference teams and comparable "independents" show that overall attendance in 1953 was "up," but the change was so small as to be insignificant.

It is rather significant, however, that the success of a few teams hoisted the national total to the right side of the ledger.

Southern California, for instance, drew 412,772 spectators at six home games, as compared to 242,466 in 1952. The fact that USC was the "home" team for its annual intra-city struggle with UCLA, which was seen by 85,366 spectators, and that it also entertained such popular teams as Notre Dame, Minnesota and Stanford helps to explain this big increase.

All-winning Maryland and unbeaten Notre Dame, staging a tight race for the nation's No. 1 ranking, also pulled in the fans in large numbers. Notre Dame's attendance at five home games this year was 286,406, as compared to 215,681 at four games last year. Minnesota's revival as a Big Ten contender brought an average home attendance of 59,540 per game, one of the highest in the nation.

The formation of the Atlantic Coast Conference, with Maryland setting the pace, apparently brought fresh interest into that area although the rest of the old Southern Conference suffered.

Topped by Maryland's 165,000 at five games, the seven ACC teams drew 648,749 spectators at 31 games, a jump of 13.09 per cent over last year's total of 481,106 at 26 games. The southern Conference lost a total of about 20,500 spectators—or 14 per cent.

Other changes were explained mainly by the weather and whether the home team was winning or losing. The overall increase figured out to 487 spectators per game for 514 games, an average of 0.004 per cent over last year's average attendance of 23,742.

Since many of the attendance figures were estimated, this increase could be wiped out when the auditors present the cold facts.

The 1953 total attendances for major conferences and independents, with percentage of increase or decrease:

Resolution 'Misleading'—O'Malley

Improved Pension Benefits Said Goal

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter O'Malley, sponsor of the resolution to consider the advisability of ending the major league players' pension, said Thursday the purpose of the controversial resolution was to improve the players pension benefits, not to kill the pension idea.

Deploring the wording of the resolution as "perhaps misleading and certainly unfortunate," the president of the Brooklyn Dodgers said that it never was his intention, nor that of the other club owners, to do away with pensions. He explained, however, it would be necessary to "terminate" the old plan to get a newer and better one.

The O'Malley resolution, he said, was arrived at after a two and a half hour wrangle between members of the executive council player representatives Ralph Kiner and Allie Reynolds and their lawyer, J. Norman Lewis, had reached an impasse.

"The meeting of the executive council last Sept. 28 began immediately with discussion regarding the pension plan," said O'Malley. "Lewis said he thought the pension benefits should be increased, the age eligibility lowered and that the players should be in charge of their own pension plan.

"We wanted to know whether they had considered the cost. We pointed out it would cost an additional $8,000,000. They (Kiner, Reynolds and Lewis) disagreed in as much as they would not have to take care of the older players. This we could not go for. We felt we were committed to go through with our obligation of paying back service for the former players."

O'Malley said it was then that he offered his proposal "for the purpose of achieving greater benefits."

"The only one opposed to my resolution was Commissioner Ford Frick," said O'Malley. "He thought it would endanger the pension plan and he did not want to agree to anything that might jeopardize the players' benefits. Kiner, Reynolds and Lewis were in full agreement, however, and signified thus in a voice vote."

O'Malley said the players had every right to seek an increase in benefits but O'Malley added this could not be done under the present terms of the contract. He felt certain increases in benefits would be attained after the current contract expired and a new one was negotiated.

Kansas U Is Upset By Tulane

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Sophomore Bobby Delpit and Guard Hal Cervini ignited a fourth quarter rally that brought Tulane from behind to an upset 69-65 basketball victory over highly rated Kansas University Thursday night.

Delpit, a slender five foot nine inch guard from New Orleans, scored three foul shots that put Tulane ahead in the waning minutes of the fourth quarter. Cervini, a two year letterman, sank the final two points for Tulane after playing a magnificent floor game and scoring 20 points for Tulane.

Kansas, rated fifth in this week's Associated Press poll, went to the lead early in the first quarter with All-America center candidate B. H. Born leading the way. But Tulane, striving for top national recognition, jumped into the lead in the final minutes of the first period.

Born, the game's high scorer with 28 points, brought Kansas back into the game in the second quarter.

Gophers Win 57-56 Over Aggies

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota transformed 6-3 guard Buzz Bennett into a game-breaking pivotman Thursday night to clip Oklahoma A. & M. 57-56 and knock the perrennial Missouri Valley basketball power out of the unbeaten lists.

Bennett, normally an unsung feeder, was deployed under the basket in a second half strategy move after the Aggies' bony 6-11 Bobby Mattick had controlled the boards and dumped in 11 points for a 31-25 halftime A.&M. lead.

Bennet flipped in four field goals in a matter of minutes to push the Gophers out front, 40-39, with some 4 minutes remaining in the third quarter.

A light Friday night schedule is on tap for Capital City schools with only two games on the docket.

Both games are in Lincoln.

Falls City, picked to be a power in Southeast Nebraska this season, visits Northeast in the Rockets' third game of the season. Omaha Westside is College View's second foe at Irving.

Northeast has a 1-1 mark, including a win over Scottsbluff and a loss to North Platte. Falls City has played one game, beating Hiawatha, Kan., 39-23.

Falls City Coach Jack McIntyre lists six lettermen on his Tiger squad, including junior Center Nels Kjeldsen. Kjeldsen, who stands 6-4½, starred as a sophomore last season.

Eight of the 12 men on the Falls City squad are six feet tall or taller.

College View, after win number two tonight, faces a veteran team in Omaha Westside.

The Gate City team has seven lettermen. Three transfer students from other schools may be a big help. The necomers are Gary Rosenbaum (6-2) Mike Sullivan (6-1) and Bob Wright (5-10).

Williamson Tied For Fourth In Miami Open Golf Tourney

From Press Dispatches

Bud Williamson, smooth-swinging pro from the Lincoln Country Club, shot a two-under-par 68 for a fourth-place tie in the Miamia, Fla., Open golf tourney Thursday.

Williamson was only three strokes off the medalist, Art Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa. In second place was Al Brosch of Garden City, L. I., who had a 66, and third spot was filled by Ed Furgol of St. Louis, Mo., who shot 67.

The lanky Williamson was bracketed in a fourth-place tie with 10 other golfers, including:

Joe Thacker, Barberton, O., 34-34—68.
Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, Ind. 36-32—68.
Bob Inman Tulsa, Okla. 33-35—68.
Shelley Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass. 35-33—68.
Dave Douglas, Grossingers, N. Y., 34-34—68.
Lew Worsham, Oakmont, Pa. 33-35—68.
Lou Barbaro, Deal, N. J. 34-34—68.
Doug Ford, Yonkers, N. Y. 33-35—68.
Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J. 34-34—68.
Al Besselink, Grossingers, N. Y. 34-34—68.

Wall Jr., a comparative newcomer to the professional golf trail, gave a brilliant putting display on the back nine to capture the first round lead in the $10,000 tournament.

The goodlooking 30-year-old former Duke University star ran into a hot putting streak at the 11th after making the nine-hole turn in 34, one under par.

He birdied three holes in a row, starting at the 11th, with puts of 30, 20 and 10 feet, and rammed down another 10-footer at the 16th to cover the back nine in 31, four under par and the best nine-hole score of the day.

Bugeaters! That's what Nebraska's football team was called as the 1897 season started.

Uncle Cy Sherman had not yet named the team "The Cornhuskers," but a forewarning of the football legacy was on the Lincoln campus.

His name was Maurice Benedict, a 170-pound left halfback, and his star began shining on Oct. 30 of that '97 season. Benedict started his first game that day as the Nebraska Bugeaters thumped Missouri, 41-0, in Lincoln before 2,000.

Before the game was four minutes along, Benedict had scampered 30 yards for a touchdown. He was on his way to become the Huskers' first backfield star.

A 6-0 win over Iowa State (at Council Bluffs) was the next game. Benedict ran 30 yards for the touchdown in a game marred by Former Coach Frank Crawford attaching the receipts for $250 due him for the previous year.

Benedict romped for 55 and 20-yard touchdowns as the Huskers walloped Hastings, 76-0, in the 1898 opener.

Through 1899, his last season, the slippery, hard-driving Benedict continued to run wild. In the next to last game, he had one of his typical days as Nebraska was edged by Kansas, 36-20.

Fielding (Point A Minute) Yost was the Kansas coach that day before 2,000 in Lincoln.

Kansas zoomed into an early 24-5 lead. Nebraska hopes waned.

Along came Benedict, however, and the Bugeaters rode his brilliant play back into the game. The great senior halfback tore loose for touchdown runs of 40, eight and five yards. He averaged 48 yards on his punts, hit field goals of 15 and 20 yards and contributed four placekicks.

Nebraskans, especially in the Lincoln and Omaha area, began talking about football and a lad named Benedict. It was only the start.

As the 1900 season wound up, Nov. 29, in a 20-12 loss to Minnesota, the entire state was following Nebraska.

William Jennings Bryan, in the crowd that day, was asked to make a speech.

"Nothing except football is in order!" shouted the Great Commoner. "You, Nebraska, can conquer!" Minnesota ran a special train and brought along the school band. The bounds of a great intersectional rivalry were tightening.

Johnny Bender, an immortal name in Husker football legends, was to start his first game, Oct. 5, 1901, against Doane. Roscoe Pound, later to distinguish himself over the world in the law field, was the referee that memorable day.

Only 5-feet 7-inches and weighing less than 140 pounds, Bender was a David among the Goliaths of his day. He possessed lightning speed, a remarkable change of pace and an uncanny ability to use his blockers to the highest advantage.

In the last game of the 1901 season, little Johnny broke loose for a 75-yard touchdown in the last minute to assure an 18-10 win over the Haskell Indians and the school's first Missouri Valley championship.

Nebraska's share of the finances for that nine-game season of 1901 was $8,226 dollars. Expenses, including a total coaches' salary of $2,500, amounted to $7,195.

(The Tuesday Firing Line will work from Johnny Bender up to a giant of a competitor named Guy Chamberlain.)

Overhauling THE NEWS

By WALLY DeBROWN

We see where several British scientists have declared that the Piltdown Man is a hoax. They have decided we can no longer claim this old gentleman as an ancestor. And that's all right by us. We never did care much for his looks anyway. About 40 years ago a man named Charles Dawson dug some fragments of bone out of a gravel pit, and these Bowser snacks seemed to be part of an ancient skull. Then a jawbone was found and all the parts were put together.

This was ballyhooed far and wide as the great discovery of the only remains of the Piltdown man, a low-browed character who was supposed to have lived anywhere from 100,000 to 600,000 years ago. Now it turns out that the jawbone was faked from a modern ape. The Piltdown Man was just scientific monkey business.

A Congressional representative has charged that the U.S. has stockpiled a mountain of feathers. We've heard the phrase, "Washington slept here," but we hope modern Washington isn't planning to do it again.

College Football Attendance For '53 Unchanged

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—The popular appeal of such teams as Notre Dame, Southern California, Maryland and Minnesota offset the losers' lack of attractiveness to the cash customers and kept major college football attendance unchanged during the 1953 season.

Figures compiled Thursday by the Associated Press, covering the home games of all major conference teams and comparable "independents" show that overall attendance in 1953 was "up," but the change was so small as to be insignificant.

It is rather significant, however, that the success of a few teams hoisted the national total to the right side of the ledger.

Southern California, for instance, drew 412,772 spectators at six home games, as compared to 242,466 in 1952. The fact that USC was the "home" team for its annual intra-city struggle with UCLA, which was seen by 85,366 spectators, and that it also entertained such popular teams as Notre Dame, Minnesota and Stanford helps to explain this big increase.

All-winning Maryland and unbeaten Notre Dame, staging a tight race for the nation's No. 1 ranking, also pulled in the fans in large numbers. Notre Dame's attendance at five home games this year was 286,406, as compared to 215,681 at four games last year. Minnesota's revival as a Big Ten contender brought an average home attendance of 59,540 per game, one of the highest in the nation.

The formation of the Atlantic Coast Conference, with Maryland setting the pace, apparently brought fresh interest into that area although the rest of the old Southern Conference suffered.

Topped by Maryland's 165,000 at five games, the seven ACC teams drew 648,749 spectators at 31 games, a jump of 13.09 per cent over last year's total of 481,106 at 26 games. The southern Conference lost a total of about 20,500 spectators—or 14 per cent.

Other changes were explained mainly by the weather and whether the home team was winning or losing. The overall increase figured out to 487 spectators per game for 514 games, an average of 0.004 per cent over last year's average attendance of 23,742.

Since many of the attendance figures were estimated, this increase could be wiped out when the auditors present the cold facts.

The 1953 total attendances for major conferences and independents, with percentage of increase or decrease:

Resolution 'Misleading'—O'Malley

Improved Pension Benefits Said Goal

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter O'Malley, sponsor of the resolution to consider the advisability of ending the major league players' pension, said Thursday the purpose of the controversial resolution was to improve the players pension benefits, not to kill the pension idea.

Deploring the wording of the resolution as "perhaps misleading and certainly unfortunate," the president of the Brooklyn Dodgers said that it never was his intention, nor that of the other club owners, to do away with pensions. He explained, however, it would be necessary to "terminate" the old plan to get a newer and better one.

The O'Malley resolution, he said, was arrived at after a two and a half hour wrangle between members of the executive council player representatives Ralph Kiner and Allie Reynolds and their lawyer, J. Norman Lewis, had reached an impasse.

"The meeting of the executive council last Sept. 28 began immediately with discussion regarding the pension plan," said O'Malley. "Lewis said he thought the pension benefits should be increased, the age eligibility lowered and that the players should be in charge of their own pension plan.

"We wanted to know whether they had considered the cost. We pointed out it would cost an additional $8,000,000. They (Kiner, Reynolds and Lewis) disagreed in as much as they would not have to take care of the older players. This we could not go for. O'Malley said the players had every right to seek an increase in benefits but O'Malley added this could not be done under the present terms of the contract. He felt certain increases in benefits would be attained after the current contract expired and a new one was negotiated.

As the 1900 season wound up, Nov. 29, in a 20-12 loss to Minnesota, the entire state was following Nebraska.

William Jennings Bryan, in the crowd that day, was asked to make a speech.

"Nothing except football is in order!" shouted the Great Commoner. "You, Nebraska, can conquer!" Minnesota ran a special train and brought along the school band. The bounds of a great intersectional rivalry were tightening.

Johnny Bender, an immortal name in Husker football legends, was to start his first game, Oct. 5, 1901, against Doane. Roscoe Pound, later to distinguish himself over the world in the law field, was the referee that memorable day.

Only 5-feet 7-inches and weighing less than 140 pounds, Bender was a David among the Goliaths of his day. He possessed lightning speed, a remarkable change of pace and an uncanny ability to use his blockers to the highest advantage.

In the last game of the 1901 season, little Johnny broke loose for a 75-yard touchdown in the last minute to assure an 18-10 win over the Haskell Indians and the school's first Missouri Valley championship.

Nebraska's share of the finances for that nine-game season of 1901 was $8,226 dollars. Expenses, including a total coaches' salary of $2,500, amounted to $7,195.

(The Tuesday Firing Line will work from Johnny Bender up to a chat of a competitor named Guy Chamberlain.)

From Press Dispatches

Bud Williamson, smooth-swinging pro from the Lincoln Country Club, shot a two-under-par 68 for a fourth-place tie in the Miamia, Fla., Open golf tourney Thursday.

Williamson was only three strokes off the medalist, Art Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa. In second place was Al Brosch of Garden City, L. I., who had a 66, and third spot was filled by Ed Furgol of St. Louis, Mo., who shot 67.

The lanky Williamson was bracketed in a fourth-place tie with 10 other golfers, including:

Joe Thacker, Barberton, O., 34-34—68.
Fred Wampler, Indianapolis, Ind. 36-32—68.
Bob Inman Tulsa, Okla. 33-35—68.
Shelley Mayfield, Chicopee, Mass. 35-33—68.
Dave Douglas, Grossingers, N. Y., 34-34—68.
Lew Worsham, Oakwood, Pa. 33-35—68.
Lou Barbaro, Deal, N. J. 34-34—68.
Dean Ford, Yonkers, N. Y. 33-35—68.
Tommy Bolt, Maplewood, N. J. 34-34—68.
Al Besselink, Grossingers, N. Y. 34-34—68.

Wall Jr., a comparative newcomer to the professional golf trail, gave a brilliant putting display on the back nine to capture the first round lead in the $10,000 tournament.

The goodlooking 30-year-old former Duke University star ran into a hot putting streak at the 11th after making the nine-hole turn in 34, one under par.

He birdied three holes in a row, starting at the 11th, with puts of 30, 20 and 10 feet, and rammed down another 10-footer at the 16th to cover the back nine in 31, four under par and the best nine-hole score of the day.

We see where several British scientists have declared that the Piltdown Man is a hoax. They have decided we can no longer claim this old gentleman as an ancestor. And that's all right by us. We never did care much for his looks anyway. About 40 years ago a man named Charles Dawson dug some fragments of bone out of a gravel pit, and these Bowser snacks seemed to be part of an ancient skull. Then a jawbone was found and all the parts were put together.

This was ballyhooed far and wide as the great discovery of the only remains of the Piltdown man, a low-browed character who was supposed to have lived anywhere from 100,000 to 600,000 years ago. Now it turns out that the jawbone was faked from a modern ape. The Piltdown Man was just scientific monkey business.

A Congressional representative has charged that the U.S. has stockpiled a mountain of feathers. We've heard the phrase, "Washington slept here," but we hope modern Washington isn't planning to do it again.

Giant Coach Steve Owen Quits

NEW YORK (AP) — Steve Owen, the big, ruddy-faced Oklahoman whose name has been synonymous with the New York football Giants for 26 years, Thursday announced his retirement as coach of the National Football League club.

Steve Owens

Owen's resignation becomes effective after Sunday's game with the champion Detroit Lions at the Polo Grounds and that fact could spell bad news for the Lions.

The Giants will be primed to "win one for Steve" and it could cost the Lions the Western Conference title. Detroit needs to win its final game of the regular season to sew up the division flag. If the Lions lose and San Francisco beats Baltimore, the two clubs will be tied and a playoff will be necessary.

President Jack Mara didn't mention the names of prospective candidates for Owen's job but there was an unconfirmed report it might go to Vinnie Lombardi, former Fordham star and now backfield coach of Army. Mara said the new man would be appointed in time to attend the NFL draft meetings next month.

Big Steve won't sever his attachments with the club, however. He will head an expanded scouting system and will start hunting talent shortly after the season closes. He will coach one of the teams in the Senior Bowl at Mobile, Ala., Jan. 9, as he has done for several years.

The gravel-voiced, 55-year old Owen, born at Cleo Springs, Okla., made his first visit to the big town in 1926 with the touring Kansas City football Cowboys. He has been a part of the New York scene since.

A 6-3, 250-pounder, Owen was an all-league tackle with the Giants for four straight years. He took over as coach of the Giants in 1931 and led them to eight eastern titles and two league championships. His overall record as coach was 146-101-17.

Trucks Honored

19 Huskers Win Letters

Nineteen University of Nebraska football players have been awarded letters, Athletic Director George Clark announced.

Two players, George Gohde, Lincoln, and Jerry Yeager, Hastings, both seniors who had before won letters, were recommended for letters for their "loyalty and attendance at practice" by Coach Bill Glassford. They lacked the minutes of game play required, but their faithfulness in practice resulted in the awards.

The other 17 letter winners:

Nicholas Adduci, Chicago; John Bordogna, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Ted Britt, North Platte; Charles Bryant, Omaha; Ted Connor, Hastings; Don Glantz, Central City; Max Kitzelman, Omaha; Dennis Korinek, Ulysses; Andrew Loehr, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Jon McWilliams, Sidney; Jerry Minnick, Cambridge; Ray Novak, Omaha; Bob Oberlin, West Allis, Wis.; Jim Oliver, Shelton; Bill Schabacker, Minden; Bob Smith, Grand Island; Bob Wagner, Lincoln.

From the standpoint of minutes played during the season, Bordogna was the leader with 514 out of a possible 600. He was followed by Minnick with 513, Schabacker 495, Loehr 486, Connor 468 and Smith 462.

Northeast Tankers Meet Links Today

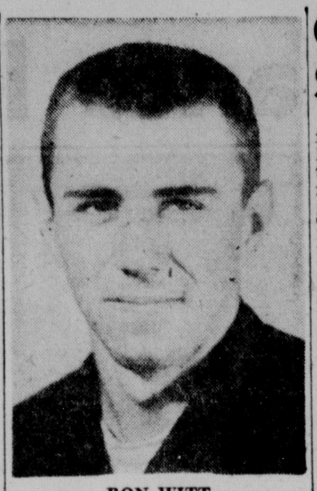

Swimming makes its first appearance on the athletic scene at Northeast High today with a practice meet against Lincoln High scheduled for 3:45 p.m. at the Northeast pool.

This year, Northeast is branching out into the fields of swimming and wrestling for the first time. Today's swimming meet will be the first taste of competition for Coach Ken Wall's Tankers.

Wall said the Rockets would try to hold a full schedule of events in their first meet today.

"We are just building," Wall said. "As proof of that, we have 11 sophomores on the squad." Also on the Northeast squad is Pat Drake, former city prep champion. Drake has been hampered by a recent appendectomy, however.

Only two other meets are on the Northeast schedule at present—one at Boys Town Jan. 23 and one with Boys Town at Northeast Feb. 5. Two more meets may be scheduled and a series of postal meets is a possibility.

RON WITT

Witt Sparks Unbeaten Otoe

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Who's the big kid with the soft shots and all the points after his name in the scorebook?

The one who bosses both boards and does a good job of feeding his teammates from the post?

The words might come from many of the basketball courts which rock across the state these winter nights as an outstanding player here or there dominates a game to the delight of his fans.

One in Otoe County who falls under this description is the dark haired kid from the small town of Otoe, Ron Witt.

This husky Witt does a lot with his six feet and 198 lbs. He scores on tip-ins, set shots—he's pretty sharp on them—and a jump shot which is marked by that desired quality which some coaches refer to as "the touch."

Senior Ron shoves the ball upward and it falls onto the rim with a lightness which is the characteristic of a controlled shot. If not perfectly directed toward the basket, it may have the deadness which will prevent a sharp deflection. A less impressive but equally valuable basket may be the result.

Not that this big kid doesn't miss. He's fallible, but he is adept at basketball and he works hard.

Last winter, his third with the Otoe team, he cracked the 1,000 point mark while working for a school which had only eight boys —four of them freshmen.

This year he averaged 29 points through five games while the Wildcats won them all. In the sixth he scored 36 against Bennet as Otoe won again.

Early season success among county competition does not assure a team of a spot in the spring basketball carnival in the Capital City, but this could be the year for Ron Witt and Otoe.

If the Wildcats have the stuff and don't trip along the rough way, buy a ticket for their first game in the Coliseum. You'll see a kid who plays the game in a big way.

Cravath Dies Of Injuries Suffered In Auto Crash

CALEXICO, Calif. (AP)—Bluff, friendly Jeff Cravath, nationally known football coach wso guided the University of Southern California into four Rose Bowl games, died shortly before noon Thursday from injuries received in a traffic smashup Wednesday.

The end came at 11:30 a.m., PST, just a few hours after it had appeared the 50-year-old former coach might rally from an emergency operation at Calexico Hospital.

Cravath retired from football in 1950 after losing a bout with alumni of USC, his alma mater where he had starred as an all-Pacific Coast Conference center in the 1920s. He was engaged in the cattle and produce business in El Centro, a few miles north of this California-Mexico border town.

Jeff Cravath

The cause of death was attributed to a basal skull fracture and severe chest injuries, including multiple rib fractures.

He was thrown from his light pickup truck when it collided with an asphalt dump truck at the intersection of a country road and Highway 111 Wednesday morning.

Early Thursday Cravath underwent an emergency operation, a tracheotomy to open the bronchial tube after the lung was punctured.

It wasn't long before messages of condolence began to arrive here and at the Cravath home in El Centro. They came from all parts of the nation.

A big fellow, weighing well over 200 pounds, Cravath quit the football scene in 1950. He remained frankly bitter about many aspects of his career, particularly the alumni move that overpowered the USC athletic department in forcing his resignation.

Caroline To Be Feted

COLUMBIA, S. C., (AP)—A city celebration to honor native son J. C. Caroline, Illinois' sensational football carrier, is being planned here for Dec. 18 or 19.

Caroline, who broke Red Grange's rushing record, will be home for the Christmas holidays then.

Trucks Honored

19 Huskers Win Letters

Nineteen University of Nebraska football players have been awarded letters, Athletic Director George Clark announced.

Two players, George Gohde, Lincoln, and Jerry Yeager, Hastings, both seniors who had before won letters, were recommended for letters for their "loyalty and attendance at practice" by Coach Bill Glassford. They lacked the minutes of game play required, but their faithfulness in practice resulted in the awards.

The other 17 letter winners:

Nicholas Adduci, Chicago; John Bordogna, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Ted Britt, North Platte; Charles Bryant, Omaha; Ted Connor, Hastings; Don Glantz, Central City; Max Kitzelman, Omaha; Dennis Korinek, Ulysses; Andrew Loehr, Turtle Creek, Pa.; Jon McWilliams, Sidney; Jerry Minnick, Cambridge; Ray Novak, Omaha; Bob Oberlin, West Allis, Wis.; Jim Oliver, Shelton; Bill Schabacker, Minden; Bob Smith, Grand Island; Bob Wagner, Lincoln.

From the standpoint of minutes played during the season, Bordogna was the leader with 514 out of a possible 600. He was followed by Minnick with 513, Schabacker 495, Loehr 486, Connor 468 and Smith 462.

Northeast Tankers Meet Links Today

Swimming makes its first appearance on the athletic scene at Northeast High today with a practice meet against Lincoln High scheduled for 3:45 p.m. at the Northeast pool.

This year, Northeast is branching out into the fields of swimming and wrestling for the first time. Today's swimming meet will be the first taste of competition for Coach Ken Wall's Tankers.

Wall said the Rockets would try to hold a full schedule of events in their first meet today.

"We are just building," Wall said. "As proof of that, we have 11 sophomores on the squad." Also on the Northeast squad is Pat Drake, former city prep champion. Drake has been hampered by a recent appendectomy, however.

Only two other meets are on the Northeast schedule at present—one at Boys Town Jan. 23 and one with Boys Town at Northeast Feb. 5. Two more meets may be scheduled and a series of postal meets is a possibility.

RON WITT

Witt Sparks Unbeaten Otoe

By BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member

Who's the big kid with the soft shots and all the points after his name in the scorebook?

The one who bosses both boards and does a good job of feeding his teammates from the post?

The words might come from many of the basketball courts which rock across the state these winter nights as an outstanding player here or there dominates a game to the delight of his fans.

One in Otoe County who falls under this description is the dark haired kid from the small town of Otoe, Ron Witt.

This husky Witt does a lot with his six feet and 198 lbs. He scores on tip-ins, set shots—he's pretty sharp on them—and a jump shot which is marked by that desired quality which some coaches refer to as "the touch."

Senior Ron shoves the ball upward and it falls onto the rim with a lightness which is the characteristic of a controlled shot. If not perfectly directed toward the basket, it may have the deadness which will prevent a sharp deflection. A less impressive but equally valuable basket may be the result.

Not that this big kid doesn't miss. He's fallible, but he is adept at basketball and he works hard.

Last winter, his third with the Otoe team, he cracked the 1,000 point mark while working for a school which had only eight boys —four of them freshmen.

This year he averaged 29 points through five games while the Wildcats won them all. In the sixth he scored 36 against Bennet as Otoe won again.

Early season success among county competition does not assure a team of a spot in the spring basketball carnival in the Capital City, but this could be the year for Ron Witt and Otoe.

If the Wildcats have the stuff and don't trip along the rough way, buy a ticket for their first game in the Coliseum. You'll see a kid who plays the game in a big way.

Cravath Dies Of Injuries Suffered In Auto Crash

CALEXICO, Calif. (AP)—Bluff, friendly Jeff Cravath, nationally known football coach wso guided the University of Southern California into four Rose Bowl games, died shortly before noon Thursday from injuries received in a traffic smashup Wednesday.

The end came at 11:30 a.m., PST, just a few hours after it had appeared the 50-year-old former coach might rally from an emergency operation at Calexico Hospital.

Cravath retired from football in 1950 after losing a bout with alumni of USC, his alma mater where he had starred as an all-Pacific Coast Conference center in the 1920s. He was engaged in the cattle and produce business in El Centro, a few miles north of this California-Mexico border town.

Jeff Cravath

The cause of death was attributed to a basal skull fracture and severe chest injuries, including multiple rib fractures.

He was thrown from his light pickup truck when it collided with an asphalt dump truck at the intersection of a country road and Highway 111 Wednesday morning.

Early Thursday Cravath underwent an emergency operation, a tracheotomy to open the bronchial tube after the lung was punctured.

Cravath is survived by his widow, Margaret, better known as Peggy, who was his campus sweetheart in undergraduate days at USC.

It wasn't long before messages of condolence began to arrive here and at the Cravath home in El Centro. They came from all parts of the nation.

A big fellow, weighing well over 200 pounds, Cravath quit the football scene in 1950. He remained frankly bitter about many aspects of his career, particularly the alumni move that overpowered the USC athletic department in forcing his resignation.

Caroline To Be Feted

COLUMBIA, S. C., (AP)—A city celebration to honor native son J. C. Caroline, Illinois' sensational football carrier, is being planned here for Dec. 18 or 19.

Caroline, who broke Red Grange's rushing record, will be home for the Christmas holidays then.

Turpin To Fight

LONDON, (AP)—Randy Turpin, Britain's middleweight champion left Thursday for an exhibition bout in Brussels....against Doctor's orders.

Turpin is suffering from an infected cyst under his right eye. His doctors advised him against going into the ring.

"We have to keep faith with the Brussels promoter," said manager George Middleton. The bout is set for Saturday.

Top U.S. Protestant To Visit Armed Forces In Spiritual Fence-Mending Task

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's top-ranking Protestant, Bishop William C. Martin, is taking off on a trip of spiritual fence mending—on a front he sees as a "new, crucial church responsibility."

The task: maintaining religious ties with the far-flung members of the United States Armed Forces.

"The present situation is one we have never had to face before," the Bishop said. "It involves millions of our young men and women, and will continue to do so for an indefinite period."

Gradually, he said, the churches are becoming "more alert to this unaccustomed and wider responsibility.

"We haven't done all we could, and what we have done hasn't been as prompt as it ought to have been. But we're now doing more than we've ever done before. And the tempo of the work is increasing."

If the challenge isn't fully met, he added, the "possibilities are tragic" for society.

Methodist Bishop Martin, of Dallas, who heads the 30-denomination National Council of Churches, leaves next Tuesday to visit military bases in the Far East and Korea.

He will be the first emissary to the area representing a majority of American Orthodox and Protestant Christians—35 million of them.

Bishop Martin, a ruggedly built, six-foot man who was an army sergeant in World War I, also heads the Council of Bishops of the Methodist Church, the nation's largest Protestant denomination.

In a interview, he said the present international climate had created conditions which demand that the churches learn to reach beyond their old perimeters in shepherding the faithful.

"If the churches do not effectively sustain their minstry to the service men and women, the loss of them—and to our country—of inner spiritual resources can be tragic," the Bishop said.

Noting that some 3½ million now are in uniform, many with their families overseas, all of them cut off from homes and churches, he added:

"The obligation takes a high priority, not only because of the numbers involved, but because of the important place these men and women have both as our representatives abroad and as a large part of future civilians."

A native of Tennessee, Bishop Martin formerly was Bishop of Omaha and Los Angeles before he was transferred to Dallas in 1948. A hunter, fisherman, and one-time college football player, he was elected president of the National Council last year.

Dismissal Of Railway Rule Request Is Asked

The Burlington Railroad Thursday asked the Railway Commission to dismiss a request by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen that the commission set up safety clearance regulations.

It would be "impractical," the railroad claims. Two other roads had made the same argument. They are the Northwestern and the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha.

...use RISLONE in your motor oil for quick, easy engine turnover, less battery drain
In winter time, starting a car sometimes presents a problem. But it doesn't have to. Just put Rislone in the crankcase of your engine—one quart for most cars, two quarts for larger cars.
Rislone is an oil alloy which provides instant lubrication. It keeps the oil free-flowing, doesn't let it congeal even in sub-zero weather. That's why engines with Rislone in them turn over quickly and easily, why batteries stay at full strength longer, why starting is practically instantaneous.
Remember, too, that millions of motorists use Rislone all year around — use it because it frees sticking valves, restores lost compression and power. Yes, the way Rislone absorbs gum and sludge is guaranteed to give smooth, new power in 10 miles or your money back.
Ask your service man for Rislone today. Start now to enjoy fast, easy starting and peak performance regardless of the weather.

Igloo ville, North Pole
December 11

DEAR CHILDREN:

When I awoke this morning I had a feeling that I had forgotten something. At first I couldn't imagine what it was, and then I remembered. Dipper! I had slept hard and long, and she should have been fed before this. I sat up so quickly that I bumped into Mrs. Claus who was standing by the bed.

"I know what you are thinking," she said. "But you mustn't worry about Dipper. I've been out to see her several times and I have fed her more of the good hot soup." Was there ever such a woman!

I hurried into my clothes though, and Mrs. Santa and I went out to the barn to see the strange deer my eight had rescued last night. Dipper was lying on her moss bed, and she lifted her head when we came in. How sad and tired she looked, but deep down in her eyes I could see a little smile growing.

Mrs. Santa kneeled down and began to feed Dipper spoons of soup, and I found a soft brush and cleaned the deer's coat. There was dried blood on her where she had been injured. I said to Mrs. Santa, "The wolves have been chasing her; it looks as if they have nipped her here and there. Poor, poor darling."

She looked much better after I had brushed her, but she was too weak to do anything except raise her head. So we made her a pillow of moss, petted her and talked to her softly and kindly. She went back to sleep.

"Now you go back to your toys," Mrs. Santa told me. "I'll nurse Dipper. A woman knows just what to do about such matters."

Such matters. I wondered what she meant. But as I was getting behind with my Christmas orders, I thanked her and hurried to the shop.

Love,
Santa Claus

Expert Says Man Can Control Rain, Possibly Halt Twisters

WASHINGTON (INS) — An expert named by President Eisenhower to conduct a special weather study said Thursday he is convinced man can make or halt rain and possibly nip tornadoes and hurricanes in the bud.

Capt. Howard Thomas Orville, chairman of the advisory committee which is undertaking the rainmaking survey, said human efforts to control the weather "could have great implications from a military standpoint."

He said the committee will meet in Washington late next week to begin intensive work on all rainmaking methods.

The Bendix Aviation Corp. consultant said he hopes to establish once for all how successful rainmaking is and whether the federal government should control such operations.

Orville said there is evidence that seeding clouds with dry ice or silver iodide not only will produce rain but that over-seeding will break up a developing rainstorm.

'Atomic Energy Congress' Is Scheduled

DETROIT (AP)—An "International Atomic Energy Congress" intended to push peacetime use of atomic energy was announced by a group of scientists and engineers here Thursday.

The Congress, to which free nations of the world have been invited to send representatives, will be held at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor June 20-25.

Plans were announced by the University and the American Institute of Chemical Engineers, co-sponsors.

With State Department approval, experts of the several nations attending the conference will be permitted to exchange certain information on atomic energy research, spokesmen said.

Atomic Pool

Dr. George Grander Brown, dean of engineering at the University, said this probably would be the first such conference of its kind to be undertaken anywhere. He and associates announced the plans at a press conference.

The announcement came two days after President Eisenhower's speech calling for an international atomic energy pool.

This, however, was coincidence. Dr. Brown said the conference has been months in planning.

Soviet Russia and other Iran Curtain countries were conspicuous by their absence from the list of invited nations. Dr. Brown said the State Department had ruled them out after the question had been brought up. This was before Eisenhower's speech, however.

Dr. Brown said an invitation to Russia had not been discussed with the State Department since Mr. Eisenhower's speech. He said the matter originally was discussed last summer.

Acceptances have been received, it was announced, from Belgium, Canada, England, France, India, Italy, The Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, and Spain. All will send representatives.

The State Department now is removing from the "classified" list certain information for use by the June meeting, Dr. Brown said.

Some of the top names in international nuclear research will attend, sponsors said.

Their list included Dr. J. V. Dunworth of England, Prof. Francis Perrin, France; F. W. Gilbert of Canada's Chalk River, Ont., laboratories; Dr. Jean Van Impe of Belgium, Dr. E. Cerrai, Italy; Dr. Gunnar Randers, Norway, and Dr. Harry A. B. Brynielsson, Sweden.

'6 State Agencies Must Report To Governor'

There are six departments of state government which are required to file annual reports with the governor by Dec. 1, an attorney general's opinion outlined Thursday.

They are banking, agriculture, labor, insurance, health and roads and irrigation. Gov. Crosby asked for the opinion.

Dr. N. G. Alcock Dead

IOWA CITY, Ia. (AP) — Dr. Nathaniel G. Alcock, 72, internationally famed urologist, died Thursday at a hospital here after an illness of eight months. He was on the University of Iowa hospital staff from 1915 to 1949 and headed its urological department at the time of his retirement as professor emeritus.

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY, 93 PROOF. THIS WHISKEY IS NOW 6 YEARS OLD. Distributed by McKESSON & ROBBINS, INC., NEW YORK

Exclusive double-wrapped Aluminum Package keeps

GOOD LUCK fresher and better tasting than any other margarine!

Read the proof! In flavor tests, new Reynolds Wrap kept GOOD LUCK fresh as the day it was made—even after 8 weeks! Only GOOD LUCK has it!

NOW YOU can serve perfect table spread every time—fresh, sweet and delicious as the day it was packed! Just look for GOOD LUCK margarine in this revolutionary new package made of shiny Reynolds aluminum foil.

To test this package, we put GOOD LUCK in a refrigerator along with other table spreads wrapped in ordinary waxed cartons. Next to them we placed sliced onions—and the strongest cheese we could find.

Fresh and Sweet After Eight Weeks

After eight weeks, GOOD LUCK in its new aluminum package was still as fresh, sweet and delicious as the day it was made! But the other quality margarines in the usual waxed cartons had lost flavor and picked up odors very quickly, some after only six days.

Here's the reason for the difference: We wrap each quarter-pound print in pure Reynolds Wrap, then we put the quarter pounds in a waxed carton for extra protection, and finally, we seal the whole carton in shiny aluminum foil.

We stored GOOD LUCK in the refrigerator next to strong cheese and onions for 8 weeks. When the new aluminum package was opened, GOOD LUCK's flavor was fresh and delicious as ever!

As a result, GOOD LUCK not only tastes delicious when we wrap it, but stays fresher and better tasting than any other margarine.

Remember, GOOD LUCK in its new package is unconditionally guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company, 390 Park Avenue, New York 22, New York.

Keep GOOD LUCK in Your Refrigerator—it Spreads Easily!

The delicate flavor of this fine quality margarine is perishable. That's why we carefully refrigerate GOOD LUCK during processing – also while awaiting shipment, and in transit.

If you want to enjoy GOOD LUCK at its delicious best, always keep it in your refrigerator. You'll find GOOD LUCK spreads smoothly even when cold.

Redistricting Okay Close To 100 Pct.

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—The Holstein school redistricting plan was given overwhelming approval as nearly 100 per cent of the voters of the new district decided Adams County's first undertaking to reorganize and reduce the number of school districts.

The Holstein plan was decided by three voting units.

Voters in the Holstein school district were unanimous in support of the plan, 159-0. Voters in the rural districts favored the plan 107-53. Only a simple majority was needed from the two units and the vote cast was near 100 per cent.

The third unit, voters of School District 49, approved the plan, 17-11, with two votes contested. A 55 per cent majority was necessary for approval from the unit which voted 100 per cent. The 17-11 vote was a 61 per cent majority. If the two contested votes are against the plan and counted, the majority will still be over 55 per cent.

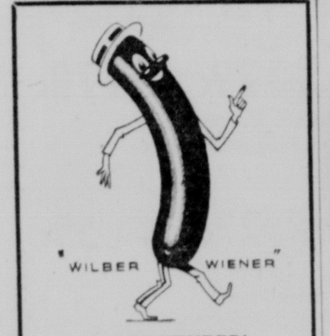

The Holstein plan merges six districts and portions of three others. The plan is effective for school operations next June 1.

Redistricting Okay Close To 100 Pct.

HASTINGS, Neb. (AP)—The Holstein school redistricting plan was given overwhelming approval as nearly 100 per cent of the voters of the new district decided Adams County's first undertaking to reorganize and reduce the number of school districts.

The Holstein plan was decided by three voting units.

Voters in the Holstein school district were unanimous in support of the plan, 159-0. Voters in the rural districts favored the plan 107-53. Only a simple majority was needed from the two units and the vote cast was near 100 per cent.

The third unit, voters of School District 49, approved the plan, 17-11, with two votes contested. A 55 per cent majority was necessary for approval from the unit which voted 100 per cent. The 17-11 vote was a 61 per cent majority. If the two contested votes are against the plan and counted, the majority will still be over 55 per cent.

The Holstein plan merges six districts and portions of three others. The plan is effective for school operations next June 1.

Drug OKd As Evidence In Murder Trial

OMAHA, — (AP)— A "large amount" of demerol—a drug controlled under the Federal Narcotics Act—was admitted as evidence Thursday in the first degree murder trial of Joseph Kuykendall.

The drug was offered by Kuykendall's attorneys in support of their contention that Mrs. Ardath Kuykendall, in whose death her husband is accused, was addicted to drugs. Mrs. Kuykendall was found dying in the couple's house trailer here last June 18. Her death has been attributed to a skull fracture and brain hemorrhage, which the defense contend resulted from an accidental fall.

Dr. James M. Brown, pathologist who performed an autopsy on Mrs. Kuykendall's body, identified the drug near the end of a day of cross-examination by Defense Attorney Eugene O'Sullivan Sr.

Dr. Brown counted 17 ampules of the drug, each containing 100 milligrams in the exhibit, and said "that is a large amount of demerol." He described it as one of the newer developments in synthetic drugs which is some what similar to morphine. It is controlled under the Federal Narcotics Act, he added.

Dr. Brown read into the record information from the label on the box stating that the contents had been prescribed for "Mrs. Joe Kuykendall" by a physician and the prescription filled at a Tucson, Ariz., pharmacy.

The state previously had stupulated that this box and certain other bottles or containers had been taken from the Kuykendall trailer. This group of exhibits also included 14 hypodermic needles, which were received as evidence.

The drug and needles were offered after O'Sullivan had questioned Dr. Brown about "scarified" or "scar" areas on Mrs. Kuykendahl's arms. The doctor confirmed that he had testified in the preliminary hearing that a puncture mark by a hypodermic needle would be similar. He said the areas "followed the course of certain veins," taking off his coat and rolling up his sleeve to show the jury the area on the forearm he referred to.

Earlier O'Sullivan had questioned him about failure to save for further analysis, a larger quantity of blood, contents of the stomach and intestines and the fluid found in the pericardium or bag which surrounds the heart.

The defense attorney suggested that further tests could have been made to determine whether there was evidence of "excessive drinking of intoxicating liquors and excessive use of habit forming drugs" by Mrs. Kuykendahl.

Dr. Brown parried many of O'Sullivan's questions by saying he had followed the "usual" procedure in performing the autopsy. He added that "we do about 250 posts a year" at the laboratory where he works.

The cross-examination was still incomplete when court recessed for the day.

There were numerous such exchanges during the day as O'Sullivan attempted to show the post-mortem examination was inadequate.

At the start of the questioning O'Sullivan asked if it was true that Dr. Brown was "not a full fledged pathologist." Dr. Brown said that after 12 years of medical practice he had begun specializing and now has completed all his so-called "didactic training" and has applied to the American Board of Pathology for an examination.

DURKEE'S MARGARINE

In your lifetime, you've seen margarine come a long, long way. Today, you know margarine is at least equal in health, nutrition and purity to any spread at any price.

But you may still have a question mark about flavor.

Now at last, this question mark can be erased. Now there is a margarine that is equal in flavor to any spread at any price. The secret is a new discovery made by Durkee scientists.

They found the reason why ordinary margarine does not have the flavor you want. It is because ordinary margarine separates inside the mouth into two separate flavors. The solution was found in a new process that marries the two flavors so they melt in your mouth together.

Next time you shop, reach for new Durkee's in the gold and blue package. Once you taste it, you'll never go back to the spread you're using now!

(WITH COUPON BELOW)

In your lifetime, you've seen margarine come a long, long way. Today, you know margarine is at least equal in health, nutrition and purity to any spread at any price.

But you may still have a question mark about flavor.

Now at last, this question mark can be erased. Now there is a margarine that is equal in flavor to any spread at any price. The secret is a new discovery made by Durkee scientists.

They found the reason why ordinary margarine does not have the flavor you want. It is because ordinary margarine separates inside the mouth into two separate flavors. The solution was found in a new process that marries the two flavors so they melt in your mouth together.

Next time you shop, reach for new Durkee's in the gold and blue package. Once you taste it, you'll never go back to the spread you're using now!

Study Shows Business Personal Property Taxes Down 28 Pct.

Gov. Robert Crosby said Thursday a study of 25 cities and towns showed that the taxes paid on business personal property this year will be 28 per cent less than the 1952 figure.

This is after attempts by assessors and county boards to improve assesments, and after blanket increases ordered by the State Board of Equalization in some of the counties.

It means, the governor commented, that because of the lack of equalization between business personal property and other classes of property, including real estate, business is paying less taxes this year.

"The other classes of property have had to pick up that burden this year," he declared.

The governor said the situation disclosed by his study pointed up his "Operation Honesty" program for better assessment of personal property in 1954.

Crosby said the study indicated that only a little more than half of the business personal property which actually exists has been reached for taxation this year.

"Homes are about up to the legal level," the governor continued. But business personal property is only about half the legal level."

Other Classes Hurt

"If business personal property up to 100 per cent as it should be, and then assessed at 50 per cent as the law provides, it would have borne a larger share of the tax load this year."

But because only about half of the actual valuation was reached, business is paying less taxes, and real estate and other classes of property had to make up the difference, Crosby explained.

Of the 25 towns and cities studied, Aurora showed the greatest percentage of decrease in the amount of taxes being collected this year on business property. In dollars, the decline was from $29,844 to $14,829 or 50 per cent.

Falls City was next, dropping from $74,420 to $39,115 or 47 per cent.

Oakland also showed 47 per cent decrease, from $27,187 to $14,525.

At Plattsmouth, the drop was from $27,745 to $15,469, or 44 per cent.

Among the larger cities, Scottsbluff businesses will pay $123,526 in taxes on their inventories and fixtures and equipment this year, compared to $299,248 last year. The drop is 38 per cent.

Others:

Hastings $218,906 in 1952, $138,819 this year, down 37 per cent.

Holdrege, $99,357, $63,805, down 36 per cent.

Beatrice, $115,026, $79,212, down 31 per cent.

Columbus, $76,187, $64,090, down 16 per cent.

Fairbury, $84,595, $63,814, down 25 per cent.

Fremont, $123,405, $111,590, down 10 per cent.

Nebraska City, $55,915, $49,134, down 12 per cent.

Norfolk, $133,930, $102,339, down 24 per cent.

Sidney, $91,963, $73,375, down 20 per cent.

South Sioux City, $35,626, $27,570, down 23 per cent.

South Sioux City, $35,626, $27,570, down 23 per cent.

Also studied, with the same general results, were Blair, David City, Hebron, Imperial, Minden, Seward, Superior, Sutton, Tecumseh and West Point.

The governor previously had reported a similar situation at Omaha. Figures on Lincoln were not yet available.

Planning Commission Okays Zoning Change

The City Planning Commission has approved the application of the Continental Oil Co. for a change in zoning to light industrial of property at 6009 Seward.

Denied by the Commission was the application of H. C. and Emma M. Wittman for a change in zoning from multiple dwelling to commercial at 939 H.

Deferred by the Commission to obtain additional information were the applications for child care centers filed by Mrs. Enid Bauer for 4442 St. Paul and Shirley Cannon for 5043 Fremont.

City Lines To Continue Operations Here But Not Ready To Consider Tax Plan

Welfare and Safety Director Ray Osborn, following a conference in Chicago with parent company officials of Lincoln City Lines, has reported the company will continue operations in Lincoln but is in no position at this time to consider reinstatement of its occupation tax.

"The Chicago officials," said Osborn, "were very cordial and we are making headway with the bus company. At the end of this year, the Lincoln operation should realize a 5 per cent return on its capital investment."

Osborn noted, however, that the 5 per cent return was no cause for jubilation. The State Railway Commission, he stated, will agree that the company is entitled to a 6 to 7 per cent return on its investment.

The Chicago trip was made to review the company's entire financial situation. Osborn will make a full report on his trip to the City Council on Monday.

Study Shows Business Personal Property Taxes Down 28 Pct.

Gov. Robert Crosby said Thursday a study of 25 cities and towns showed that the taxes paid on business personal property this year will be 28 per cent less than the 1952 figure.

This is after attempts by assessors and county boards to improve assesments, and after blanket increases ordered by the State Board of Equalization in some of the counties.

It means, the governor commented, that because of the lack of equalization between business personal property and other classes of property, including real estate, business is paying less taxes this year.

"The other classes of property have had to pick up that burden this year," he declared.

The governor said the situation disclosed by his study pointed up his "Operation Honesty" program for better assessment of personal property in 1954.

Crosby said the study indicated that only a little more than half of the business personal property which actually exists has been reached for taxation this year.

"Homes are about up to the legal level," the governor continued. But business personal property is only about half the legal level."

Other Classes Hurt

"If business personal property up to 100 per cent as it should be, and then assessed at 50 per cent as the law provides, it would have borne a larger share of the tax load this year."

But because only about half of the actual valuation was reached, business is paying less taxes, and real estate and other classes of property had to make up the difference, Crosby explained.

Of the 25 towns and cities studied, Aurora showed the greatest percentage of decrease in the amount of taxes being collected this year on business property. In dollars, the decline was from $29,844 to $14,829 or 50 per cent.

Falls City was next, dropping from $74,420 to $39,115 or 47 per cent.

Oakland also showed 47 per cent decrease, from $27,187 to $14,525.

At Plattsmouth, the drop was from $27,745 to $15,469, or 44 per cent.

Among the larger cities, Scottsbluff businesses will pay $123,526 in taxes on their inventories and fixtures and equipment this year, compared to $299,248 last year. The drop is 38 per cent.

Others:

Hastings $218,906 in 1952, $138,819 this year, down 37 per cent.

Holdrege, $99,357, $83,805, down 36 per cent.

Beatrice, $115,026, $79,212, down 31 per cent.

Columbus, $76,187, $61,090, down 16 per cent.

Fairbury, $84,595, $63,814, down 25 per cent.

Fremont, $123,405, $111,590, down 10 per cent.

Nebraska City, $55,915, $49,131, down 12 per cent.

Norfolk, $133,930, $102,339, down 24 per cent.

Sidney, $91,963, $73,375, down 20 per cent.

South Sioux City, $35,626, $27,570, down 23 per cent.

South Sioux City, $35,626, $27,570, down 23 per cent.

Also studied, with the same general results, were Blair, David City, Hebron, Imperial, Minden, Seward, Superior, Sutton, Tecumseh and West Point.

The governor previously had reported a similar situation at Omaha. Figures on Lincoln were not yet available.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP) — Lively demand for U. S. government bonds sent most Treasury issues to 1953 highs Thursday. The corporate bond market was narrowly mixed.

Dealers of Uncle Sam's securities said substantial buyers came into the market, were greeted by a scarcity of sellers, thus forcing prices upward. The Treasury list ranged from unchanged to three-quarters of a point higher.

Trading in the corporate list was strictly a sideshow. Though railroads tended to lose ground and utilities improve, changes were relatively small compared with the government market. Industrials were steady.

Notice of Sale of Oil and Gas Lease

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Educational Lands and Funds of the State of Nebraska will offer for sale at public auction to be held at the office of said Board in the State Capitol Building on the 8th day of January, 1954 at 10:00 o'clock A.M., an oil and gas lease covering the following described lands situated in Cheyenne County, Nebraska, towit:

All Section 36, Township 17 North, Range 49 West

Such lease will be sold in accordance with and subject to the provisions of Legislative Bill No. 415, passed by the Nebraska State Legislature at its 56th (1943) session, to the highest and best bidder, subject to the right of the Board to reject any and all bids.

Grains End Firm After 2 Declines

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains righted themselves on the Board of Trade Thursday after two days of fairly steep decline.

There was a renewal of selling pressure around the end of the first hour, forcing most cereals to new lows for the week, but this did not continue long. Soybeans, weakest cereal Wednesday, had a firm undertone Thursday, holding above Wednesday's lows.

Wheat closed ½ lower to ⅞ higher, corn ⅛ to 1 cent higher, oats ¼-⅝ higher, rye 1⅞-3¼ higher, soybeans ¼ lower to 3 cents higher and lard 28 cents lower to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher.

A feature of the day's activities was a sharp runup in rye following news President Eisenhower had directed the Tariff Commission to investigate the effect of rye imports on the domestic price support program. Rye ran up nearly five cents, losing a part of the gain later.

Soybeans, firm all day, made their highs toward the finish, in early dealings the market was supported by hedge lifting against sale of 550,000 bushels of cash soybeans to Japan. Later, an improvement in the fats and oils market, plus the fact there was no renewal of Wednesday's heavy liquidation, encouraged buying.

Wheat did well in the face of rather discouraging export news. Portugal, which was scheduled to buy American wheat, went to Canada for 335,000 bushels. There was no other export business reported in wheat, although Great Britain took a small quantity of corn.

The latter grain, as well as oats, was helped by some wintery weather in parts of the Midwest, which was expected to encourage feeding of livestock on farms. Hog prices soared to another new December high for several years, further increasing the profit possibilities of putting corn into hogs.

Tobaccos Regain Strength On Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in tobacco shares highlighted an otherwise lower stock market Thursday.

The market turned down shortly after the opening, and for the most part stocks made little effort at recovery. However, losses of as much as a point were few.

Volume totaled 1,420,000 shares, 10,000 shares above the figure for Wednesday. Brokers expressed the opinion that the market is going through a period of consolidation following the advances of recent weeks.

Wall Street observers said they were not surprised to see tobacco shares rally Thursday in view of the severe pounding they took Wednesday. It is considered normal for shares to snap back after being subjected to concentrated selling. The shares were hit Wednesday after additional reports were made linking smoking with lung cancer.

Groups going lower included the steels, motors, distillers, airlines and coppers. Motion picture shares showed fractional strength while the oils, chemicals and rails were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down 40 cents at $108.50. The industrial average lost 60 cents, the rail average 10 cents and the utility average 20 cents.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume rose to 530,000 shares from 420,000 Wednesday.

BOND MARKET

NEW YORK (AP) — Lively demand for U. S. government bonds sent most Treasury issues to 1953 highs Thursday. The corporate bond market was narrowly mixed.

Dealers of Uncle Sam's securities said substantial buyers came into the market, were greeted by a scarcity of sellers, thus forcing prices upward. The Treasury list ranged from unchanged to three-quarters of a point higher.

Trading in the corporate list was strictly a sideshow. Though railroads tended to lose ground and utilities improve, changes were relatively small compared with the government market. Industrials were steady.

Notice of Sale of Oil and Gas Lease

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Educational Lands and Funds of the State of Nebraska will offer for sale at public auction to be held at the office of said Board in the State Capitol Building on the 8th day of January, 1954 at 10:00 o'clock A.M., an oil and gas lease covering the following described lands situated in Cheyenne County, Nebraska, towit:

All Section 36, Township 17 North, Range 49 West

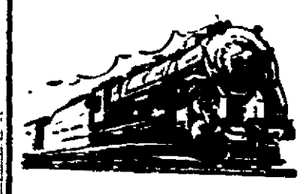

Such lease will be sold in accordance with and subject to the provisions of Legislative Bill No. 415, passed by the Nebraska State Legislature at its 36th (1949) session, to the highest and best bidder, subject to the right of the Board to reject any and all bids.

Grains End Firm After 2 Declines

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains righted themselves on the Board of Trade Thursday after two days of fairly steep decline.

There was a renewal of selling pressure around the end of the first hour, forcing most cereals to new lows for the week, but this did not continue long. Soybeans, weakest cereal Wednesday, had a firm undertone Thursday, holding above Wednesday's lows.

Wheat closed ½ lower to ⅞ higher, corn ⅛ to 1 cent higher, oats ¼-⅝ higher, rye 1¾-3¼ higher, soybeans ¾ lower to 3 cents higher and lard 28 cents lower to 20 cents a hundred pounds higher.

A feature of the day's activities was a sharp runup in rye following news President Eisenhower had directed the Tariff Commission to investigate the effect of rye imports on the domestic price support program. Rye ran up nearly five cents, losing a part of the gain later.

Soybeans, firm all day, made their highs toward the finish. In early dealings the market was supported by hedge lifting against sale of 350,000 bushels of cash soybeans to Japan. Later, an improvement in the fats and oils market, plus the fact there was no renewal of Wednesday's heavy liquidation, encouraged buying.

Wheat did well in the face of rather discouraging export news, Portugal, which was scheduled to buy American wheat, went to Canada for 335,000 bushels. There was no other export business reported in wheat, although Great Britain took a small quantity of corn.

The latter grain, as well as oats, was helped by some wintery weather in parts of the Midwest, which was expected to encourage feeding of livestock on farms. Hog prices soared to another new December high for several years, further increasing the profit possibilities of putting corn into hogs.

Tobaccos Regain Strength On Mart

NEW YORK (AP)—Strength in tobacco shares highlighted an otherwise lower stock market Thursday.

The market turned down shortly after the opening, and for the most part stocks made little effort at recovery. However, losses of as much as a point were few.

Volume totaled 1,420,000 shares, 10,000 shares above the figure for Wednesday. Brokers expressed the opinion that the market is going through a period of consolidation following the advances of recent weeks.

Wall Street observers said they were not surprised to see tobacco shares rally Thursday in view of the severe pounding they took Wednesday. It is considered normal for shares to snap back after being subjected to concentrated selling. The shares were hit Wednesday after additional reports were made linking smoking with lung cancer.

Groups going lower included the steels, motors, distillers, airlines and coppers. Motion picture shares showed fractional strength while the oils, chemicals and rails were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed down 40 cents at 108.50. The Industrial average lost 60 cents, the rail average 10 cents and the utility average 20 cents.

American Stock Exchange prices were mixed. Volume rose to 530,000 shares from 420,000 Wednesday

Shouting Reds Mar Nobel Presentation To Marshall

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall received his 1953 Nobel Peace Prize Thursday at a ceremony marred by Communist demonstrators who protested "his work is war and preparation for war."

"This is no peace candidate —Marshall go home!" a score of young Reds shouted in unison from the gallery of Oslo University's festival hall at the U. S. soldier-statesman honored for the 17 billion dollar Marshall Plan for European recovery.

Police pounced quickly on the group, but not before the Communists had rained leaflets titled "We Protest" on a select audience headed by Norway's 81-year-old King Haakon VII.

Protest Misuse

The leaflets described Marshall, U. S. Army World War II chief of staff and postwar secretary of state and secretary of defense, as "the man who decisively contributed to the atomic death of 100,000 people in Hiroshima and Nagasaki . . . and who contributed to the division of the world into two hostile blocs by launching his Marshall Plan and the Atlantic Pact."

"His work is war and preparation for war," the leaflets said. "We protest the decision ot misuse the Nobel Peace Prize to reward the organization of war."

The interruption came as the president of the Norwegian Nobel committee, Gunnar Jahn, began reading the citation conferring the prize, one of a half dozen Nobel prizes conferred Thursday in Oslo and in Stockholm under the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

When things quieted down, Jahn calmly continued. Then he handed Marshall a check for $33,840, a scroll and a gold medal encased in green leather stamped with gold.

As Marshall accepted, the audience rose spontaneously and applauded for several minutes. His face tense, the general said:

"I accept this honor with profound gratitude, not so much for myself as particularly on behalf of the American people, who made it possible to realize the European recovery program."

Marshall escorted King Haakon from the hall when the program ended. Obviously upset over the Communist interruption, the King looked grim as he stepped into his car.

Three of the Communist demonstrators were jailed. A police inspector said they will be arraigned Friday, probably on a charge of maliciously disturbing a public meeting.

Police identified the prisoners as staff members of Red publishing concerns here, including the Communist Friheten.

Prime Minister Churchill, whose writings and oratory won him the 1953 Literature prize, was the most notable of the group honored in Stockholm Thursday, but his trip to Bermuda prevented him from being there to receive it. His wife, Lady Churchill, accepted the diploma, medal and $33,840 check in his behalf.

Hot Still

Shouting Reds Mar Nobel Presentation To Marshall

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Gen. George C. Marshall received his 1953 Nobel Peace Prize Thursday at a ceremony marred by Communist demonstrators who protested "his work is war and preparation for war."

"This is no peace candidate —Marshall go home!" a score of young Reds shouted in unison from the gallery of Oslo University's festival hall at the U. S. soldier-statesman honored for the 17 billion dollar Marshall Plan for European recovery.

Police pounced quickly on the group, but not before the Communists had rained leaflets titled "We Protest" on a select audience headed by Norway's 81-year-old King Haakon VII.

Protest Misuse

The leaflets described Marshall, U. S. Army World War II chief of staff and postwar secretary of state and secretary of defense, as "the man who decisively contributed to the atomic death of 100,000 people in Hiroshima and Nagasaki . . . and who contributed to the division of the world into two hostile blocs by launching his Marshall Plan and the Atlantic Pact."

"His work is war and preparation for war," the leaflets said. "We protest the decision of misuse the Nobel Peace Prize to reward the organization of war."

The interruption came as the president of the Norwegian Nobel committee, Gunnar Jahn, began reading the citation conferring the prize, one of a half dozen Nobel prizes conferred Thursday in Oslo and in Stockholm under the will of Alfred Nobel, the Swedish inventor of dynamite.

When things quieted down, Jahn calmly continued. Then he handed Marshall a check for $33,840, a scroll and a gold medal encased in green leather stamped with gold.

As Marshall accepted, the audience rose spontaneously and applauded for several minutes. His face tense, the general said:

"I accept this honor with profound gratitude, not so much for myself as particularly on behalf of the American people, who made it possible to realize the European recovery program."

Marshall escorted King Haakon from the hall when the program ended. Obviously upset over the Communist interruption, the King looked grim as he stepped into his car.

Three of the Communist demonstrators were jailed. A police inspector said they will be arraigned Friday, probably on a charge of maliciously disturbing a public meeting.

Police identified the prisoners as staff members of Red publishing concerns here, including the Communist Friheten.

Prime Minister Churchill, whose writings and oratory won him the 1953 Literature prize, was the most notable of the group honored in Stockholm Thursday, but his trip to Bermuda prevented him from being there to receive it. His wife, Lady Churchill, accepted the diploma, medal and $33,840 check in his behalf.

Hot Still

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP)— A name indicating possible trouble meant nothing to Hamilton County officers on the prowl for illicit moonshine stills. They went right ahead and destroyed a 100-gallon setup found near Hot Water Road.
